Recounts, Absentee Ballots Eyed

GOP Still Hoping Nixon Gains Popular Vote Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans clung to the hope today that recounts and absentee ballot tabulations might give Vice President Richard M. Nixon a popular vote lead over Sen. John F. Kennedy.

That was the practical valuation put by spokesmen for Nixon on a request by GOP National Chairman Thurston B. Morton for a recheck of the vote in 11 states. Nixon was not consulted about Morton's recheck request, an aide said.

While some Republican leaders had dreamed of overturning Tuesday's results which gave Kennedy more than enough electoral votes for the presidency, Nixon's top aides made it clear they expect no such outcome.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, and Robert Finch, his campaign manager, did say they believe the vice president may gain a lead over Kennedy in the final count of popular votes. They didn't say so, but any such result would be regarded as a boost for Nixon to run again in 1964.

When Morton asked for the recounts in 11 states, he told GOP officials in the states to look into "purported vote frauds."

Reports from some of the 11 states indicated that few local Republican officials were hopeful of changing the results in any significant way. Some, in fact, said there was no evidence of fraud.

The latest Associated Press tally, with 1,672 voting places uncounted, showed: Kennedy 33,627,229, Nixon 33,348,397.

Finch and Klein told a news conference Friday that Nixon was not consulted about Morton's move for recounts or inquiries into any irregularities in Illinois, Texas, Delaware, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

In Miami, Fla., where he went for a post-election vacation, Nixon said he knew nothing about plans for legal action which might lead to vote recounts in states where Kennedy was declared the winner.

Finch and Klein said Nixon was standing by Tuesday's results and has no plans to take any affirmative action toward trying to upset them.

In a 12th state, California, Republicans were hoping that the counting of absentee ballots would take the state out of Kennedy's electoral column and put it into Nixon's. But the first tallies indicated the absentee vote would not swing the state to Nixon.

At the polls Tuesday, Kennedy took a 37,140 lead in California. Nixon would need almost two-thirds of the state's 200,000 absentee ballots to erase that.

Officials counted the first 3,400 of the California absentee ballots Friday. The totals were in Nixon's favor but they enabled him to cut down Kennedy's lead by only 438 votes.

Finch said any recounts or other action taken will be entirely in the hands of local Republicans in the 11 states. He added that "any hopes we have that the national result will be overturned by local action in the states is very slight."

Finch went on to say that the most any Republican could hope for would be to reduce Kennedy's electoral total, which now stands at 332, to slightly below the necessary 269 margin. He said this would merely throw the election into the hands of uncommitted electors. Eight of these were elected in Mississippi and six in Alabama.

Plagued By Many Problems

South Viet Nam President Fiercely Anti-Communist

While insurgent army forces and troops loyal to South Viet Nam's President Ngo Dinh Diem clash in Saigon, the anti-Communist leader of the former French colony apparently is a prisoner in his palace. Relman Morin, a Pulitzer-Prize-winning AP reporter who interviewed Ngo last fall, writes on the problems that have plagued the energetic president.

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ngo Dinh Diem, president of South Viet Nam, is a powerfully built man with a shock of black hair and burning dark eyes.

He is tough, energetic, a fighter and driver. He is fiercely anti-Communist.

He has another quality which his friends call "single-mindedness" and his enemies call "dictatorial."

During an interview in his palace in Saigon last fall, he leaned forward in his chair, stabbed the air with his finger, and said:

"What people forget is that during nine years of war, this country was entirely occupied by the Communists. It was almost prostrate, economically. There was great physical destruction. Strong measures were necessary."

Ngo seemed to be explaining, without being asked, why the "strong measures" had been imposed on the country, and were being continued. Whether he was aware that public opposition to his methods was rising toward the danger point is hard to say.

South Viet Nam is a part of the former huge French colony of Indo-China. From 1945 to 1954, it was the scene of a fierce war with the Communists. The French held the cities and controlled main highways, but the Reds, fighting guerrilla-fashion in the jungles, swamps and mountains, held the rest of the country.

After the fall of the fortress of Dien Bien Phu, peace was nominally restored and the country was divided. North Viet Nam is a Communist satellite.

Ngo came to power in South Viet Nam, and moved energetically to get the country on its feet again. He was assisted by heavy American financial aid and technical assistance.

"Strong measures were necessary," as he said.

But in the past year or so, rumblings of discontent have been growing louder. They came mainly from these charges:

1. That political freedom and civil liberties were non-existent.

2. That his five brothers and a sister-in-law constitute a "family dynasty," holding key policy-making decisions. Ngo has denied this and asserted that final decisions were made entirely by him.

3. That he was a "mandarin," a dictatorial aristocrat, with too little contact with the people and understanding of their problems.

4. That the measure he has taken against the Viet-Cong (Communits) have failed to bring peace.

This fourth point is Ngo's toughest problem.

In the swampy delta south of Saigon, criss-crossed with canals and waterways and covered with underbrush, a savage war with the Communists goes on unceasingly. American military observers estimate that about 5,000 guerrillas are operating there.

2 Men Injured In Auto Upset

City Man, Passenger Of Hookstown Hurt

A city driver and his passenger were injured slightly when their car rolled over on Route 45 about 2 miles south of Salem at 12:40 a. m. today, according to the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Walter W. Wolfe, 54, of Anderson Blvd. failed to negotiate a curve on Route 45, went off the right side of the highway and the car upset.

Wolfe suffered bruises of the head and knees and Homer Mercer, 62, of Hookstown received a broken nose.

Both men were treated at Salem City Hospital. Wolfe was cited for reckless operation.

No one was injured in an accident involving another city motorist Friday night on Route 30.

A car driven by David Brant, 46, of 707 Bank St. struck the rear of another driven by Fletcher Cryder, 44, of Massillon on Route 30 about two and a half miles south of Route 7 last night at 11:45.

Cryder was slowing for traffic, officers said. Brant was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Bidding For Freeway Project Set Dec. 13

Thrice postponed, bidding has been set again for the proposed multi-million dollar city freeway.

The State Highway Department said bids will be received Dec. 13 for the Route 30-7 improvement with a project length of 1.429 miles and a work length of 2.456 miles.

Official Vote Count Shows No Changes

Totals Vary Slightly But Results Stand In Tuesday's Election

Working late Friday night, the County Election Board completed the official tabulation of votes cast in Tuesday's record-breaking election, but only minor changes were noted in the various races.

The official count will be certified today to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

O'Hanlon noted the official count showed 48,879 voters cast ballots Tuesday, an increase of 49 over the number shown in the unofficial tabulation.

The record vote surpassed by 2,789 votes the previous high of 46,090 recorded in the 1952 presidential election.

Kennedy Still Leads By 278,832 Margin

WASHINGTON (AP)—With unofficial returns complete from all but 1,672 of the nation's 166,066 voting units, John F. Kennedy still was leading today with 50.2 per cent of the popular vote.

The totals were Kennedy 33,627,229; Vice President Richard M. Nixon 33,348,397, a difference of 278,832 votes out of nearly 67 million.

Kennedy had carried 22 states with 300 electoral votes and was leading in California with 32 votes, which would give him a total of 332 electoral votes.

Nixon had carried 25 states with 138 electoral votes and led in Alaska with 3 votes for a total of 191.

Rebels Give Up, Saigon Report Says

Diem Urges People To Be Calm, Snub Insurgent Appeals

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —President Ngo Dinh Diem's loyal forces appeared today to have smashed an uprising by paratroopers who seized most of this tropical capital before dawn Friday.

The pro-government forces announced by radio in mid-morning that they had recaptured the radio station and several strategic points about the city.

The broadcast said the rebel leader, Col. Nguyen Chanh Thi, escaped in a jeep as government forces began encircling the city.

He managed to get to Saigon airport and take off in a military plane but two loyalist planes forced it down near Nhatrang, central Viet Nam, where the rebel leader was made prisoner, the government radio said later.

It said the 3,000 paratroopers and marines, who staged Friday's pre-dawn attack on the presidential palace and proclaimed the overthrow of President Diem, surrendered on all sides after putting up weak resistance. It claimed the insurgents were being disarmed.

The counteroffensive by Diem's armed forces, led by Gen. Le Van Kim, was launched against the city early today.

President Diem in a nationwide broadcast urged the population to remain calm and disregard insurgent appeals.

"To protect the people's life and interests I have ordered the insurgents to surrender, but they failed to obey the right cause," he said. "I therefore, gave orders to the Vietnamese armed forces to settle the matter with them."

The armed forces fulfilled their duty, he added, and the insurgents will be punished. He paid tribute to "those courageous combatants who died for the right cause."

The city had awakened to the sounds of gunfire.

Within 45 minutes pro-Diem broadcasts began coming from the radio station that had been in the hands of rebel paratroopers.

By afternoon the situation in the city was becoming calm again.

But a full assessment of the consequences of the apparently short-lived insurrenction was not possible.

Large crowds of demonstrators and various political groups supported the insurgents during the uprising Friday.

Tryong Vinh Le, speaker of the pro-Diem national assembly, went on the air today and accused the insurgents of complicity with Communists and demanded that they be denounced and publicly punished.

The leaders of the revolt said they acted to overthrow Diem's "family dictatorship" and to strengthen the nation against Communist infiltration from North Viet Nam. Most of them have been labeled pro-Western in their sympathies.

The counterattacking army, navy and armored units, styling themselves the "liberation forces" broadcast that they recaptured the radio station, police and security headquarters and other key positions in the first 45 minutes.

"We have captured and killed many insurgent troops who tried to oppose us," the broadcast said. "We have seized about 300 rifles and mortars at the radio station and promise to fight until our last man to restore the peace and security under the leadership of President Ngo Dinh Diem."

11th Hour Bid Set To Block Integration

Legislature Will Resume Session In Louisiana Monday

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — State segregation leaders prepared today for an 11th hour attempt to prevent public school integration here on Monday.

The Louisiana Legislature resumes its 12-day special session in Baton Rouge Sunday afternoon, less than 24 hours before five Negro girls are due to enter first-grade classes at two all-white schools.

Lloyd J. Rittiner, president of the Orleans Parish School Board, said no further meetings were planned. The board, under orders from U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright to integrate schools Monday, voted last Thursday night to transfer the Negroes.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis summoned legislators back to the Capitol two days before the present special session, which he had called, was due to end. A new 30-day special session, called by Davis last Thursday, begins Tuesday upon the end of the current one.

The special session earlier this week passed 28 bills designed to preserve school segregation, including bills to give the legislators control of New Orleans schools. But Judge Wright, acting on a suit brought by New Orleans citizens, issued a restraining order telling the state to keep hands off the schools.

In other developments:

(1) City police assigned a 24-hour guard to Judge Wright. A new segregation law makes any federal official working to bring about integration subject to arrest by state police.

(2) Warrants were served on state police chiefs and other officials. An order signed Thursday by Judge Wright prohibits all mayors, sheriffs, chiefs of police and district attorneys from interfering with New Orleans schools.

It's Vacation In Florida Sun For Kennedy

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy took refuge at a quiet haven on THE Atlantic shore today from the turmoil of politics and crowds.

For the first time in weeks Kennedy had on tap only rest and relaxation after the gruelling campaign which reached a glorious climax for him in victory last Tuesday over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The 43-year-old senator arrived here Friday night at 10:03 p.m. after a flight from his home at Hyannis Port, Mass. On the way Kennedy's private plane made a brief stop in Washington where he left his wife Jacqueline and their daughter Caroline, 3.

Mrs. Kennedy is expecting their second child in about three weeks and her doctor advised against her coming to Florida.

The President-elect is staying here at the rambling Spanish-style home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain. He expects to remain for about two weeks, resting mainly but inevitably also doing some planning for the tremendous task of taking over direction of the government Jan. 20.

The only scheduled interruption of the projected two-week vacation will come next Wednesday when Kennedy plans to fly to Texas for a conference with Lyndon B. Johnson, elected to the vice presidency.

Jail Fugitive Sought In County Localities

LISBON — Columbiana County deputies were staked out at three localities Friday night in the widespread search for Richard E. Young, 23, who escaped from the Sebring City Jail yesterday.

He was being held for transfer to the Mahoning County Jail to await grand jury action on a burglary count. Authorities said he recently served 18 months in a federal prison for auto theft.

Young formerly lived in the Guilford Lake and Leetonia areas and had friends in Columbiana and those places were watched last night without success. A car was stolen in Salem about an hour after the escape but it later was found abandoned in Salem.

Bar Operator Fined On Sale To Minor Boys

Chester Man Pleads Innocent And Files Notice He'll Appeal

A Chester tavern operator, one of five named in warrants obtained Oct. 17 by Hancock County Probation Officer William Paolisso on charges of violating the West Virginia state beer law, was fined $50 and costs at a hearing today before Squire W. Eugene Allison.

Russell Cook, licensee of Club 66 in Chester, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of selling beer to minors at a hearing this morning before the Chester squire. The hearing had been continued twice.

Cook filed notice of appeal of the fine to the January term of Hancock County Circuit Court.

He is the third of the five to give notice of appeal to fines meted out by Squire Allison and Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland in connection with beer sales to youths under 18.

Fannie Derifield of Fannie's Tavern in Chester said she intends to appeal a fine of $100 and costs given by Squire Allison while Carol Z. Mills of Sunset Inn on Route 2 appealed his fine of $200 meted by Squire Herron.

The charges were brought against the five by Paolisso after two 17-year-old boys from Newell and Rochester, found intoxicated, furnished information to authorities that they bought beer in the establishments last month.

Four of the licensees were fined, and one was acquitted.

Recounts, Absentee Ballots Eyed

GOP Still Hoping Nixon Gains Popular Vote Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans clung to the hope today that recounts and absentee ballot tabulations might give Vice President Richard M. Nixon a popular vote lead over Sen. John F. Kennedy.

That was the practical valuation put by spokesmen for Nixon on a request by GOP National Chairman Thurston B. Morton for a recheck of the vote in 11 states. Nixon was not consulted about Morton's recheck request, an aide said.

While some Republican leaders had dreamed of overturning Tuesday's results which gave Kennedy more than enough electoral votes for the presidency, Nixon's top aides made it clear they expect no such outcome.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, and Robert Finch, his campaign manager, did say they believe the vice president may gain a lead over Kennedy in the final count of popular votes. They didn't say so, but any such result would be regarded as a boost for Nixon to run again in 1964.

When Morton asked for the recounts in 11 states, he told GOP officials in the states to look into "purported vote frauds."

Reports from some of the 11 states indicated that few local Republican officials were hopeful of changing the results in any significant way. Some, in fact, said there was no evidence of fraud.

The latest Associated Press tally, with 1,672 voting places uncounted, showed: Kennedy 33,627,229, Nixon 33,348,397.

Finch and Klein told a news conference Friday that Nixon was not consulted about Morton's move for recounts or inquiries into any irregularities in Illinois, Texas, Delaware, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

In Miami, Fla., where he went for a post-election vacation, Nixon said he knew nothing about plans for legal action which might lead to vote recounts in states where Kennedy was declared the winner.

Finch and Klein said Nixon was standing by Tuesday's results and has no plans to take any affirmative action toward trying to upset them.

In a 12th state, California, Republicans were hoping that the counting of absentee ballots would take the state out of Kennedy's electoral column and put it into Nixon's. But the first tallies indicated the absentee vote would not swing the state to Nixon.

At the polls Tuesday, Kennedy took a 37,140 lead in California. Nixon would need almost two-thirds of the state's 200,000 absentee ballots to erase that.

Officials counted the first 3,400 of the California absentee ballots Friday. The totals were in Nixon's favor but they enabled him to cut down Kennedy's lead by only 438 votes.

Finch said any recounts or other action taken will be entirely in the hands of local Republicans in the 11 states. He added that "any hopes we have that the national result will be overturned by local action in the states is very slight."

Finch went on to say that the most any Republican could hope for would be to reduce Kennedy's electoral total, which now stands at 332, to slightly below the necessary 269 margin. He said this would merely throw the election into the hands of uncommitted electors. Eight of these were elected in Mississippi and six in Alabama.

Kennedy Still Leads By 278,832 Margin

WASHINGTON (AP)—With unofficial returns complete from all but 1,672 of the nation's 166,066 voting units, John F. Kennedy still was leading today with 50.2 per cent of the popular vote.

The totals were Kennedy 33,627,229; Vice President Richard M. Nixon 33,348,397, a difference of 278,832 votes out of nearly 67 million.

Kennedy had carried 22 states with 300 electoral votes and was leading in California with 32 votes, which would give him a total of 332 electoral votes.

Nixon had carried 25 states with 188 electoral votes and led in Alaska with 3 votes for a total of 191.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — State segregation leaders prepared today for an 11th hour attempt to prevent public school integration here on Monday.

The Louisiana Legislature resumes its 12-day special session in Baton Rouge Sunday afternoon, less than 24 hours before five Negro girls are due to enter first-grade classes at two all-white schools.

Lloyd J. Rittiner, president of the Orleans Parish School Board, said no further meetings were planned. The board, under orders from U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright to integrate schools Monday, voted last Thursday night to transfer the Negroes.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis summoned legislators back to the Capitol two days before the present special session, which he had called, was due to end. A new 30-day special session, called by Davis last Thursday, begins Tuesday upon the end of the current one.

The special session earlier this week passed 28 bills designed to preserve school segregation, including bills to give the legislators control of New Orleans schools. But Judge Wright, acting on a suit brought by New Orleans citizens, issued a restraining order telling the state to keep hands off the schools.

In other developments:

(1) City police assigned a 24-hour guard to Judge Wright. A new segregation law makes any federal official working to bring about integration subject to arrest by state police.

(2) Warrants were served on state police chiefs and other officials. An order signed Thursday by Judge Wright prohibits all mayors, sheriffs, chiefs of police and district attorneys from interfering with New Orleans schools.

It's Vacation In Florida Sun For Kennedy

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy took refuge at a quiet haven on THE Atlantic shore today from the turmoil of politics and crowds.

For the first time in weeks Kennedy had on tap only rest and relaxation after the gruelling campaign which reached a glorious climax for him in victory last Tuesday over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The 43-year-old senator arrived here Friday night at 10:03 p.m. after a flight from his home at Hyannis Port, Mass. On the way Kennedy's private plane made a brief stop in Washington where he left his wife Jacqueline and their daughter Caroline, 3.

Mrs. Kennedy is expecting their second child in about three weeks and her doctor advised against her coming to Florida.

The President-elect is staying here at the rambling Spanish-style home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain. He expects to remain for about two weeks, resting mainly but inevitably also doing some planning for the tremendous task of taking over direction of the government Jan. 20.

The only scheduled interruption of the projected two-week vacation will come next Wednesday when Kennedy plans to fly to Texas for a conference with Lyndon B. Johnson, elected to the vice presidency.

Jail Fugitive Sought In County Localities

LISBON — Columbiana County deputies were staked out at three localities Friday night in the widespread search for Richard E. Young, 23, who escaped from the Sebring City Jail yesterday.

He was being held for transfer to the Mahoning County Jail to await grand jury action on a burglary count. Authorities said he recently served 18 months in a federal prison for auto theft.

Young formerly lived in the Guilford Lake and Leetonia areas and had friends in Columbiana and those places were watched last night without success. A car was stolen in Salem about an hour after the escape but it later was found abandoned in Salem.

Bar Operator Fined On Sale To Minor Boys

Chester Man Pleads Innocent And Files Notice He'll Appeal

A Chester tavern operator, one of five named in warrants obtained Oct. 17 by Hancock County Probation Officer William Paolisso on charges of violating the West Virginia state beer law, was fined $50 and costs at a hearing today before Squire W. Eugene Allison.

Russell Cook, licensee of Club 66 in Chester, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of selling beer to minors at a hearing this morning before the Chester squire. The hearing had been continued twice.

Cook filed notice of appeal of the fine to the January term of Hancock County Circuit Court.

He is the third of the five to give notice of appeal to fines meted out by Squire Allison and Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland in connection with beer sales to youths under 18.

Fannie Derifield of Fannie's Tavern in Chester said she intends to appeal a fine of $100 and costs given by Squire Allison while Carol Z. Mills of Sunset Inn on Route 2 appealed his fine of $200 meted by Squire Herron.

The charges were brought against the five by Paolisso after two 17-year-old boys from Newell and Rochester, found intoxicated, furnished information to authorities that they bought beer in the establishments last month.

Four of the licensees were fined, and one was acquitted.

Plagued By Many Problems

South Viet Nam President Fiercely Anti-Communist

While insurgent army forces and troops loyal to South Viet Nam's President Ngo Dinh Diem clash in Saigon, the anti-Communist leader of the former French colony apparently is a prisoner in his palace. Relman Morin, a Pulitzer-Prize-winning AP reporter who interviewed Ngo last fall, writes on the problems that have plagued the energetic president.

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ngo Dinh Diem, president of South Viet Nam, is a powerfully built man with a shock of black hair and burning dark eyes.

He is tough, energetic, a fighter and driver. He is fiercely anti-Communist.

He has another quality which his friends call "single-mindedness" and his enemies call "dictatorial."

During an interview in his palace in Saigon last fall, he leaned forward in his chair, stabbed the air with his finger, and said:

"What people forget is that during nine years of war, this country was entirely occupied by the Communists. It was almost prostrate, economically. There was great physical destruction. Strong measures were necessary."

Ngo seemed to be explaining, without being asked, why the "strong measures" had been imposed on the country, and were being continued. Whether he was aware that public opposition to his methods was rising toward the danger point is hard to say.

South Viet Nam is a part of the former huge French colony of Indo-China. From 1945 to 1954, it was the scene of a fierce war with the Communists. The French held the cities and controlled main highways, but the Reds, fighting guerrilla-fashion in the jungles, swamps and mountains, held the rest of the country.

After the fall of the fortress of Dien Bien Phu, peace was nominally restored and the country was divided. North Viet Nam is a Communist satellite.

Ngo came to power in South Viet Nam, and moved energetically to get the country on its feet again. He was assisted by heavy American financial aid and technical assistance.

"Strong measures were necessary," as he said.

But in the past year or so, rumblings of discontent have been growing louder. They came mainly from these charges:

1. That political freedom and civil liberties were non-existent.

2. That his five brothers and a sister-in-law constitute a "family dynasty," holding key policy-making decisions. Ngo has denied this and asserted that final decisions were made entirely by him.

3. That he was a "mandarin," a dictatorial aristocrat, with too little contact with the people and understanding of their problems.

4. That the measure he has taken against the Viet-Cong (Communits) have failed to bring peace.

This fourth point is Ngo's toughest problem.

In the swampy delta south of Saigon, criss-crossed with canals and waterways and covered with underbrush, a savage war with the Communists goes on unceasingly. American military observers estimate that about 5,000 guerrillas are operating there.

2 Men Injured In Auto Upset

City Man, Passenger Of Hookstown Hurt

A city driver and his passenger were injured slightly when their car rolled over on Route 45 about 2 miles south of Salem at 12:40 a. m. today, according to the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Walter W. Wolfe, 54, of Anderson Blvd. failed to negotiate a curve on Route 45, went off the right side of the highway and the car upset.

Wolfe suffered bruises of the head and knees and Homer Mercer, 62, of Hookstown received a broken nose.

Both men were treated at Salem City Hospital. Wolfe was cited for reckless operation.

No one was injured in an accident involving another city motorist Friday night on Route 30.

A car driven by David Brant, 46, of 707 Bank St. struck the rear of another driven by Fletcher Cryder, 44, of Massillon on Route 30 about two and a half miles south of Route 7 last night at 11:45.

Cryder was slowing for traffic, officers said. Brant was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Bidding For Freeway Project Set Dec. 13

Thrice postponed, bidding has been set again for the proposed multi-million dollar city freeway.

The State Highway Department said bids will be received Dec. 13 for the Route 30-7 improvement with a project length of 1.429 miles and a work length of 2.456 miles.

Township Tax Estimate Set

The estimate of 1961 real estate tax receipts was approved by the Liverpool Township trustees at a meeting Friday night at City Hall.

It shows $3,142 for the general fund, $15,713 for roads and bridges and $6,809 for fire protection.

The total is up almost $3,000 because of additional housing built in the township. Trustees pointed out this does not mean taxes will increase.

The trustees also accepted a plot covering the entire section of the Hill Addition for house numbering. The action is being taken to have mail routes extended.

All houses in the section will be assigned numbers in the near future. The trustees voted to obtain maps of the township to aid in extending the mailing system in other sections. The maps also will be used for other purposes such as road improvements, etc.

Simon Hall, clerk, said the township is growing and homes must be numbered before mail deliveries will be made.

The trustees also voted to purchase a cab for the International truck and backhoe equipment.

A listing was started on the improved roads in the township. It is necessary for future improvements and purchases of materials.

Hall and the trustees will attend a meeting of the Columbiana County Agricultural Association Monday night at Lisbon when zoning will be discussed.

The next meeting is Nov. 25.

Army Troops, Police Alert In Algeria Strife

ALGIERS (AP) — Army troops and police were alert in trigger-tense Algeria today lest the Armistice Day rioting turn into an anti-De Gaulle uprising.

Friday's rioting, in which some 100 persons were injured, was mostly by unorganized youths.

The Front for French Algeria, the principal representative of rightist Europeans, disclaimed any connection with the rioting, which broke out during ceremonies at the monument to war dead.

The students batttled police and troops for hours before finally dispersing at sundown. The rioters smashed windows, wrecked buses, sacked the U. S. Information Center and pelted security forces with stones, tin cans and tomatoes despite showers of tear gas.

Though most observers believed the student riot was not an immediate prelude to more serious trouble, they felt the opposition to French President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian policy is building up to a new explosion.

Wife, Husband Should Know All Legal 'Angles'

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Mary S. Coleman, unlike so many other wives, knows exactly what her husband is talking about when he discusses his business over the dinner table.

As Calhoun County's new probate judge, Mrs. Coleman is the wife of a judge in addition to being a lawyer and mother of two girls.

Judge-elect Mrs. Coleman, 45, has two teen-age daughters, Leslie Ann and Carol, and regards her election victory as "the greatest honor of my life."

Her husband of 21 years is Circuit Judge Creighton R. Coleman, a state legislator until his election to the bench.

For a long time Mrs. Coleman has divided herself between duties as wife and mother and the law.

In defeating Municipal Judge William C. Burke, she carried every precinct of Calhoun County, winning 22,100 to 14,451.

Mrs. Coleman has served since 1957 as referee in charge of the juvenile division of Probate Court. She was given the job when it was first created.

Atty. Tobin Speaker

Electoral College System Discussed For Lions Club

With the presidential election still a topic of discussion, a talk on the Electoral College was presented by Atty. Paul Tobin at the meeting of the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

Tobin pointed out the Electorial College was established by the Constitution and any amendment would require ratification by two-thirds of the states.

Southern states never would consent to any change, he declared.

"Although we are one country, we actually are a federation of states with each state sending its representatives to the federal government."

Each state automatically has two votes in the Electoral College by virtue of having two senators. The remainder of the Electoral College is based on the number of congressmen each state is entitled to, which is based on population, Tobin said.

In Ohio's case, it has 23 representatives so it is entitled to 23 extra votes in the Electoral College. Because of the population increase, based on the 1960 census, Ohio is expected to gain at least one more Electoral College vote.

Although Ohio does not list individual electors on the presidential ballot, a vote for either candidate automatically is a vote for the electors pledged to him.

The electors are pledged to the candidate of their party, but are not legally obligated to vote for him.

In Mississippi, the individual electors are listed. In Tuesday's election, three different groups were named. One pledged to Sen. John F. Kennedy, one to Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the third group was unpledged, he explained.

When it selected unpledged electors, Mississippians apparently hoped the Electoral College vote would be so close it "could blackmail either major candidate" or throw the selection of the next president into the House of Representatives where each state would have one vote, the attorney said.

Alabama named five electors pledged to Kennedy and six who were unpledged, Tobin continued.

New Library Book Concerns Nation's 3 Unknown Soldiers

In "Known But to God," Quentin Reynolds undertakes a new writing assignment to celebrate the three Unknown Soldiers now buried in the Arlington National Cemetery.

In the new book at the Carnegie Public Library, he creates three fictional combat men who might have served in World War I, in World War II and in Korea. He also details the exhaustive processes and dramatic ceremonies by which the Unknowns were chosen, Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said.

A young military analyst, John Terraine has made an intensive study of the Battle of Mons, one of the great catastrophes of World War I. He calls the book, "Mons," but his subtitle is "Retreat to Victory" since this was one of the crucial turning points of that war.

In "The Soldier," Richard Powell turns his talented fictional pen to the South Pacific of World War II. Though it would seem that this area had been thoroughly worked over by fine writers such as James Michener, Powell proves to the contrary with a novel which is partly combat and partly character studies vividly portrayed.

There is a novel to fit every reader's favorite region on this week's new fiction shelf. Gladys Hasty Carroll returns to her beloved New England in "Come Home With Me;" the majestic mountains of Wyoming are the inspiration for Tom Lea's "The Primal Yoke;" the midwest of the early 1900's forms the backdrop for Agnes Sligh Tuenbull's "The Nightingale," and the great frontiers of Canada provide incentive for a burgeoning industrialist in David Walker's "Where the High Winds Blow."

A former librarian of Yale University has made some new and elightening researches into the "The Origin of the American Revolution." The period covered is the 7 years from 1759 to 1766. Harvey Haislip, a retired U. S. Navy captain, has written a novel of hazard and romance which brings the American Revolution to its peak, the title — "Sea Road to Yorktown."

Two novels of distinction deserve careful perusal — the Prix-Goncourt winner in France, "The Last of the Unjust," by Andre Schwarz-Bart and "Where No Flags Fly" by Frederick Ayer. The latter predicts the end of the world, its hero being an American prisoner in Russia.

If you've had trouble solving problems lately, there's help for you in Frank Armstrong's "Idea Tracking." The author has some crackerjack new formulas for brainstorming.

Woman Killed, 2 Hurt In One-Car Accident

KENTLAND, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Cordie Compton, 62, Dayton, Ohio, was killed in a one-car accident on U.S. 41 a short distance south of Lake Village Friday night.

Two Chicago women, Darcus C. Johnson, 29, and Grace Ellen Roberts, 19, were injured and were taken to Ade Memorial Hospital at Brook.

State Police said the driver, Miss Johnson, reported she thought she was having trouble with the power steering on her car. It ran off the right side of the highway, then went across to the left side and turned over.

Bishop Werner, Wife Honored At Reception

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner and his wife were guests of honor Friday night at an Ohio area reception on the Ohio Wesleyan University campus in honor of their return to the Ohio area.

Dr. Werner was reassigned to the Ohio area by action of the Quadrenniel Methodist Jurisdictional Conference at Grand Rapids, Mich., last July.

Dr. Werner has served as Methodist bishop of the Ohio area, comprising both the Ohio and North East Ohio conferences, for the past 12 years.

County's Road Crews Ready For Snow Blitz

LISBON—The Columbiana County Highway Department's maintenance equipment is ready for the control of ice and snow for the coming winter, according to Charles Snyder, county engineer.

The county is divided into four sections and each has three ash and snow plow trucks and one grader ready to go out.

Approximately 15 miles of snow fence will have been erected by next week. Approximately 2,000 tons of crushed ashes has been stocked, along with 2 car loads of salt. Last winter, which was considered "hard," the county used 7 car loads of salt, according to John Neil, highway superintendent.

Midland Due $7,364 In Fuel Tax Proceeds

Beaver County commissioners Thursday approved liquid fuel tax monies for Midland, $7,364, Hanover Township, $1,500, and Georgetown, $3,000.

The funds are for road and street improvements already completed. Commissioners passed a resolution protesting the discontinuance by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. of four commuter trains between Beaver Falls and Pittsburgh.

Irondale Dinner Set

IRONDALE — Volunteer firement will sponsor a public meat loaf and ham dinner Thursday from 5 to 7 p. m. in the recreation room of the Masonic Temple. Proceeds will be used to help pay for newly - purchased Scott Air-Paks. The committee includes John Olesky, Quenton Henderson, Joe Olesky, James Crawford, Jack Tolson and Oliver Nicholson, fire chief.

Locked Wheel Caused Death

A partially locked rear wheel apparently caused a high-lift machine to veer off the highway and plunge over an embankment, fatally injuring a Morgantown area lumber employe south of Newell Friday morning.

Squire John D. Herron, acting Hancock County coroner, conducted an investigation into the death of John Rice, 37, of Brandonville, W. Va., who was driving on Route 66 to a site near Congo to load lumber.

The death was ruled an accident.

Mr. Rice had been rooming for the past month at the home of Harry Lytton of Grant St., Newell. Among the survivors are his widow, Evelyn, and four children.

The body was removed to the Fry-Vogel Funeral Home in Marklysburg, Pa. where services will be held Monday afternoon. Burial will be in a cemetery near the victim's home.

Appeal Opens For Gifts For County Wards

LISBON — The annual appeal for donations to the Christmas fund for Columbiana County foster-home children has been launched by Robert Bycroft, director of the County Welfare Department.

The appeals mailed by the director ask for funds, gifts or clothing.

"Through the generosity of many county contributors last year, over $1,900 was collected. Each child under the department's care received the gift he or she most desired, and with repeated help we hope to make that possible again this year," Bycroft said.

The goal is $1,600, the same as in 1959.

Bycroft pointed out Christmas is traditionally the day-of-days for children the world over, adding, "These children throughout the county look to you, through us, for what their families should be doing and are not." There are approximately 210 children being cared for in welfare homes and in the Kyes Memorial Home in East Palestine.

Checks or donations should be made out to the Columbiana County Department of Welfare, and contents of gift packages should be labled on the outside. If clothing is contributed, the size should be labeled, Bycroft said.

Clash Of Careers Hinted

Marilyn, Arthur Silent On Breakup Of Marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — What caused the breakup between America's sex symbol, Marilyn Monroe, and her intellectual playwright husband?

A tug-of-war between their careers, say friends.

But neither Marilyn nor her mate of four years, Arthur Miller, were talking for publication.

"I'm sorry," the blonde star told newsmen Friday after the separation was announced. "But I have nothing to say about my personal life."

Miller ducked out of sight and was believed to be staying with friends. But he was depicted as "regretful, sad, realistic and friendly."

Miss Monroe has been described variously as a woman of ferocious ambition, frightened, insecure, witty, vague, ingenuous and the beauty who wants to be intelligent.

"She's not just a star," said another friend. "She is an institution and must constantly be in the center of excitement and activity."

Miller, whose writing requires that he be alone frequently and away from the stresses of show business,. once said that living with Marilyn was like "living in a goldfish bowl."

Once one of the most prolific of Broadway playwrights, he was last represented in New York by "A View From the Bridge," produced in 1955. He won a Pulitzer Prize for his "Death of a Salesman."

Since his marriage, he has confined most of his writing to the films and in furthering Marilyn's career. One of Marilyn's biographers said Miller had "to give up his entire time to attend to her wants."

One thing is certain, intimates say, no third party is involved. This apparently was in reference to a rumored romance last month between the actress and French actor Yves Montand. The pair met during the filming of a picture, "Let's Make Love," in which they co-starred.

It was the third marriage for Miss Monroe, 34, and the second for Miller, 11 years her senior. She formerly was married to James Dougherty, a Los Angeles policeman, and to Joe DiMaggio, the former baseball star. Miller's first wife was the former Mary Grace Slattery.

Cleveland Area Pair Wins Women's Bridge

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Marvin Kane and Mrs. Samuel Teper of University Heights compiled a total of 200½ points to win the Women's Pair Championship of the Buckeye State Bridge Tournament Friday.

Bernard Wachtel of Shaker Heights and Arnold Weinstein of Akron won the men's pair title with a total of 205 points. In second place with 192 points were A. E. Barkett and William D. O'Hara of Mansfield.

The tournament ends Sunday.

12 Teen-Agers, Man Injured In 2-Car Collision

CLEVELAND (AP) — Twelve teen-agers and a man were injured Friday night when two automobiles collided at a curve on East Boulevard north of Kinsman Avenue in Woodland Hills Park.

Most seriously injured were Richard H. Drier, 30, of Cleveland, driver of one of the cars; and John Schlund, 16, of Warrensville Heights, who underwent emergency surgery at St. Luke's Hospital, and Sandy Neidzwiezd, 17, of Warrensville Heights, who suffered two broken legs.

Police said all the teen-agers were in a car driven by John Scrocca, 17, of Warrensville Heights, who also was admitted to the hospital. They were en route to a dance at Benedictine High School to celebrate Benedictine's 28-6 football victory over East High School.

Officers said Scrocca's car was over the center line.

A passenger told police that Scrocca did not want to take all the young people in his car and that many piled in despite the driver's protests.

Crime Figure Convicted Of Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (AP) — A jury has convicted gangland boss Tony Accardo, 54, of income tax evasion—the same crime that landed his notorious predecessor, Al Capone, in a federal prison 28 years ago.

The stocky Accardo faces a possible maximum sentence of nine years in prison and fines totaling $15,000. Judge Julius Hoffman of U. S. District Court will pronounce sentence Nov. 18, if a motion for a new trial is overruled that day. A jury of six men and six women returned its verdict Friday.

The crime that brought the wealthy Accardo's conviction held other irony: The head of a reputed multimillion-dollar crime syndicate falsely declaring $3,993 as business expenses for his flashy red sports car.

Accardo heard the verdict impassively, then told newsmen coldly: "I still have no comment."

A housewife survey taken by Oklahoma State University revealed that 48.6 per cent of the respondents cited newspaper advertising as "most useful" — the highest score for any advertising medium.

Township Tax Estimate Set

The estimate of 1961 real estate tax receipts was approved by the Liverpool Township trustees at a meeting Friday night at City Hall.

It shows $3,142 for the general fund, $15,713 for roads and bridges and $6,809 for fire protection.

The total is up almost $3,000 because of additional housing built in the township. Trustees pointed out this does not mean taxes will increase.

The trustees also accepted a plot covering the entire section of the Hill Addition for house numbering. The action is being taken to have mail routes extended.

All houses in the section will be assigned numbers in the near future. The trustees voted to obtain maps of the township to aid in extending the mailing system in other sections. The maps also will be used for other purposes such as road improvements, etc.

Simon Hall, clerk, said the township is growing and homes must be numbered before mail deliveries will be made.

The trustees also voted to purchase a cab for the International truck and backhoe equipment.

A listing was started on the improved roads in the township. It is necessary for future improvements and purchases of materials.

Hall and the trustees will attend a meeting of the Columbiana County Agricultural Association Monday night at Lisbon when zoning will be discussed.

The next meeting is Nov. 25.

Army Troops, Police Alert In Algeria Strife

ALGIERS (AP) — Army troops and police were alert in trigger-tense Algeria today lest the Armistice Day rioting turn into an anti-De Gaulle uprising.

Friday's rioting, in which some 100 persons were injured, was mostly by unorganized youths.

The Front for French Algeria, the principal representative of rightist Europeans, disclaimed any connection with the rioting, which broke out during ceremonies at the monument to war dead.

The students batttled police and troops for hours before finally dispersing at sundown. The rioters smashed windows, wrecked buses, sacked the U. S. Information Center and pelted security forces with stones, tin cans and tomatoes despite showers of tear gas.

Though most observers believed the student riot was not an immediate prelude to more serious trouble, they felt the opposition to French President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian policy is building up to a new explosion.

Wife, Husband Should Know All Legal 'Angles'

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Mary S. Coleman, unlike so many other wives, knows exactly what her husband is talking about when he discusses his business over the dinner table.

As Calhoun County's new probate judge, Mrs. Coleman is the wife of a judge in addition to being a lawyer and mother of two girls.

Judge-elect Mrs. Coleman, 45, has two teen-age daughters, Leslie Ann and Carol, and regards her election victory as "the greatest honor of my life."

Her husband of 21 years is Circuit Judge Creighton R. Coleman, a state legislator until his election to the bench.

For a long time Mrs. Coleman has divided herself between duties as wife and mother and the law.

In defeating Municipal Judge William C. Burke, she carried every precinct of Calhoun County, winning 22,100 to 14,451.

Mrs. Coleman has served since 1957 as referee in charge of the juvenile division of Probate Court. She was given the job when it was first created.

Atty. Tobin Speaker

Electoral College System Discussed For Lions Club

With the presidential election still a topic of discussion, a talk on the Electoral College was presented by Atty. Paul Tobin at the meeting of the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

Tobin pointed out the Electorial College was established by the Constitution and any amendment would require ratification by two-thirds of the states.

Southern states never would consent to any change, he declared.

"Although we are one country, we actually are a federation of states with each state sending its representatives to the federal government."

Each state automatically has two votes in the Electoral College by virtue of having two senators. The remainder of the Electoral College is based on the number of congressmen each state is entitled to, which is based on population, Tobin said.

In Ohio's case, it has 23 representatives so it is entitled to 23 extra votes in the Electoral College. Because of the population increase, based on the 1960 census, Ohio is expected to gain at least one more Electoral College vote.

Although Ohio does not list individual electors on the presidential ballot, a vote for either candidate automatically is a vote for the electors pledged to him.

The electors are pledged to the candidate of their party, but are not legally obligated to vote for him.

In Mississippi, the individual electors are listed. In Tuesday's election, three different groups were named. One pledged to Sen. John F. Kennedy, one to Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the third group was unpledged, he explained.

When it selected unpledged electors, Mississippians apparently hoped the Electoral College vote would be so close it "could blackmail either major candidate" or throw the selection of the next president into the House of Representatives where each state would have one vote, the attorney said.

Alabama named five electors pledged to Kennedy and six who were unpledged, Tobin continued.

He was introduced by Richard Martin, program chairman. Howard E. Tice, president, presided.

New Library Book Concerns Nation's 3 Unknown Soldiers

In "Known But to God," Quentin Reynolds undertakes a new writing assignment to celebrate the three Unknown Soldiers now buried in the Arlington National Cemetery.

In the new book at the Carnegie Public Library, he creates three fictional combat men who might have served in World War I, in World War II and in Korea. He also details the exhaustive processes and dramatic ceremonies by which the Unknowns were chosen, Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said.

A young military analyst, John Terraine has made an intensive study of the Battle of Mons, one of the great catastrophes of World War I. He calls the book, "Mons," but his subtitle is "Retreat to Victory" since this was one of the crucial turning points of that war.

In "The Soldier," Richard Powell turns his talented fictional pen to the South Pacific of World War II. Though it would seem that this area had been thoroughly worked over by fine writers such as James Michener, Powell proves to the contrary with a novel which is partly combat and partly character studies vividly portrayed.

There is a novel to fit every reader's favorite region on this week's new fiction shelf. Gladys Hasty Carroll returns to her beloved New England in "Come Home With Me;" the majestic mountains of Wyoming are the inspiration for Tom Lea's "The Primal Yoke;" the midwest of the early 1900's forms the backdrop for Agnes Sligh Tuenbull's "The Nightingale," and the great frontiers of Canada provide incentive for a burgeoning industrialist in David Walker's "Where the High Winds Blow."

A former librarian of Yale University has made some new and elightening researches into the "The Origin of the American Revolution." The period covered is the 7 years from 1759 to 1766. Harvey Haislip, a retired U. S. Navy captain, has written a novel of hazard and romance which brings the American Revolution to its peak, the title — "Sea Road to Yorktown."

Two novels of distinction deserve careful perusal — the Prix-Goncourt winner in France, "The Last of the Unjust," by Andre Schwarz-Bart and "Where No Flags Fly" by Frederick Ayer. The latter predicts the end of the world, its hero being an American prisoner in Russia.

If you've had trouble solving problems lately, there's help for you in Frank Armstrong's "Idea Tracking." The author has some crackerjack new formulas for brainstorming.

Woman Killed, 2 Hurt In One-Car Accident

KENTLAND, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Cordie Compton, 62, Dayton, Ohio, was killed in a one-car accident on U.S. 41 a short distance south of Lake Village Friday night.

Two Chicago women, Darcus C. Johnson, 29, and Grace Ellen Roberts, 19, were injured and were taken to Ade Memorial Hospital at Brook.

State Police said the driver, Miss Johnson, reported she thought she was having trouble with the power steering on her car. It ran off the right side of the highway, then went across to the left side and turned over.

Bishop Werner, Wife Honored At Reception

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner and his wife were guests of honor Friday night at an Ohio area reception on the Ohio Wesleyan University campus in honor of their return to the Ohio area.

Dr. Werner was reassigned to the Ohio area by action of the Quadrenniel Methodist Jurisdictional Conference at Grand Rapids, Mich., last July.

Dr. Werner has served as Methodist bishop of the Ohio area, comprising both the Ohio and North East Ohio conferences, for the past 12 years.

County's Road Crews Ready For Snow Blitz

LISBON—The Columbiana County Highway Department's maintenance equipment is ready for the control of ice and snow for the coming winter, according to Charles Snyder, county engineer.

The county is divided into four sections and each has three ash and snow plow trucks and one grader ready to go out.

Approximately 15 miles of snow fence will have been erected by next week. Approximately 2,000 tons of crushed ashes has been stocked, along with 2 car loads of salt. Last winter, which was considered "hard," the county used 7 car loads of salt, according to John Neil, highway superintendent.

Midland Due $7,364 In Fuel Tax Proceeds

Beaver County commissioners Thursday approved liquid fuel tax monies for Midland, $7,364, Hanover Township, $1,500, and Georgetown, $3,000.

The funds are for road and street improvements already completed. Commissioners passed a resolution protesting the discontinuance by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. of four commuter trains between Beaver Falls and Pittsburgh.

Irondale Dinner Set

IRONDALE — Volunteer firement will sponsor a public meat loaf and ham dinner Thursday from 5 to 7 p. m. in the recreation room of the Masonic Temple. Proceeds will be used to help pay for newly - purchased Scott Air-Paks. The committee includes John Olesky, Quenton Henderson, Joe Olesky, James Crawford, Jack Tolson and Oliver Nicholson, fire chief.

Locked Wheel Caused Death

A partially locked rear wheel apparently caused a high-lift machine to veer off the highway and plunge over an embankment, fatally injuring a Morgantown area lumber employe south of Newell Friday morning.

Squire John D. Herron, acting Hancock County coroner, conducted an investigation into the death of John Rice, 37, of Brandonville, W. Va., who was driving on Route 66 to a site near Congo to load lumber.

The death was ruled an accident.

Mr. Rice had been rooming for the past month at the home of Harry Lytton of Grant St., Newell. Among the survivors are his widow, Evelyn, and four children.

The body was removed to the Fry-Vogel Funeral Home in Marklysburg, Pa. where services will be held Monday afternoon. Burial will be in a cemetery near the victim's home.

Appeal Opens For Gifts For County Wards

LISBON — The annual appeal for donations to the Christmas fund for Columbiana County foster-home children has been launched by Robert Bycroft, director of the County Welfare Department.

The appeals mailed by the director ask for funds, gifts or clothing.

"Through the generosity of many county contributors last year, over $1,900 was collected. Each child under the department's care received the gift he or she most desired, and with repeated help we hope to make that possible again this year," Bycorft said.

The goal is $1,600, the same as in 1959.

Bycroft pointed out Christmas is traditionally the day-of-days for children the world over, adding, "These children throughout the county look to you, through us, for what their families should be doing and are not." There are approximately 210 children being cared for in welfare homes and in the Kyes Memorial Home in East Palestine.

Checks or donations should be made out to the Columbiana County Department of Welfare, and contents of gift packages should be labled on the outside. If clothing is contributed, the size should be labeled, Bycroft said.

Clash Of Careers Hinted

Marilyn, Arthur Silent On Breakup Of Marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — What caused the breakup between America's sex symbol, Marilyn Monroe, and her intellectual playwright husband?

A tug-of-war between their careers, say friends.

But neither Marilyn nor her mate of four years, Arthur Miller, were talking for publication.

"I'm sorry," the blonde star told newsmen Friday after the separation was announced. "But I have nothing to say about my personal life."

Miller ducked out of sight and was believed to be staying with friends. But he was depicted as "regretful, sad, realistic and friendly."

Miss Monroe has been described variously as a woman of ferocious ambition, frightened, insecure, witty, vague, ingenuous and the beauty who wants to be intelligent.

"She's not just a star," said another friend. "She is an institution and must constantly be in the center of excitement and activity."

Miller, whose writing requires that he be alone frequently and away from the stresses of show business,. once said that living with Marilyn was like "living in a goldfish bowl."

Once one of the most prolific of Broadway playwrights, he was last represented in New York by "A View From the Bridge," produced in 1955. He won a Pulitzer Prize for his "Death of a Salesman."

Since his marriage, he has confined most of his writing to the films and in furthering Marilyn's career. One of Marilyn's biographers said Miller had "to give up his entire time to attend to her wants."

One thing is certain, intimates say, no third party is involved. This apparently was in reference to a rumored romance last month between the actress and French actor Yves Montand. The pair met during the filming of a picture, "Let's Make Love," in which they co-starred.

It was the third marriage for Miss Monroe, 34, and the second for Miller, 11 years her senior. She formerly was married to James Dougherty, a Los Angeles policeman, and to Joe DiMaggio, the former baseball star. Miller's first wife was the former Mary Grace Slattery.

The tournament ends Sunday.

12 Teen-Agers, Man Injured In 2-Car Collision

CLEVELAND (AP) — Twelve teen-agers and a man were injured Friday night when two automobiles collided at a curve on East Boulevard north of Kinsman Avenue in Woodland Hills Park.

Most seriously injured were Richard H. Drier, 30, of Cleveland, driver of one of the cars; and John Schlund, 16, of Warrensville Heights, who underwent emergency surgery at St. Luke's Hospital, and Sandy Neidzwiezd, 17, of Warrensville Heights, who suffered two broken legs.

Police said all the teen-agers were in a car driven by John Scrocca, 17, of Warrensville Heights, who also was admitted to the hospital. They were en route to a dance at Benedictine High School to celebrate Benedictine's 28-6 football victory over East High School.

Officers said Scrocca's car was over the center line.

A passenger told police that Scrocca did not want to take all the young people in his car and that many piled in despite the driver's protests.

Crime Figure Convicted Of Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (AP) — A jury has convicted gangland boss Tony Accardo, 54, of income tax evasion—the same crime that landed his notorious predecessor, Al Capone, in a federal prison 28 years ago.

The stocky Accardo faces a possible maximum sentence of nine years in prison and fines totaling $15,000. Judge Julius Hoffman of U. S. District Court will pronounce sentence Nov. 18, if a motion for a new trial is overruled that day. A jury of six men and six women returned its verdict Friday.

The crime that brought the wealthy Accardo's conviction held other irony: The head of a reputed multimillion-dollar crime syndicate falsely declaring $3,993 as business expenses for his flashy red sports car.

Accardo heard the verdict impassively,. then told newsmen coldly: "I still have no comment."

A housewife survey taken by Oklahoma State University revealed that 48.6 per cent of the respondents cited newspaper advertising as "most useful" — the highest score for any advertising medium.

Jefferson County is to get $8,976 while its townships are due $7,161. The payment is allocated on the basis of road mileage — 9 per cent to counties and 5 per cent to townships.

Lisbon Board To Act On Numerous Matters

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., and Supt. Russell Armitage said a variety of matters await action.

Salary adjustment, job discussion and board policies concerning janitors, the proposed building project at McKinley School, a testing program and expenditures for the library in the high school will be among items.

Project In Final Stage

Water Is Flowing In 8 Gates Of Dam

Water is now flowing through 8 of the Stratton Super-dam's 11 electrically-operated steel tainter gates as the Dravo Corp.'s $13.5 million project enters its final stage.

The Pittsburgh firm is building the high-lift structure for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and has completed both end sections of the dam and has just driven the cellular cofferdam inside which the closure section will be constructed.

Water was started through the eight gates following removal of the last of 19 steel sheet pile cells and connecting arcs which made up the second-stage cofferdam.

THE THIRD-STAGE cofferdam, enclosing the site of the last 2 concrete piers and three 110-foot-long tainter gates, consists of 9 new 54-foot-diameter cells and 4 which formerly made up part of the first-and second-stage cofferdams. The working area inside the cofferdam is 328 feet long and 130 wide.

After the cofferdam is dewatered to permit construction "in the dry," one of the first steps will be the placing of a concrete slab along the floor of the coffer at its downstream end. This will serve as a base for tracks for Dravo's whirler cranes.

Because the river bottom is almost solid rock within the area of the closure section, relatively little additional common excavation will be necessary.

ENDS OF THE cofferdam are anchored on 2 of the 10 piers already completed. Each pier is 10 feet wide, 43 long at the top and rises 55 feet above the eventual pool.

The piers, which each rest on a concrete base approximately 85 feet long, 24 wide and up to 42 thick, carry hoisting machinery to raise and lower the gates. They also support a steel plate girder service bridge with a concrete deck.

The pier bases are poured on rock about 45 feet below present normal river level.

All three of the gates in the final section are of the submergible type, so that water can pass over or under them, depending upon their position. Of the gates already installed, one in each section is the submergible type and the remaining six are non-submergible. The latter only can be raised, permitting water to pass under them.

BOTH THE submergible and non-submergible gates have 43-foot-long triangular steel side frames, pivoted on trunnions on the downstream side of the dam. Upstream faces of the gates, consisting of steel skin plates attached to the girder frame, are radial. A similar curved skin plate face on the downstream side of the submergible gates facilitates the flow of water when the gates are submerged.

In the bays containing submergible gates, the downstream surface of the dam sill is formed to closely match the skin plate contours, providing a recess into which the gates fit when lowered.

Dravo expects to complete the dam late next summer or early next fall. The finished structure will extend 1,315 feet from the new locks, already in use, to an abutment on the West Virginia shore.

THE LOCKS AND DAM, which will have a total lift of 22 feet, will replace 3 existing low-lift locks and dams — No. 7 at Midland, No. 8 at Newell and No. 9 at New Cumberland.

Dam 8 has already been deactivated and will be demolished shortly, while Dam 7 will go out of service in May. Dam 9 then will be removed.

The level above the new dam will be raised 15 feet and, with removal of Dam 9, the downstream pool level will be lowered 7 feet.

Construction of the new locks and dam at Stratton is part of the Corps of Engineers long-range program for modernizing and streamlining navigation on the Ohio River. When the program is completed, river traffic will operate through 21 dams and locks of this type.

In addition to its work on the Stratton Dam, Dravo currently is building the Pike Island high-lift locks near Yorkville.

OFBF Asks New Fairgrounds, Study Of State Tax Structure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation has called for the building of a new state fairgrounds and a study of Ohio's tax structure with the idea of possibly imposing a state income tax.

Those recommendations were incorporated among more than 200 resolutions which the farm group adopted Friday at the conclusion of its three-day annual convention.

Delegates heard reports that farmers now are taxed on acreage and that a state income tax would be more equitable.

In a resolution reaffirming its strong support of the Ohio State Fair, the federation recommended constructing a modern fairgrounds adjacent to the present site and year-round use of it.

Delegates voiced disapproval of proposed compulsory auto insurance in Ohio, but they applauded the establishment of marketing associations by the state and the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Ferris Owen of Newark was re-elected Ohio Federation president and Wendell Weller of Urbana was re-elected vice president. Lewis J. Hay of Lockbourne was named treasurer succeeding Ronald Keller of Elyria.

Among winners in the federation's "Talent Find and Talk meet" contests for youngsters were:

Talent Find, senior division—"Buffalo Bills," a quintet composed of Garry Northup, Bill Webb, Sam Mathews and Eddie Roark, all of Gallipolis, and Bill Large, Bidwell. The group will compete in the national competition at the American Farm Bureau at the American Farm Bureau Federation meeting in Denver next month.

Talk Meet, junior division—Joanne of Rt. 1, Philo.

2,000 March Veterans Day

More than 2,000 marched in the Veterans Day parade Friday at Beaver and Midland units were among the 92 participating.

The parade was the highlight of a week of events sponsored by the American Legion in the Beaver County observance of the holiday.

Midland Post 481 was represented by its color guard and members. Midland Barracks 2119 of World War I veterans marched along with the Midland High School band and area Boy Scouts.

The parade took an hour and a half to pass the reviewing stand.

Winners of cash prizes will be announced next week. Some 1,400 band members were given hot lunches at Beaver churches.

A dinner for gold star mothers was held at the First Presbyterian Church after the parade.

Double-Killer's Death Date Set For Jan. 30

BEAVER — Arthur G. Schuck, who killed two Beaver County men in a "mistaken identity" case in 1958, will go to his death Jan. 30. The execution date was set by Gov. David Lawrence at Harrisburg Friday.

Vincent J. Quigley and William E. Engel were shot to death April 27, 1958, as they sat in Engel's car near Economy with Engel's fiancee, Angeline Pugliano. She was wounded.

The state said Schuck, a 44-year-old Baden electrician, meant to kill Edward and Rose Ragozine, whose car resembled Engel's. Mrs. Ragozine testified she had had an affair with Schuck, that she had tried to break it up, and that he had threatened her and her husband many times.

Beaver County Court and the State Supreme Court rejected his appeals.

Cigarettes Blamed In 2 Fire Calls Friday Night

Cigarettes were blamed for two fire alarms answered by city firemen Friday night.

Firemen were called to the home of Kenneth Wheeler, 606 Jefferson St., at 7:39 p. m. when trousers in a clothes hamper caught fire from a burning cigarette.

The department was called to E. Drury Ln. at 10:31 p. m. when a discarded cigarette set fire to a couch sitting in the alley, firemen said.

The first college in the United States to offer the laboratory method of teaching chemistry as a part of its regular curriculum was Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. That was in the 1830s.

Salineville Group Stages Card Party

Seven tables were in play at a card party sponsored by the auxiliary of VFW Post 1580 Thursday night in the post home at Salineville.

Awards were presented to Mrs. Heydrick Growall and Matthew Russell.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Kate Weaver and her committee.

The next party is Dec. 1. Proceeds will go to hall repairs.

The Hilltoppers Club held a dinner party Thursday night at the Hammond House.

Following brief business, games were enjoyed and prizes went to Mrs. Olive Bridge and Mrs. Mae Ferguson.

Mrs. Olive Bridge of Wood St. will be hostess Dec. 14.

County And City Heads To Discuss CD Activity

LISBON — County commissioners will meet with the county Mayors' Association Monday at 1 p.m. in the Courthouse to discuss Civil Defense activity.

The commissioners had been asked to set up such a meeting for some time in efforts to form a countywide CD organization.

Asked to attend were Col. Leo McCarthy of Youngstown, area CD director; Prosecuting Atty. C. William Brokaw, William Wark of Salem, county CD director; township trustees and mayors of cities and villages.

Only One Thing Can Change Ohio

There's an interesting and harmless little speculation afoot about Ohio's partisan make-up in the wake of the 1960 election that showed voters in this state bucking the trend in other industrial states.

What held Ohio safe for Richard Nixon while voters in states like Pennsylvania and Michigan were being swung into the Kennedy column?

Was it the competent management of the Republican state chairman Ray C. Bliss, who again is being talked about as a likely candidate for chairman of the Republican national committee?

Was it the spadework and the tireless efforts of the men and women who rang telephones and doorbells in behalf of the Nixon-Lodge ticket, either as Republican organization workers or as "volunteers"?

Was it the stabilizing force built into a state whose children grow up believing there is something special about Ohio no other state can match — a tradition of self-reliance that makes Ohioans immune to the political hypochondria that makes people think they are sick, sick, sick and one swig of Political Panacea will make them well, well, well?

It's a little of these things and many more besides.

IF IT HAD to be summed up it could be said that Ohio is normally disposed to line up with moderation in politics.

It is not, however, disposed to line up blindly with Republicans as many of the Democrats' strongholds line up behind the Democrats. There is nothing "solid" about Ohio Republicanism, as there is about Democracy in the Solid South.

Ohio drifted into the Truman camp by a narrow margin in 1948. It drifted to Wilson in his first election, thanks to the splitting of the Republican vote between Roosevelt and Taft. In Wilson's second race, it went with him again, and it went with Franklin D. Roosevelt the first three times, deserting him finally in 1944.

Ohioans are inclined toward independence, almost to the point of fickleness. A Democratic governor like Mike DiSalle cannot deliver the state any more than a Republican governor like C. William O'Neill. The same state that substituted DiSalle for O'Neill can turn around and put O'Neill on the Supreme Court against AFL-CIO opposition while putting DiSalle behind the 8-ball by looping off the Democratic majority in the legislature and also depriving him of the satisfaction of delivering his state to John Kennedy. Democratic presidential nominee.

IT ALL ADDS up to an interesting and harmless speculation about Ohio's partisan makeup.

The speculation is this:

That if Ohio Republicans could always match the effort put forth by Democrats and their union labor allies, they would never lose.

They have lost only when Democrats had something special going for them like the Roosevelt spend-and-elect formula, special union pressure and the Cuyahoga County steamroller.

Whenever Republicans come close to matching the efforts of the opposition, as they did this year, they win Ohio. It's that simple. They lose only by default.

Unemployment Is Not A Statistic

One of the most forward-moving and forward-looking measures a new national administration could undertake would be to firm up the validity of the Labor Department's unemployment statisgics.

Unemployment is not a statistic.

It is a condition, usually a tragic condition.

In present circumstances, it is an acute social problem, because no one doubts any more that chronic unemployment running through an era of high production and high consumption is something different from anything experienced before in this country.

This kind of unemployment is a side effect of the kind of industrialism that has developed in the United States. It is a side effect of the massive strength of unionism, which has had the power to make overhead rise so fast that employers substitute machine-power for manpower to keep their costs down.

Every automatic elevator, every automatic machine is a net reduction of employment in a specific field of endeavor. It does no good to tell the displaced worker that he will find a job making automatic elecators and machines. That is the way it always has worked out in the long pull, but workers are interested chiefly in the short pull.

They cannot eat statistics. They aren't interested in averages, trends, medians and norms. They need to know, as employers need to know, where they stand as of today.

Statistics that do not reveal actual facts about employment and unemployment can do as much harm as good. There needs to be an intensive step-up of concrete knowledge, with a corresponding reduction of guesswork and projection.

Unemployment was a major element in the election. It is scheduled to be the first order of business when Congress convenes in January. It is the major concern of every thoughtful person. The cruelest thing anyone can do is to diminish by word or deed the confidence on which all jobs are based from which all wealth is derived. Here is a challenge to be answered.

An excellent place to start would be to improve the system by which the problem is revealed. The Labor Department needs exact knowledge so Congress can search for exact solutions to clearly defined problems of unemployment.

Not Such A Wild Idea

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana may end up as the head Democrat in Congress, succeeding Lyndon B. Johnson as Senate leader. This puts muscle into what otherwise would be an offhand comment that President-elect Kennedy might do well to use Richard Nixon's "great abilities" in his administration.

Sen. Mansfield has in mind something in connection with foreign policy and national defense, two areas of knowledge in which Vice President Nixon has had special experience and access to unusual amounts of information. It is the kind of thoughtful comment that might be expected of the pipe-smoking Mansfield, one of the Senate's "quiet men."

It will not be well received by partisans who dislike Nixon, of course. Some of the country's better known newspaper columnists who shill for the Democratic Party will fly into typographical rages over it. Bitter-enders in the Democratic ranks would fall on their swords before they would admit that Richard Nixon knows anything about anything.

But Sen. Mansfield is looking at the whole picture. Here is the only vice president who ever was given the privilege of training himself to take over the presidency. Here is one of the "bright young men" that idealists always are wishing would make a career of politics, to keep not-so-bright old men from holding a monopoly of public power.

Whether or not Nixon would want to work with the Kennedy administration is problematic. The fact is, though, that if it survived the slam-banging of the campaign there has been a friendship between him and the President-elect. They started their congressional careers together in the 80th Congress. They have respected each other.

It is barely possible that Sen. Mansfield, slated to be one of the party leaders, has sent aloft a Democratic balloon to test the Republican temperature before launching a proposal that would be without any precedent in American politics.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Jack Kennedy will be the next president. He struck the voters as a Paul Revere getting signals by neon lights and riding through the night with the cry of, "Your prestige is falling!"

He may prove the most vigorous president in years but he will set back golf at least four years. Victory was forecast. Two weeks before election he was ahead by 100,000 tons of ticker tape.

He may bring back fireside chats with Fala to the White House. Democratic nominee impressed people as combination Sir Lancelot, Peter Pan and Jim Corbett in the days when a boy bank clerk knocked out John L. Sullivan. They are even calling him Franklin D. Kennedy.

The voters were for new frontiers with Cape Cod, Palm Beach and Riviera entrances.

It was a victory for youth, hair, photogenic personalities and those who can take golf or leave it alone. Many voters were surprised. They thought Pat Boone would get it.

Sen. Kennedy was the most promising candidate in years. There was hardly anything he didn't promise.

He will have to be a combination magician, financial genius, work-horse and boy wonder at solving difficult problems.

He could use Houdini in his Cabinet. His election proved once again that riches are no handicap.

Voters have decided that if you are a wealthy member of a millionaire family you have suffered enough under tax system without getting kicked around at the polls.

THE FEMALE VOTE was a big help. Few women can take a look at a handsome, athletic millionaire and worry over foreign policy.

Jack came all-out for new frontiers. Millions of Americans said, "Okay, boy, you open the frontiers and as soon as you set up the luxury hotels, recreation programs, sun decks and six-lane highways, we will join you."

His slogan was "America must go forward" and this won the support of all people blocked by signs reading, "Dead-End Street," "Stop on Caution Light," "Road Closed for Repairs" and "This Door Not Working."

The new President is a terrific personality. Despite all his gusto in the campaign you ain't seen nuthin' yet.

Democrats made issue of "waning prestige." Nowadays "it ain't gonna WANE no more."

We think there were thousands who kept tuned in on all the debates and voted for Lincoln and Douglas.

George Leigh Mallory, the famous English mountaineer of the early part of this century, when asked, "Why do you want to climb Everest?" uttered the famous words, "Because it is there." After his great successes in the Alps, Mallory was in three expeditions to Mount Everest, and on the last in 1924, he may have reached the top. He was seen near it, when a blizzard struck, and he never returned.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

"Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven."

After the Rose Bowl victory this year, the Washington champions went to their dressing room and said the Lord's Prayer. "This has been routine with us the past few years," Coach Jim Owens told me. "The prayer is said before every ball game and takes place in the locker room with just the players and coaches present."

There have been many instances of faith in football: The "Praying Colonels" of Centre College, Kentucky, earned their name after kneeling in prayer on the field, and coming back to win against West Virginia in 1919. Great names such as Alonzo Stagg, Otto Graham, Doak Walker, have testified to the strengthening factor of faith. Professional teams, such as the Cleveland Browns, have prayed before games. Fans pray before games in the Southwestern Conference. Prayers are rarely for victory; they are often for no injuries and for each man to play his best.

Hoffa Faces Loss Of Title

By Victor Riesel

For the rest of the country the long count is over. But in Jimmy Hoffa's corner, they're worrying. He may lose his title by a technical knockout—which could drive him from the labor movement for five full years.

Victor Riesel

It all started when scalpel sharp agents of the Labor Department's naw investigating bureau became fascinated by the dwindling gold reserve of Hoffa's New York Taxicab Local 826.

Like many of Jimmy's peers — such as John Lewis and Mike Quill — the teamsters chief has always been interested in unionizing the big city's 40,000 hackies. This could become one of the nation's biggest local unions.

So Hoffa began dispatching some $5,000 checks up to New York with the assured regularity of detailed weather coverage on Election Day.

When the Labor Department's probers began counting this money, it didn't add up. Recently there were some Federal Grand Jury hearings in the Southern District of New York.

THE OTHER DAY, Mr. A. Vainstein, former secretary-treasurer of Local 826, was indicted on sufficient embezzlement counts to get him jail terms of 75 years and fines totaling $150,000.

The specific charge was theft of $6,000 in violation of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act — a very tough law, indeed.

During the past six months or so the federals have also been checking the local's reports filed under this Landrum-Griffin law.

The local, it was learned, was one of those held in trusteeship by the teamsters national office.

This means that its officers are, in effect, appointed by the Washington Taj Mahal just as a bank holding some property in trusteeship names the executors.

The taxi local has been in trusteeship longer than Hoffa has been provisional president. It was Dave Beck who appointed the taxi trustee — a crusading teamster, Tom Hickey, then vice president.

Some time after Hoffa took over the national union Hickey found he was no longer a trustee.

When the union obeyed the new Landrum-Griffin law and filed with the Labor Department a form stating that the taxi drivers local was in trusteeship, the document named Tom Hickey as trustee. Hoffa signed the paper.

BUT SOME TIME AGO Tom Hickey sent a letter to the Labor Department's Reporting and Disclosure Division saying that he could not supply the taxi local's financial details because he was no longer in possession of the union's books.

They had been turned over to the new trustee, Johnny O'Rourke, a Hoffa supporter who also replaced Hickey as the New York regional vice president.

That's the way it has been for many months. The record does not show any revision of the Local 826 trusteeship papers.

The Labor Department is eager to know why there has been no new filing. And the Justice Department is considering action.

Failure to revise such reports is a violation of several sections of the new law. Punishment is of various kinds.

For Jimmy H. the toughest retribution would be in the following paragraph, which literally provides banishment from labor:

IN SECTION 504A, it says that no person who has violated Title 2 or 3 ". . . shall serve as an officer, director, trustee, member of any executive board or similar governing body, business agent, manager, organizer, or other employe . . . of any labor organization . . . or as labor relations consultant . . . or as an officer, director, agent or employe . . . of any group or association of employers dealing with any labor organization . . . for five years . . ."

This would be the toughest punishment of all. For whatever else one says of Jimmy Hoffa, there is no gainsaying that the knockdown, hurly burly of the labor movement is to this defiant one what bread and wine are to more moderate men.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I sat up all Tuesday night watching the greatest show on earth on our gawk-box. Then we sat up half of Wednesday to see how it turned out. It was the late, late, late movie to end them all.

Part of the time we had company. The rest of the time we were by ourselves. All the time we talked, talked, talked — about the pitchmen selling merchandise, the glibbies who filled up the intervals of nothingness with chatter, the mystery machines that wirred, sputtered and produced nothing but gas. But mostly we talked about the two-party system.

That was our best subject — the two-party system. We believe in it. We suspect sometimes we are a minority. Among our friends, we can think of no one else who says he believes in the two-party system. They talk as if they really believed in a one-party system. They don't admit there can be honest differences of opinion in politics.

This is a complex matter. Politics is only the half of it. These people don't believe there can be differences of opinion about anything. There is only one opinion that deserves to be considered — theirs. The other side is always wrong. Furthermore, it's malicious. And ill-informed.

Or so they say.

I think they say it with their tongue in cheek. They're thankful there's another point of view. Secretly, they admire it and the people who hold it. But they are ashamed to admit this and afraid to talk about it, because it might make them lose face.

Sometimes an odd thing happens to them, though. They reach a point in age and circumstances when they can afford to be candid with themselves. They confess they wanted to do this long before but put it off.

They continue to fight as hard as ever for their ideas, but they regard the fighting as a game, instead of a war. They scout their opponents to learn how they do things. They map strategy and devise tactics. They go at the whole thing as if they were professional ballplayers.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The first annual Men's Day observance was held in the First Baptist Church at Midland.

A special train of 10 passenger coaches and a refreshment car brought 600 football fans from Martins Ferry to East Liverpool for the annual game.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was reported that 84 persons were placed in jobs during October through the East Liverpool Employment Security Center on Market St.

About $280 was realized from a benefit card party staged by the East Liverpool Junior Women's Club toward a scholarship fund presented each year to a high school student.

East Liverpool Greek-Americans contributed $300 to the Greek Red Cross for war refugees.

TEN YEARS AGO — Prompt action by fireman averted a major fire in the elevator shaft of the Odd Fellows Building on W. 6th St.

Mrs. Edna Jones, school nurse reported a total of 206 physical defects were found in 369 children in the first and fourth grades during examinations held in October.

Richard Rose of the Lisbon-Wellsville Rd. was appointed probation officer of Columbiana County, succeeding Robert A. Barton of Salem.

Fulbright's Role

By Jay G. Hayden

He's Mentioned As Secretary Of State

A top adviser of President-elect Kennedy, asked after the vote was in whether it will be Adlai Stevenson or Chester Bowles who will be our next secretary of state, said very firmly, "Neither one of them."

Who then? The answer was: "If I was betting it would be for Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas."

The prophesy at this stage is precarious but a canvas of the possibilities in light of the current election definitely favors Fulbright.

First and foremost, Sen. Kennedy's suggestion that, if elected, he might move to eliminate the long-time southern domination of the Democratic majority in Congress, clearly is out.

Based on returns for both the Senate and House, the South more than ever is in the saddle.

Certainly Sen. Kennedy cannot hope to achieve a majority in either legislative branch without a large share of Dixiecrat congressional members on his side.

This means that he somehow must make a major effort to win southern Democrats back into the regular fold.

Far from predicting that Kennedy would allocate management of the whole range of foreign relations as a device for promoting intra-Democratic unity, benefits from such a move are self-evident.

CONSTANT EMPHASIS during the campaign on the idea that the choice for a Democratic secretary of state lay between Stevenson and Bowles long since has been twigged as an embarrassment to Kennedy, on the ground that he was increasingly disenchanted with both of them.

Bowles almost certainly is debarred by the all but universal prediction that another Connecticut citizen, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, is as good as "in" for attorney-general.

Himself from Massachusetts, Sen. Kennedy scarcely would include two men from next-door-neighbor Connecticut among the four top jobs in his Cabinet.

In importance, the four rank as follows: secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of defense and attorney general.

As to Stevenson, there are various reasons why he will not be chosen, one of the least of them that selection of him would constitute a gross rebuff to Bowles, who abandoned his attempt for re-election to Congress to act as Kennedy's chief foreign policy adviser.

There are other grounds for conjecture that Stevenson's stock in the Kennedy appointment market has sunk.

Arriving back from a foreign tour last April, Stevenson was met in New York by Sen. Kennedy with a plea for support.

Kennedy asked especially that Stevenson (1) disclaim any part in a collective stop - Kennedy movement, and, (2) that he denounce injection of religion as a campaign issue.

Stevenson obliged both ways, thereby leading observers to believe that he was drifting toward the Kennedy camp. But thereafter Stevenson diverted more and more, climaxing his activities by his projection as a symbol of the "egghead" opposition to Kennedy very much in evidence at the nominating convention in Los Angeles.

SINCE THEN Stevenson has given vigorous lip-service to the Kennedy cause but, as most Democratic politicians profess, without changing a single vote.

The crowning incident was an overwhelming swing of Stevenson's down-state Illinois into the Nixon column.

In contrast, Sen. Fulbright has gone to bat for Kennedy again and again over the past few months, at great danger to his own political future.

Just as Kennedy was under hot attack for saying President Eisenhower might well have apologized to Nikita Khrushchev for the smashup at Paris, Fulbright's committee issued a politically divided report, critical of administration handling of the U2 spy-plane incident.

The committee majority condemned permission for the flight right on the eve of the Paris meeting and condemned President Eisenhower for the statement that he, personally, had given advance approval to the venture.

More important, perhaps, Sen. Fulbright had been heart and center of the late-campaign claims by Sen. Kennedy that Eisenhower's own U.S. Information Service "suppresed" polls among foreign peoples, indicating that U.S. "prestige" is on the decline.

Only Sen. Fulbright, among the Democrats, was in a position to disclose such findings in defiance of an Eisenhower order for secrecy.

Middle East Pro-U.S.

By Charles Arnet

CAIRO

The pastor of President Eisenhower's church in Washington, D. C., has found that Russian Communists are "not very popular" across much of the Middle East.

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, minister of the capital's National Presbyterian Church, also reported after touring seven Middle Eastern nations that he found "greater understanding of the United States and our position in the world."

"We found the Russian Communists not very popular in most places we have visited in this area. They are herded from place to place under careful supervision and are permitted only limited contact with the local population. Generally they associate only with their own people.

"In Iraq especially it was reported to us that the Russians who have arrived there as technicians are exceedingly unpopular among the local people because of their conduct.

"WE LEARNED they had been buying large amounts of second-hand American clothing in a local market for the poor. In other places, when a Russian ballet arrives they merely put on their show and then go back to their hotels without mingling with the local people."

As for the American side, Dr. Elson reported:

"In contrast to the controlled lives of the Russians, Americans coming to this area have full freedom to associate with the local population on a people - to - people basis. As an example, 650 Egyptians came to a party given recently in Cairo for 17 visiting Americans."

As chairman of the National Council of the American Friends of the Middle East, a private non-profit organization, Dr. Elson has visited in Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Egypt. Also on his itinerary, before returning to Washington, are Libya, Tunisia, Morocco, the Republic of Senegal and Liberia.

Dr. and Mrs. Elson have been accompanied on their Middle Eastern tour by Washington attorney Edward C. Sweeney and Mrs. Sweeney. Mr. Sweeney also is associated with the American Friends of the Middle East.

Since his last trip to this area three years ago, Dr. Elson said he had found "improved relations" between Americans and peoples of the Middle East.

"There remain today among the peoples of the Middle East tremendous sources of friendship and good will for America," he said. "This has survived the upheavals of politics and the changing local regimes. It is on a people-to-people basis."

DR. ELSON said he found that much of the good will was a "carry-over" from the past when American teachers and missionaries came to the Middle East and labored under difficult conditions.

"This has not been forgotten," he added. "These were the difficult days long before the Middle East became a strategic center and an oil-producing area."

What can Americans do to improve their relationships with peoples of this area?

"Programs of student and cultural exchange such as those sponsored by the American Friends of the Middle East should be encouraged," he said.

"These privately sponsored programs supplement the work our government is doing in this field. I feel that exporting our great fund of friendship and good will to this area is one of the most important things we can do."

Dr. Elson reported he found that President Eisenhower still has "enormous prestige" across this area, even though he is leaving the White House in January. He added:

"There are expressed hope in many places that President Eisenhower will — when he retires from office — visit those areas he has not yet visited."

Dr. Elson began his trip abroad by attending the 400th anniversary of the Reformation of Scotland in Edinburgh in October. He carried a personal message from President Eisenhower to the church of Scotland.

Odd Facts

There are more health insuring organizations operating in Texas than any other state. These include 379 insurance companies, two Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Medical Society plans, and 14 other insuring plans.

The Abominable Snowman of the Himalayas was first reported by Col. Howard Bury in 1921. Bury, leader of a Mount Everest reconnaissance party, said he came across a track that "looked like a human foot."

American railroads derive 15 per cent of their total freight revenue from coal traffic.

Unemployment was a major element in the election. It is scheduled to be the first order of business when Congress convenes in January. It is the major concern of every thoughtful person. The cruelest thing anyone can do is to diminish by word or deed the confidence on which all jobs are based from which all wealth is derived. Here is a challenge to be answered.

An excellent place to start would be to improve the system by which the problem is revealed. The Labor Department needs exact knowledge so Congress can search for exact solutions to clearly defined problems of unemployment.

Not Such A Wild Idea

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana may end up as the head Democrat in Congress, succeeding Lyndon B. Johnson as Senate leader. This puts muscle into what otherwise would be an offhand comment that President-elect Kennedy might do well to use Richard Nixon's "great abilities" in his administration.

Sen. Mansfield has in mind something in connection with foreign policy and national defense, two areas of knowledge in which Vice President Nixon has had special experience and access to unusual amounts of information. It is the kind of thoughtful comment that might be expected of the pipe-smoking Mansfield, one of the Senate's "quiet men."

It will not be well received by partisans who dislike Nixon, of course. Some of the country's better known newspaper columnists who shill for the Democratic Party will fly into typographical rages over it. Bitter-enders in the Democratic ranks would fall on their swords before they would admit that Richard Nixon knows anything about anything.

But Sen. Mansfield is looking at the whole picture. Here is the only vice president who ever was given the privilege of training himself to take over the presidency. Here is one of the "bright young men" that idealists always are wishing would make a career of politics, to keep not-so-bright old men from holding a monopoly of public power.

Whether or not Nixon would want to work with the Kennedy administration is problematic. The fact is, though, that if it survived the slam-banging of the campaign there has been a friendship between him and the President-elect. They started their congressional careers together in the 80th Congress. They have respected each other.

It is barely possible that Sen. Mansfield, slated to be one of the party leaders, has sent aloft a Democratic balloon to test the Republican temperature before launching a proposal that would be without any precedent in American politics.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Jack Kennedy will be the next president. He struck the voters as a Paul Revere getting signals by neon lights and riding through the night with the cry of, "Your prestige is falling!"

He may prove the most vigorous president in years but he will set back golf at least four years. Victory was forecast. Two weeks before election he was ahead by 100,000 tons of ticker tape.

He may bring back fireside chats with Fala to the White House. Democratic nominee impressed people as combination Sir Lancelot, Peter Pan and Jim Corbett in the days when a boy bank clerk knocked out John L. Sullivan. They are even calling him Franklin D. Kennedy.

The voters were for new frontiers with Cape Cod, Palm Beach and Riviera entrances.

It was a victory for youth, hair, photogenic personalities and those who can take golf or leave it alone. Many voters were surprised. They thought Pat Boone would get it.

Sen. Kennedy was the most promising candidate in years. There was hardly anything he didn't promise.

He will have to be a combination magician, financial genius, work-horse and boy wonder at solving difficult problems.

He could use Houdini in his Cabinet. His election proved once again that riches are no handicap.

Voters have decided that if you are a wealthy member of a millionaire family you have suffered enough under tax system without getting kicked around at the polls.

THE FEMALE VOTE was a big help. Few women can take a look at a handsome, athletic millionaire and worry over foreign policy.

Jack came all-out for new frontiers. Millions of Americans said, "Okay, boy, you open the frontiers and as soon as you set up the luxury hotels, recreation programs, sun decks and six-lane highways, we will join you."

His slogan was "America must go forward" and this won the support of all people blocked by signs reading, "Dead-End Street," "Stop on Caution Light," "Road Closed for Repairs" and "This Door Not Working."

The new President is a terrific personality. Despite all his gusto in the campaign you ain't seen nuthin' yet.

Democrats made issue of "waning prestige." Nowadays "it ain't gonna WANE no more."

We think there were thousands who kept tuned in on all the debates and voted for Lincoln and Douglas.

George Leigh Mallory, the famous English mountaineer of the early part of this century, when asked, "Why do you want to climb Everest?" uttered the famous words, "Because it is there." After his great successes in the Alps, Mallory was in three expeditions to Mount Everest, and on the last in 1924, he may have reached the top. He was seen near it, when a blizzard struck, and he never returned.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

"Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven."

After the Rose Bowl victory this year, the Washington champions went to their dressing room and said the Lord's Prayer. "This has been routine with us the past few years," Coach Jim Owens told me. "The prayer is said before every ball game and takes place in the locker room with just the players and coaches present."

There have been many instances of faith in football: The "Praying Colonels" of Centre College, Kentucky, earned their name after kneeling in prayer on the field, and coming back to win against West Virginia in 1919. Great names such as Alonzo Stagg, Otto Graham, Doak Walker, have testified to the strengthening factor of faith. Professional teams, such as the Cleveland Browns, have prayed before games. Fans pray before games in the Southwestern Conference. Prayers are rarely for victory; they are often for no injuries and for each man to play his best.

Hoffa Faces Loss Of Title

By Victor Riesel

For the rest of the country the long count is over. But in Jimmy Hoffa's corner, they're worrying. He may lose his title by a technical knockout—which could drive him from the labor movement for five full years.

Victor Riesel

It all started when scalpel sharp agents of the Labor Department's naw investigating bureau became fascinated by the dwindling gold reserve of Hoffa's New York Taxicab Local 826.

Like many of Jimmy's peers — such as John Lewis and Mike Quill — the teamsters chief has always been interested in unionizing the big city's 40,000 hackies. This could become one of the nation's biggest local unions.

So Hoffa began dispatching some $5,000 checks up to New York with the assured regularity of detailed weather coverage on Election Day.

When the Labor Department's probers began counting this money, it didn't add up. Recently there were some Federal Grand Jury hearings in the Southern District of New York.

THE OTHER DAY, Mr. A. Vainstein, former secretary-treasurer of Local 826, was indicted on sufficient embezzlement counts to get him jail terms of 75 years and fines totaling $150,000.

The specific charge was theft of $6,000 in violation of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act — a very tough law, indeed.

During the past six months or so the federals have also been checking the local's reports filed under this Landrum-Griffin law.

The local, it was learned, was one of those held in trusteeship by the teamsters national office.

This means that its officers are, in effect, appointed by the Washington Taj Mahal just as a bank holding some property in trusteeship names the executors.

The taxi local has been in trusteeship longer than Hoffa has been provisional president. It was Dave Beck who appointed the taxi trustee — a crusading teamster, Tom Hickey, then vice president.

Some time after Hoffa took over the national union Hickey found he was no longer a trustee.

When the union obeyed the new Landrum-Griffin law and filed with the Labor Department a form stating that the taxi drivers local was in trusteeship, the document named Tom Hickey as trustee. Hoffa signed the paper.

BUT SOME TIME AGO Tom Hickey sent a letter to the Labor Department's Reporting and Disclosure Division saying that he could not supply the taxi local's financial details because he was no longer in possession of the union's books.

They had been turned over to the new trustee, Johnny O'Rourke, a Hoffa supporter who also replaced Hickey as the New York regional vice president.

That's the way it has been for many months. The record does not show any revision of the Local 826 trusteeship papers.

The Labor Department is eager to know why there has been no new filing. And the Justice Department is considering action.

Failure to revise such reports is a violation of several sections of the new law. Punishment is of various kinds.

For Jimmy H. the toughest retribution would be in the following paragraph, which literally provides banishment from labor:

IN SECTION 504A, it says that no person who has violated Title 2 or 3 ". . . shall serve as an officer, director, trustee, member of any executive board or similar governing body, business agent, manager, organizer, or other employe . . . of any labor organization . . . or as labor relations consultant . . . or as an officer, director, agent or employe . . . of any group or association of employers dealing with any labor organization . . . for five years . . ."

This would be the toughest punishment of all. For whatever else one says of Jimmy Hoffa, there is no gainsaying that the knockdown, hurly burly of the labor movement is to this defiant one what bread and wine are to more moderate men.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I sat up all Tuesday night watching the greatest show on earth on our gawk-box. Then we sat up half of Wednesday to see how it turned out. It was the late, late, late movie to end them all.

Part of the time we had company. The rest of the time we were by ourselves. All the time we talked, talked, talked — about the pitchmen selling merchandise, the glibbies who filled up the intervals of nothingness with chatter, the mystery machines that wirred, sputtered and produced nothing but gas. But mostly we talked about the two-party system.

That was our best subject — the two-party system. We believe in it. We suspect sometimes we are a minority. Among our friends, we can think of no one else who says he believes in the two-party system. They talk as if they really believed in a one-party system. They don't admit there can be honest differences of opinion in politics.

This is a complex matter. Politics is only the half of it. These people don't believe there can be differences of opinion about anything. There is only one opinion that deserves to be considered — theirs. The other side is always wrong. Furthermore, it's malicious. And ill-informed.

Or so they say.

I think they say it with their tongue in cheek. They're thankful there's another point of view. Secretly, they admire it and the people who hold it. But they are ashamed to admit this and afraid to talk about it, because it might make them lose face.

Sometimes an odd thing happens to them, though. They reach a point in age and circumstances when they can afford to be candid with themselves. They confess they wanted to do this long before but put it off.

They continue to fight as hard as ever for their ideas, but they regard the fighting as a game, instead of a war. They scout their opponents to learn how they do things. They map strategy and devise tactics. They go at the whole thing as if they were professional ballplayers.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The first annual Men's Day observance was held in the First Baptist Church at Midland.

A special train of 10 passenger coaches and a refreshment car brought 600 football fans from Martins Ferry to East Liverpool for the annual game.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was reported that 84 persons were placed in jobs during October through the East Liverpool Employment Security Center on Market St.

About $280 was realized from a benefit card party staged by the East Liverpool Junior Women's Club toward a scholarship fund presented each year to a high school student.

East Liverpool Greek-Americans contributed $300 to the Greek Red Cross for war refugees.

TEN YEARS AGO — Prompt action by fireman averted a major fire in the elevator shaft of the Odd Fellows Building on W. 6th St.

Mrs. Edna Jones, school nurse reported a total of 206 physical defects were found in 369 children in the first and fourth grades during examinations held in October.

Richard Rose of the Lisbon-Wellsville Rd. was appointed probation officer of Columbiana County, succeeding Robert A. Barton of Salem.

Fulbright's Role

By Jay G. Hayden

He's Mentioned As Secretary Of State

A top adviser of President-elect Kennedy, asked after the vote was in whether it will be Adlai Stevenson or Chester Bowles who will be our next secretary of state, said very firmly, "Neither one of them."

Who then? The answer was: "If I was betting it would be for Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas."

The prophesy at this stage is precarious but a canvas of the possibilities in light of the current election definitely favors Fulbright.

First and foremost, Sen. Kennedy's suggestion that, if elected, he might move to eliminate the long-time southern domination of the Democratic majority in Congress, clearly is out.

Based on returns for both the Senate and House, the South more than ever is in the saddle.

Certainly Sen. Kennedy cannot hope to achieve a majority in either legislative branch without a large share of Dixiecrat congressional members on his side.

This means that he somehow must make a major effort to win southern Democrats back into the regular fold.

Far from predicting that Kennedy would allocate management of the whole range of foreign relations as a device for promoting intra-Democratic unity, benefits from such a move are self-evident.

CONSTANT EMPHASIS during the campaign on the idea that the choice for a Democratic secretary of state lay between Stevenson and Bowles long since has been twigged as an embarrassment to Kennedy, on the ground that he was increasingly disenchanted with both of them.

Bowles almost certainly is debarred by the all but universal prediction that another Connecticut citizen, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, is as good as "in" for attorney-general.

Himself from Massachusetts, Sen. Kennedy scarcely would include two men from next-door-neighbor Connecticut among the four top jobs in his Cabinet.

In importance, the four rank as follows: secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of defense and attorney general.

As to Stevenson, there are various reasons why he will not be chosen, one of the least of them that selection of him would constitute a gross rebuff to Bowles, who abandoned his attempt for re-election to Congress to act as Kennedy's chief foreign policy adviser.

There are other grounds for conjecture that Stevenson's stock in the Kennedy appointment market has sunk.

Arriving back from a foreign tour last April, Stevenson was met in New York by Sen. Kennedy with a plea for support.

Kennedy asked especially that Stevenson (1) disclaim any part in a collective stop - Kennedy movement, and, (2) that he denounce injection of religion as a campaign issue.

Stevenson obliged both ways, thereby leading observers to believe that he was drifting toward the Kennedy camp. But thereafter Stevenson diverted more and more, climaxing his activities by his projection as a symbol of the "egghead" opposition to Kennedy very much in evidence at the nominating convention in Los Angeles.

SINCE THEN Stevenson has given vigorous lip-service to the Kennedy cause but, as most Democratic politicians profess, without changing a single vote.

The crowning incident was an overwhelming swing of Stevenson's down-state Illinois into the Nixon column.

In contrast, Sen. Fulbright has gone to bat for Kennedy again and again over the past few months, at great danger to his own political future.

Just as Kennedy was under hot attack for saying President Eisenhower might well have apologized to Nikita Khrushchev for the smashup at Paris, Fulbright's committee issued a politically divided report, critical of administration handling of the U2 spy-plane incident.

The committee majority condemned permission for the flight right on the eve of the Paris meeting and condemned President Eisenhower for the statement that he, personally, had given advance approval to the venture.

More important, perhaps, Sen. Fulbright had been heart and center of the late-campaign claims by Sen. Kennedy that Eisenhower's own U.S. Information Service "suppresed" polls among foreign peoples, indicating that U.S. "prestige" is on the decline.

Only Sen. Fulbright, among the Democrats, was in a position to disclose such findings in defiance of an Eisenhower order for secrecy.

Middle East Pro-U.S.

By Charles Arnet

CAIRO

The pastor of President Eisenhower's church in Washington, D. C., has found that Russian Communists are "not very popular" across much of the Middle East.

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, minister of the capital's National Presbyterian Church, also reported after touring seven Middle Eastern nations that he found "greater understanding of the United States and our position in the world."

"We found the Russian Communists not very popular in most places we have visited in this area. They are herded from place to place under careful supervision and are permitted only limited contact with the local population. Generally they associate only with their own people.

"In Iraq especially it was reported to us that the Russians who have arrived there as technicians are exceedingly unpopular among the local people because of their conduct.

"WE LEARNED they had been buying large amounts of second-hand American clothing in a local market for the poor. In other places, when a Russian ballet arrives they merely put on their show and then go back to their hotels without mingling with the local people."

As for the American side, Dr. Elson reported:

"In contrast to the controlled lives of the Russians, Americans coming to this area have full freedom to associate with the local population on a people - to - people basis. As an example, 650 Egyptians came to a party given recently in Cairo for 17 visiting Americans."

As chairman of the National Council of the American Friends of the Middle East, a private non-profit organization, Dr. Elson has visited in Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Egypt. Also on his itinerary, before returning to Washington, are Libya, Tunisia, Morocco, the Republic of Senegal and Liberia.

Dr. and Mrs. Elson have been accompanied on their Middle Eastern tour by Washington attorney Edward C. Sweeney and Mrs. Sweeney. Mr. Sweeney also is associated with the American Friends of the Middle East.

Since his last trip to this area three years ago, Dr. Elson said he had found "improved relations" between Americans and peoples of the Middle East.

"There remain today among the peoples of the Middle East tremendous sources of friendship and good will for America," he said. "This has survived the upheavals of politics and the changing local regimes. It is on a people-to-people basis."

DR. ELSON said he found that much of the good will was a "carry-over" from the past when American teachers and missionaries came to the Middle East and labored under difficult conditions.

"This has not been forgotten," he added. "These were the difficult days long before the Middle East became a strategic center and an oil-producing area."

What can Americans do to improve their relationships with peoples of this area?

"Programs of student and cultural exchange such as those sponsored by the American Friends of the Middle East should be encouraged," he said.

"These privately sponsored programs supplement the work our government is doing in this field. I feel that exporting our great fund of friendship and good will to this area is one of the most important things we can do."

Dr. Elson reported he found that President Eisenhower still has "enormous prestige" across this area, even though he is leaving the White House in January. He added:

"There are expressed hope in many places that President Eisenhower will — when he retires from office — visit those areas he has not yet visited."

Dr. Elson began his trip abroad by attending the 400th anniversary of the Reformation of Scotland in Edinburgh in October. He carried a personal message from President Eisenhower to the church of Scotland.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Hostility Blocks Flow Of Spiritual Power

A thrilling thing has happened to a husband and wife who came to me last December for advice about a problem. The retail business enterprise from which they derive their livelihood had not been doing well. Disagreements and hard feelings had developed between the husband and his partner. They were deeply worried about how to handle this deteriorating situation. I have just received from the husband a letter beginning, "This is a progress report." He reminds me, "The sharing of our problem with you started last year with an interview that took place that snowy day just before Christmas. We left you feeling that we had the world by the tail. We were full of enthusiasm and full of hope that we would master our difficulty."

WELL, APPARENTLY, they had not really found the right approach, for the "report" continues: "But things didn't seem actually to change much as the months rolled by. We felt we were praying right as you had instructed us, and we felt we were keeping our thinking straight. But things in the business just seemed to be going from bad to worse.

"You had remarked that I might have to have another serious talk with Jim, but things just didn't seem to shape up for such a talk."

And now is described a religious experience, of the kind that improves a difficult situation by changing the emotional attitude a person brings to it:

"Then something happened! A new group of your sermons arrived in the mail. That evening my wife selected one that looked particularly interesting and read it aloud to me. It was titled Prayer Gives You Right Answers.

"Do you remember how in this sermon you said you had felt impelled to pray that Sunday morning even more earnestly than you ordinarily do and you had wondered if perhaps there was someone in some special crisis or urgent need? Well, I don't know how many there were in your congregation that morning who were in some crisis, but I do know that out here among those you reach by mail your sermon hit home with my wife and me. You seemed to be talking directly to us.

"WE WENT up to our bedroom and prayed as is our custom. We pray aloud together every night before retiring, but that night I think we prayed as we had never prayed before. First a prayer of thanksgiving for our blessings. And then we asked God to cleanse us of all the remnants of hostility and resentment that we knew were still clinging to us, and if there was any hate to give us the strength and power to replace it with love—with a strong concern for Jim and his welfare.

"We prayed to God that He ease Jim's burden, which we knew was great—the burden causing him to do things and make decisions that were giving us so much worry.

"We felt renewed! And within 48 hours a crisis occurred which opened the way for the talk with Jim that you had suggested in our interview back before last Christmas. A talk that was frank and open. I talked to him with utmost candor, but calmly and with love and understanding.

"This occurred less than a week ago, and sufficient time has not passed to know the end result. I want to tell you, though, that out of complete discouragement I have emerged with a hopefulness surging through me that I feel no power on earth can deter."

And he concludes with his own explanation of why it was he and his wife had not been getting anywhere before this recent incident: "Though we thought we were on good speaking terms with God and prayed religiously to Him, we were insulated against His Power and Goodness by the insidious negatives of resentment, criticism and maybe a little unconscious covetousness as well."

I think the word "insulated" is very apt. It really tells the story. Hostility blocks the flow of spiritual power. It breaks the circuit, so to speak. The supreme conductor of spiritual power is the very opposite of hostility: love. "He prayeth best who loveth best," says the Ancient Mariner, in Coleridge's famous poem.

I believe one of the ways God most often helps us with our practical difficulties is by putting more love into our hearts: love of Him, of life and of our fellow men, and sometimes love in the form of good will toward persons we have inwardly been criticizing and resenting.

Event To Be In Steubenville

Moderator Plans Official Visit To Area Presbytery

Dr. Herman L. Turner of Atlanta, moderator of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States, will make an official visit to the Steubenville Presbytery Monday at the Steubenville First church.

Co-sponsors are the Presbytery and the host church.

Dr. Turner will speak at a special service at 7:30 p. m. and will be guest of honor at a reception to follow in the social rooms.

Other clergymen participating include Dr. E. Hoyt Kerr Jr. of Newark, moderator of the Synod of Ohio; the Rev. G. Robert Geyer of Mingo Junction, moderator of the Steubenville Presbytery; Dr. Harry R. Roach of Columbus, executive of the synod; the Rev. George W. Jenkins of Carrollton, General Presbyter of the Presbytery, and Dr. George U. Martin, host pastor and moderator of the local Session.

Dr. Turner has been pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian Church at Atlanta since 1930 and is nationally known as one of the principal authors of the "Atlantic Manifesto," dealing with the problem of integration.

He was elected moderator of the 172nd General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, meeting in Cleveland in May.

The Steubenville Presbytery is one of 10 in Ohio with a membership of 15,000, principally in Jefferson, Columbiana, Carroll and Harrison Counties.

Ministers, officers and members of the congregation of the Presbytery and of all churches of the community have been invited to hear Dr. Turner.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Hostility Blocks Flow Of Spiritual Power

A thrilling thing has happened to a husband and wife who came to me last December for advice about a problem. The retail business enterprise from which they derive their livelihood had not been doing well. Disagreements and hard feelings had developed between the husband and his partner. They were deeply worried about how to handle this deteriorating situation. I have just received from the husband a letter beginning, "This is a progress report." He reminds me, "The sharing of our problem with you started last year with an interview that took place that snowy day just before Christmas. We left you feeling that we had the world by the tail. We were full of enthusiasm and full of hope that we would master our difficulty."

WELL, APPARENTLY, they had not really found the right approach, for the "report" continues: "But things didn't seem actually to change much as the months rolled by. We felt we were praying right as you had instructed us, and we felt we were keeping our thinking straight. But things in the business just seemed to be going from bad to worse.

"You had remarked that I might have to have another serious talk with Jim, but things just didn't seem to shape up for such a talk."

And now is described a religious experience, of the kind that improves a difficult situation by changing the emotional attitude a person brings to it:

"Then something happened! A new group of your sermons arrived in the mail. That evening my wife selected one that looked particularly interesting and read it aloud to me. It was titled Prayer Gives You Right Answers.

"Do you remember how in this sermon you said you had felt impelled to pray that Sunday morning even more earnestly than you ordinarily do and you had wondered if perhaps there was someone in some special crisis or urgent need? Well, I don't know how many there were in your congregation that morning who were in some crisis, but I do know that out here among those you reach by mail your sermon hit home with my wife and me. You seemed to be talking directly to us.

"WE WENT up to our bedroom and prayed as is our custom. We pray aloud together every night before retiring, but that night I think we prayed as we had never prayed before. First a prayer of thanksgiving for our blessings. And then we asked God to cleanse us of all the remnants of hostility and resentment that we knew were still clinging to us, and if there was any hate to give us the strength and power to replace it with love—with a strong concern for Jim and his welfare.

"We prayed to God that He ease Jim's burden, which we knew was great—the burden causing him to do things and make decisions that were giving us so much worry.

"We felt renewed! And within 48 hours a crisis occurred which opened the way for the talk with Jim that you had suggested in our interview back before last Christmas. A talk that was frank and open. I talked to him with utmost candor, but calmly and with love and understanding.

"This occurred less than a week ago, and sufficient time has not passed to know the end result. I want to tell you, though, that out of complete discouragement I have emerged with a hopefulness surging through me that I feel no power on earth can deter."

And he concludes with his own explanation of why it was he and his wife had not been getting anywhere before this recent incident: "Though we thought we were on good speaking terms with God and prayed religiously to Him, we were insulated against His Power and Goodness by the insidious negatives of resentment, criticism and maybe a little unconscious covetousness as well."

I think the word "insulated" is very apt. It really tells the story. Hostility blocks the flow of spiritual power. It breaks the circuit, so to speak. The supreme conductor of spiritual power is the very opposite of hostility: love. "He prayeth best who loveth best," says the Ancient Mariner, in Coleridge's famous poem.

I believe one of the ways God most often helps us with our practical difficulties is by putting more love into our hearts: love of Him, of life and of our fellow men, and sometimes love in the form of good will toward persons we have inwardly been criticizing and resenting.

Cumberland

Trinity Methodist

"The Meaning of the Law of God" will be the topic of the Rev. James E. Bird at the 11 a.m. worship Sunday at the Trinity Methodist Church. The Senior Choir will sing an anthem.

Church School will meet at 10 with Mrs. Willard Swan superintendent and Mrs. Clifford Prosser assistant.

Church News Should Be In By Wednesday

Next Saturday's church section will contain the principal stories of Thanksgiving services planned in area churches and for that reason material must be presented earlier than usual next week.

Because of the large amount of material expected, it must be submitted to the Review office by 3 p. m. Wednesday to assure publication in the church section Nov. 19.

In case material is tardy, it will be necessary to condense it considerably because of the time and space limitation. Cooperation of pastors is requested in seeing that the church news is handed in on time.

We say, as somehow we hate to face one of life's most important decisions—the choice of a family Memorial. But how sensible to choose it NOW! Then this family matter will be a family decision. Everyone concerned can have his say. A Monument can be erected and the lot landscaped with unhurried care. And, financial burdens will never fall on survivors when they can least afford it. What a great relief for just a little forethought. Why not make your selection NOW, before the hand of winter touches the cemetery?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It's hard for grownups to grasp what it means to be a child today! We grew up yesterday. The planes and radios which had startled our parents were commonplace to us. Television and jets we could take in stride. But Space! Who among us expected to live in a Buck Rogers era?

Yet to our youngsters nothing seems more natural than man's invasion of the universe. Everything that went before was preparation. We are ready to blast off. And the man who will establish our first colony on Mars is probably training for his mission in a sixth grade classroom . . .

Was there ever a time when religious, moral and spiritual development were more essential to our youth? The Truth man will cherish on Earth, and carry with him among the stars, is being taught every Sunday in our churches. Is your child . . . and the home in which he is growing up . . . FIT FOR THE AGE?

Wellsville Ends Season With 20-8 Victory Over Leetonia

★ ★

New Cumberland Ekes Out 24-20 Decision Over Chester

Tigers Finish '60 Season With 7-2-1

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Adding a triumphal finale to their finest football season in many years, Wellsville High's Tigers dumped Leetonia, 20-8, Friday night on the frost-covered Leetonia gridiron.

The Tigers bowed out of the 1960 action with a flashy 7-2-1 season that was highlighted by the setting of a new team scoring record and the blossoming into a star by Quarterback Roger Ours.

A crowd of about 600 sat through four quarters of drawn-out action that was slowed by numerous fumbles, penalties and occasional injuries, to see the Tigers given a stiff test in their final appearance of the year.

Coach Ken Woods' Orange and Black got off to a slow start but got rolling late in the game to triumph with a flourish, primarily on the running of halfbacks Dick Brown and Bill Hickman.

Coach Ike Farrah's Leetonia Bears ended their season with a dismal 1-7-0 record in the Muskingum College graduate's first year as successor to Pat Mancuso. Though short on experience and all-around class, the Bears gave Wellsville a tough battle. Fumbles, apparently caused by the bone-chilling cold, turned the tide in Wellsville's favor and prevented the Bears from scoring a quick touchdown in the early minutes of the game.

Wellsville marched 70 yards for a second quarter touchdown, then drove 44 and 49 yards in the final quarter to relieve some of the pressure. Leetonia got its touchdown midway through the final stanza on a short pass play.

With both squads sticking to a strict diet of line plunges for short gains, the game didn't turn out to be particularly exciting. Most of the few passes that were thrown went far from their intended targets.

Leetonia's highly - touted Jody Sevenich, a defensive linebacker whose specialities are diagnosing plays of the opposition and making hard, jarring tackles, turned in a great game in flashing the form that has earned him All-Ohio consideration. The squat, 180-pound senior co-captain was the bulwark of Leetonia's defense, being in on most of the tackles.

The cagy Ours scored Wellsville's first touchdown on a one-yard sneak and later ran over a conversion as he ended the season with a total of 86-points — just four shy of the one-season school scoring record of 90 that was set in 1944.

Ours was confronted with four chances to crack the standard late in the fourth period when Wellsville pounded inside the Leetonia 10-yard line. Ours tried two option runs in an attempt to score the record-breaking touchdown then unselfishly handed off to fullback John Euill who crashed over from the 4-yard stripe on third down. His action in considering the team ahead of a try for a record drew praise from Coach Woods and most of the Wellsville fans on hand. Only a junior, he'll return next year and probably will make an even harder assault on the record books.

With Ours engineering the attack, the Tigers shoved their season scoring to 293 points for a school record. The old team scoring standard was 240. The Tigers yielded the opposition 101 in their nine games.

Demoralizing penalties hurt both Wellsville and Leetonia the entire game but one 15-yarder against the Bears for holding led to their giving up one score. The Tigers punted in the second quarter. Leetonia was caught holding on the play and the ensuing penalty kept the attack alive, resulting in a touchdown.

For Wellsville, Ours scored on a one-yard sneak, halfback Bill Hickman ran six yards for another and fullback John Euill got the third on a four-yard smack up the middle.

Leetonia took to the airlanes for its score, with Paul Conrad passing seven yards to Eric Painter, left end, in the final quarter. Conrad's pass to Vrabel was good for the two-point conversion.

The game marked the final appearances for 9 Wellsville seniors and four for Leetonia. Wellsville loses key regulars in center Phil Baldwin, end Bob Kiggans, tackle Ralph Culp and halfbacks Hickman and Dick Brown, in addition to ends Jay Hamilton and Will Mobley, guard Bill Long and halfback Doug Thomas.

Besides Sevenich, Leetonia will lose through graduation the services of center Jim Stelts, halfback Bob Gullett, end George Cole and guard Jim Fraser.

Gullet, 155-pounder, was almost Leetonia's entire offense as he carried 24 times and gained 78 yards. Hickman was the game's leading ground gainer with 112 yards gained in 17 carries and was the most outstanding runner of the game.

Defensively, Baldwin, guard Roger Merriman and tackle Ralph Culp rated merit. A fine first-half performance was turned in by Mobley who broke through on three separate occasions to smear Leetonia's quarterback for long losses.

Woods commented that he was "real satisfied with the team effort which developed in the final quarter," and praised assistant coaches George Lawton, Royd Hodge, Carl Firm and Jack McDevitt for their aid during the season.

Close Contest Is Expected Tonight As Potters Battle Canton Central

The East Liverpool Potters will roll into Canton tonight for an engagement with a powerful Catholic Central eleven, which is sailing along on a six - game winning streak. The kickoff at Canton Central Stadium is set for 8.

This is the first game between the two schools.

A close game is expected by Potter coach Lou Venditti. Canton Central has had its share of statewide prestige in the last two years.

Under Coach John McVay, the Crusaders lost only one of 10 games last season and were ranked seventh in Ohio in the final grid poll.

After a 27-6 setback at the hands of Akron St. Vincent in the second game of the current campaign, the Central eleven has rolled to six straight victories. Central was ranked 17th in this week's poll.

Venditti reported the Potters sound with the exception of defensive cornerman Craig O'Neil, who has had ankle trouble. If O'Neil isn't ready, Vince McKinnon, a junior and third string quarterback, will get the nod at the defensive post.

"We will have to stop their power plays off tackle," Venditti said. "They rely almost entirely on power."

The Crusaders go for the short yardage and have been called an "Ohio State type" club.

McVay used six different backs to keep his attack moving and retain possession of the ball.

Starting at quarterback for the Crusaders will be Rick Chapis, the team's top scorer. Tom Bercherer, Paul Penny, Ed Walsh and Fred McDonald will be alternating at the halfback posts. Jim Blubaugh (190) is scheduled for the fullback berth.

All six backs are pretty well balanced in yards gained rushing and scoring.

The Central line will average 186 against East Liverpool's 165.

Kenny Cunningham and his receivers are expected to keep the Central eleven guessing, as has been the case with past opponents.

Cunningham needs only 20 yards to surpass an ELHS passing record set by Bernie Allen, now quarterback at Purdue.

Hennis Nails Pass With 1:12 Showing

A 25-yard touchdown pass from Ron Haynes to John Hennis with only 1:12 showing on the scoreboard clock netted New Cumberland a close-knit, 24-20 victory at Chester Friday night.

The final game of the season for both schools turned into a wild and wooley affair which saw the score change hands on five different occasions.

Chesters young squad ended its 1960 campaign with a 3-6 mark, one of the lowest for Dom Amedeo since he has been at the Hancock County school.

Coach John Kuzio's team closed the campaign with four wins in 10 games.

Hennis, a junior at New Cumberland, scored three of the Raiders' four touchdowns, while Jim Kiger, a 145-pound senior, cracked over for the other.

Gary Pugh, playing his final game for the Purple and Gold, tallied two TD's while quarterback John Bickerstaff added the other.

New Cumberland hit for two quick touchdowns in the opening period. The Raiders recovered a fumble on the Chester 23 and marched to the 7-yard line from where Kiger raced into the end zone.

Moments later Pugh was hit on his own 37-yard line, the ball squirted from his arms and while it was still in the air Hennis grabbed the pigskin and raced into the end zone for his first of three touchdowns.

This staked New Cumberland to a 12-0 lead but the Panthers came clawing back, displaying iron courage against the two touchdown deficit.

Chester marched 70 yards and Bickerstaff cracked over from the 2-yard-line. A run for the extra point failed.

Chester held and New Cumberland was forced to punt. Pugh hauled the ball in on his own 37 and then raced 63 yards to the end zone to put his team at even odds, 12-12.

A moment later Pugh went plunging into the end zone for the extra point which gave Chester a 13-12 edge at intermission.

New Cumberland came out for the second half and produced a sustained drive of 60 yards climaxed by Hennis' one-yard plunge for the six points, and the Raiders led, 18-13.

Moving into the fourth period, the Panthers bounced back once more to take the lead. A 70-yard march and Pugh's 3-yard run to paydirt pushed Amedeo's team back into the lead again.

Bickerstaff plunged over for the extra point and Chester owned a 20-18 margin until the Haynes-Hennis pass combination turned the victory into a defeat for the Panthers.

In first downs, Chester showed 11 to New Cumberland's 10.

Stanton Drops Final, 20-14

Stanton Local of Irondale, figured for only a mediocre season early this year, gave rival Springfield Local a tough battle Friday night before going down to a 20-14 defeat at Springfield.

Coach Fred Sims' Irons wrote a winning season into the books with a 6-4 record while Springfield's Flying Tigers finished up their 1960 campaign with a 7-1 mark.

Springfield, which has never lost in football to the Irons, took an early lead by driving 59 yards with Gary Howell scoring the touchdown from three-yards out. A run for the conversion failed.

The Tigers marched 45 yards in the second quarter, with Archie Galbraith climaxing the drive with a three-yard plunge. Howell plunged for the extra points to put the Tigers in front, 14-0.

Stanton Local got rolling in the second quarter and scored on a 36-yard touchdown run on a rollout by Quarterback Bob Mills. Springfield halted the conversion attempt.

The winners got another touchdown in the third period after a 79-yard drive. Willard Talkington covered the final six for the score and plunged for the extra points.

The Irons moved 57 yards in the final quarter for a touchdown, scored by Stan Wickham on a two-yard buck. Mills carried over the conversion points on a quarterback sneak.

Coach Ellwood Petchel's Tigers were at full srtength for the annual battle with their Jefferson County rivals. The only loss by Springfield came at the hands of Carrollton.

Home Town Fetes Mazeroski, Hero Of World Series

TILTONVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Second baseman Bill Mazeroski of the Pittsburgh Pirates, a hero of the World Series last month, was given a royal welcome Friday by the citizens of Tiltonville and the nearby communities of Rayland and Yorkville.

Mazeroski, a basketball and baseball star at Warren Consolidated High School a few years ago, was given a key to Tiltonville by Mayor Frank Merkel.

The mayor of Rayland notified the 24-year-old infielder that the citizens of Rayland had renamed Rayland Park in his honor and henceforth it will be known as Mazeroski Park.

Mazeroski, whose ninth inning home run in the seventh game of the series won the title for the Pirates, rode in an open convertible in a parade that took in the three communities. With him in the car were his wife and mother, who lives in Tiltonville.

Along the parade route were banners proclaiming, "Mazeroski, Our Hero," and "Welcome Home, Catfish." Catfish was his nickname when he attended school here.

The baseball star spoke at the high school Friday morning and Friday night he attended a dinner for the graduating class of 1954.

The motto of West Virginia is "Mountain semper liberi" — mountaineers are always free.

Fairfield Ends Season By Posting 6-3 Record

McDONALD — Coming from behind in the second half, Fairfield-Waterford completed one of its better seasons in several years after handing McDonald a 28-22 setback here Friday night.

The victory, considered a mild upset, gave coach Bruce Weber's team a 6-3 mark for the season.

Bud Webber led the attack on McDonald, scoring twice on runs of 15 yards and one yard. Tom Messenger dove over from the one-yard line and Larry Peppel went four yards for his touchdown.

The Rebels trailed 16-14 at halftime but bounced back on Messenger's touchdown to go ahead in the third quarter then increased the margin with Webber's touchdown and Peppel's two - point conversions in the final period.

Three McDonald backs got into the scoring column. Bill Ryan, Ray Dolsack and Vince Carkido scored on short runs from inside the 5-yard line.

Hot NBA Race In East Eyed

By The Associated Press

The Eastern Division race in the National Basketball Association shapes up as a dilly between the defending champion Boston Celtics and the Philadelphia Warriors.

The Warriors and the Celts, running 1-2 in the East, knocked off the Western Division's top two teams, the St. Louis Hawks and the Cincinnati Royals, Friday night.

Undefeated Philadelphia downed St. Louis 117-112 for its ninth straight victory and Boston turned back Cincinnati 128-110 for its fourth success in six outings.

In the league's other game, the New York Knickerbockers broke a six-game losing streak with a 112-108 victory over the Syracuse Nationals.

Wilt Chamberlain's 37-point output spearheaded the Warriors. The Hawks, Western Division leaders with a 6-2 record, were sparked by Cliff Hagan's 22 points.

In the Boston-Cincinnati game, the expected individual duel between Oscar Robertson, the Royals' heralded rookie, and Bob Cousy of the Celtics, failed to materialize. Robertson was held to 17 points. Cousy, used sparingly because of a thigh muscle injury, scored 6.

Jackson Hands Lisbon 28-8 Setback In Finale

CANTON — Coach Bud Bucher's final appearance as Lisbon High's football coach ended on a sad note when the Blue Devils bowed to Canton Jackson, 28-8, here Friday night.

Jackson, under the expert quarterbacking of Tom Eckert, confined all of its scoring to the second and third periods while holding Lisbon scoreless until the fourth quarter.

Lisbon, under Bucher for the last time, ended the season with a 4-6 mark, but showed steady improvement in the last half of the campaign.

Eckert fired two touchdowns passes, one an 18-yarder to Dave Day and the other for 48 yards to Bill Zetler.

Wayne Longbrake showed some dazzling broken field running when he went 80 yards for a touchdown and Leonard scored another on a plunge from the 2-yard line.

Lisbon's lone touchdown came on a razzle-dazzle play. Quarterback Larry McPherson tossed short to his end McCaughin who lateraled to Rick Bowling. Bowling then streaked 55 yards for the TD.

Ringey Expected To Be Tiger Boss

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers aren't ready to name their new manager, but the betting is it'll be Bill Rigney.

"He's a leading candidate, but there are others in the same category," said Tiger President John Fetzer.

Reports in San Francisco and Detroit had Rigney, deposed San Francisco Giants manager, all set to take over the Tigers.

Fetzer, his aide Rick Ferrell, and Tiger Vice President Jim Campbell are in Los Angeles. When they failed to sign ex-New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, they switched their attention to Rigney.

Callers at his Walnut Creek, Calif., home were told Rigney was away in Carmel, Calif., until Sunday.

Rigney managed the Giants from 1956 until the middle of last season when he was fired with his club in second place. The Tigers were left without a pilot when Joe Gordon quit Oct. 3 to become manager at Kansas City.

Fernandez 8-5 Pick Over Moyer Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Florentino Fernandez of Cuba is an 85 favorite to snap Phil Moyer's winning streak in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Moyer has won four straight this year but none of his opponents rates in the same hitting class with the Cuban.

Fernandez, ranked sixth among the welterweights, is giving up the ranking to fight with the middleweights.

Wellsville Ends Season With 20-8 Victory Over Leetonia

New Cumberland Ekes Out 24-20 Decision Over Chester

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Adding a triumphal finale to their finest football season in many years, Wellsville High's Tigers dumped Leetonia, 20-8, Friday night on the frost-covered Leetonia gridiron.

The Tigers bowed out of the 1960 action with a flashy 7-2-1 season that was highlighted by the setting of a new team scoring record and the blossoming into a star by Quarterback Roger Ours.

A crowd of about 600 sat through four quarters of drawn-out action that was slowed by numerous fumbles, penalties and occasional injuries, to see the Tigers given a stiff test in their final appearance of the year.

Coach Ken Woods' Orange and Black got off to a slow start but got rolling late in the game to triumph with a flourish, primarily on the running of halfbacks Dick Brown and Bill Hickman.

Coach Ike Farrah's Leetonia Bears ended their season with a dismal 1-7-0 record in the Muskingum College graduate's first year as successor to Pat Mancuso. Though short on experience and all-around class, the Bears gave Wellsville a tough battle. Fumbles, apparently caused by the bone-chilling cold, turned the tide in Wellsville's favor and prevented the Bears from scoring a quick touchdown in the early minutes of the game.

Wellsville marched 70 yards for a second quarter touchdown, then drove 44 and 49 yards in the final quarter to relieve some of the pressure. Leetonia got its touchdown midway through the final stanza on a short pass play.

With both squads sticking to a strict diet of line plunges for short gains, the game didn't turn out to be particularly exciting. Most of the few passes that were thrown went far from their intended targets.

Leetonia's highly - touted Jody Sevenich, a defensive linebacker whose specialities are diagnosing plays of the opposition and making hard, jarring tackles, turned in a great game in flashing the form that has earned him All-Ohio consideration. The squat, 180-pound senior co-captain was the bulwark of Leetonia's defense, being in on most of the tackles.

The cagy Ours scored Wellsville's first touchdown on a one-yard sneak and later ran over a conversion as he ended the season with a total of 86-points — just four shy of the one-season school scoring record of 90 that was set in 1944.

Ours was confronted with four chances to crack the standard late in the fourth period when Wellsville pounded inside the Leetonia 10-yard line. Ours tried two option runs in an attempt to score the record-breaking touchdown then unselfishly handed off to fullback John Euill who crashed over from the 4-yard stripe on third down. His action in considering the team ahead of a try for a record drew praise from Coach Woods and most of the Wellsville fans on hand. Only a junior, he'll return next year and probably will make an even harder assault on the record books.

With Ours engineering the attack, the Tigers shoved their season scoring to 293 points for a school record. The old team scoring standard was 240. The Tigers yielded the opposition 101 in their nine games.

Demoralizing penalties hurt both Wellsville and Leetonia the entire game but one 15-yarder against the Bears for holding led to their giving up one score. The Tigers punted in the second quarter. Leetonia was caught holding on the play and the ensuing penalty kept the attack alive, resulting in a touchdown.

For Wellsville, Ours scored on a one-yard sneak, halfback Bill Hickman ran six yards for another and fullback John Euill got the third on a four-yard smack up the middle.

Leetonia took to the airlanes for its score, with Paul Conrad passing seven yards to Eric Painter, left end, in the final quarter. Conrad's pass to Vrabel was good for the two-point conversion.

The game marked the final appearances for 9 Wellsville seniors and four for Leetonia. Wellsville loses key regulars in center Phil Baldwin, end Bob Kiggans, tackle Ralph Culp and halfbacks Hickman and Dick Brown, in addition to ends Jay Hamilton and Will Mobley, guard Bill Long and halfback Doug Thomas.

Besides Sevenich, Leetonia will lose through graduation the services of center Jim Stelts, halfback Bob Gullett, end George Cole and guard Jim Fraser.

Gullet, 155-pounder, was almost Leetonia's entire offense as he carried 24 times and gained 78 yards. Hickman was the game's leading ground gainer with 112 yards gained in 17 carries and was the most outstanding runner of the game.

Defensively, Baldwin, guard Roger Merriman and tackle Ralph Culp rated merit. A fine first-half performance was turned in by Mobley who broke through on three separate occasions to smear Leetonia's quarterback for long losses.

Woods commented that he was "real satisfied with the team effort which developed in the final quarter," and praised assistant coaches George Lawton, Royd Hodge, Carl Firm and Jack McDevitt for their aid during the season.

Stanton Local of Irondale, figured for only a mediocre season early this year, gave rival Springfield Local a tough battle Friday night before going down to a 20-14 defeat at Springfield.

Coach Fred Sims' Irons wrote a winning season into the books with a 6-4 record while Springfield's Flying Tigers finished up their 1960 campaign with a 7-1 mark.

Springfield, which has never lost in football to the Irons, took an early lead by driving 59 yards with Gary Howell scoring the touchdown from three-yards out. A run for the conversion failed.

The Tigers marched 45 yards in the second quarter, with Archie Galbraith climaxing the drive with a three-yard plunge. Howell plunged for the extra points to put the Tigers in front, 14-0.

Stanton Local got rolling in the second quarter and scored on a 36-yard touchdown run on a rollout by Quarterback Bob Mills. Springfield halted the conversion attempt.

The winners got another touchdown in the third period after a 79-yard drive. Willard Talkington covered the final six for the score and plunged for the extra points.

The Irons moved 57 yards in the final quarter for a touchdown, scored by Stan Wickham on a two-yard buck. Mills carried over the conversion points on a quarterback sneak.

Coach Ellwood Petchel's Tigers were at full srtength for the annual battle with their Jefferson County rivals. The only loss by Springfield came at the hands of Carrollton.

Home Town Fetes Mazeroski, Hero Of World Series

TILTONVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Second baseman Bill Mazeroski of the Pittsburgh Pirates, a hero of the World Series last month, was given a royal welcome Friday by the citizens of Tiltonville and the nearby communities of Rayland and Yorkville.

Mazeroski, a basketball and baseball star at Warren Consolidated High School a few years ago, was given a key to Tiltonville by Mayor Frank Merkel.

The mayor of Rayland notified the 24-year-old infielder that the citizens of Rayland had renamed Rayland Park in his honor and henceforth it will be known as Mazeroski Park.

Mazeroski, whose ninth inning home run in the seventh game of the series won the title for the Pirates, rode in an open convertible in a parade that took in the three communities. With him in the car were his wife and mother, who lives in Tiltonville.

Along the parade route were banners proclaiming, "Mazeroski, Our Hero," and "Welcome Home, Catfish." Catfish was his nickname when he attended school here.

The baseball star spoke at the high school Friday morning and Friday night he attended a dinner for the graduating class of 1954.

The motto of West Virginia is "Mountain semper liberi" — mountaineers are always free.

Fairfield Ends Season By Posting 6-3 Record

McDONALD — Coming from behind in the second half, Fairfield-Waterford completed one of its better seasons in several years after handing McDonald a 28-22 setback here Friday night.

The victory, considered a mild upset, gave coach Bruce Weber's team a 6-3 mark for the season.

Bud Webber led the attack on McDonald, scoring twice on runs of 15 yards and one yard. Tom Messenger dove over from the one-yard line and Larry Peppel went four yards for his touchdown.

The Rebels trailed 16-14 at halftime but bounced back on Messenger's touchdown to go ahead in the third quarter then increased the margin with Webber's touchdown and Peppel's two - point conversions in the final period.

Three McDonald backs got into the scoring column. Bill Ryan, Ray Dolsack and Vince Carkido scored on short runs from inside the 5-yard line.

Hot NBA Race In East Eyed

By The Associated Press

The Eastern Division race in the National Basketball Association shapes up as a dilly between the defending champion Boston Celtics and the Philadelphia Warriors.

The Warriors and the Celts, running 1-2 in the East, knocked off the Western Division's top two teams, the St. Louis Hawks and the Cincinnati Royals, Friday night.

Undefeated Philadelphia downed St. Louis 117-112 for its ninth straight victory and Boston turned back Cincinnati 128-110 for its fourth success in six outings.

In the league's other game, the New York Knickerbockers broke a six-game losing streak with a 112-108 victory over the Syracuse Nationals.

Wilt Chamberlain's 37-point output spearheaded the Warriors. The Hawks, Western Division leaders with a 6-2 record, were sparked by Cliff Hagan's 22 points.

In the Boston-Cincinnati game, the expected individual duel between Oscar Robertson, the Royals' heralded rookie, and Bob Cousy of the Celtics, failed to materialize. Robertson was held to 17 points. Cousy, used sparingly because of a thigh muscle injury, scored 6.

Jackson Hands Lisbon 28-8 Setback In Finale

CANTON — Coach Bud Bucher's final appearance as Lisbon High's football coach ended on a sad note when the Blue Devils bowed to Canton Jackson, 28-8, here Friday night.

Jackson, under the expert quarterbacking of Tom Eckert, confined all of its scoring to the second and third periods while holding Lisbon scoreless until the fourth quarter.

Lisbon, under Bucher for the last time, ended the season with a 4-6 mark, but showed steady improvement in the last half of the campaign.

Eckert fired two touchdowns passes, one an 18-yarder to Dave Day and the other for 48 yards to Bill Zetler.

Wayne Longbrake showed some dazzling broken field running when he went 80 yards for a touchdown and Leonard scored another on a plunge from the 2-yard line.

Lisbon's lone touchdown came on a razzle-dazzle play. Quarterback Larry McPherson tossed short to his end McCaughin who lateraled to Rick Bowling. Bowling then streaked 55 yards for the TD.

Rigney Expected To Be Tiger Boss

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers aren't ready to name their new manager, but the betting is it'll be Bill Rigney.

"He's a leading candidate, but there are others in the same category," said Tiger President John Fetzer.

Reports in San Francisco and Detroit had Rigney, deposed San Francisco Giants manager, all set to take over the Tigers.

Fetzer, his aide Rick Ferrell, and Tiger Vice President Jim Campbell are in Los Angeles. When they failed to sign ex-New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, they switched their attention to Rigney.

Callers at his Walnut Creek, Calif., home were told Rigney was away in Carmel, Calif., until Sunday.

Rigney managed the Giants from 1956 until the middle of last season when he was fired with his club in second place. The Tigers were left without a pilot when Joe Gordon quit Oct. 3 to become manager at Kansas City.

Aids Seal Drive Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Red Schoendienst, who hopes to play with the St. Louis Cardinals again, is again helping the National Tuberculosis Assn. in its Christmas seal drive. Schoendienst underwent a lung operation two years ago and has fully recovered from tuberculosis.

Captures Big Triple

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Jockey John Sellers picked a fine day to score a triple. He won with Constance and Opus and took The Garden State with Carry Back. It was the first time Sellers had ever ridden in the world's richest race.

Fernandez 8-5 Pick Over Moyer Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Florentino Fernandez of Cuba is an 85 favorite to snap Phil Moyer's winning streak in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Moyer has won four straight this year but none of his opponents rates in the same hitting class with the Cuban.

Fernandez, ranked sixth among the welterweights, is giving up the ranking to fight with the middleweights.

Beaver Local Bows In Finale; Palestine, Poland Share Title

McLaughlin Scores 2, Wins District TD Title

CANAL FULTON — Two third period touchdowns snapped a 16-16 halftime tie and earned Northwest a 30-16 decision over Beaver Local here Friday night. It marked the final game for both schools.

Beaver Local, which recorded seven straight victories before losing two weeks ago, dropped its third contest in a row and ended the 1960 campaign with a 7-3 mark, best among the school's young gridiron records.

Even in defeat, Ron McLaughlin kept up his brilliant scoring which has spurred the Beavers to a winning season.

The All-Ohio candidate ran for all of Beaver Local's points from his halfback spot here last night.

His 16 points gave him a total of 132 for the season and clinched the district scoring title. No other back in the area even came close to the Beaver Local senior.

He tallied on short runs of 5 and 3 yards in the first and second periods then added both conversions.

McLaughlin picked up 151 yards rushing.

Northwest crossed the goal line twice in the first period and made both conversions. The hometeam scored two more in the third quarter to break the 16-16 deadlock.

Newt Bogard accounted for a pair of TD's on runs of 39 and 28 yards, both coming off a double reverse.

Terry Sense took a 43-yard pass from Jerry May for another touchdown and May scored the other himself from 3 yards away.

Northwest closed its season with a 7-2 record and tied for first place in the Stark County Class A football race.

Gophers Eye National And Big 10 Titles

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota the Big Ten champion and No. 1 team in the country to boot?

Why, a man would have been labelled daft if he even thought along such lines two months ago.

The Golden Gophers—they were the plain old Gophers last year when they finished at the bottom of the league—already have compiled a 7-0 record and today they can clinch at least a tie for their first Big Ten title in 20 years.

Furthermore, they are ranked No. 1 in the current Associated Press poll.

Minnesota was the heavy favorite over Purdue (2-4-1). A victory over the Boilermakers would clinch a tie for the championship. Then, if they get past Wisconsin next week, the crown is theirs.

Ohio State, ranked No. 3 in the AP poll, and Iowa, No. 5 (both 6-1) met in a dog-eat-dog battle to decide which team stays in the running. The game was to be televised by ABC-TV starting at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Other conference races shape up like this:

Big Five — Washington, (7-1), No. 6 in the AP poll was in a position to win its second straight league crown by beating California (1-6-1).

Big Eight—Missouri (8-0), No. 2 behind Minnesota, can clinch at least a tie for the championship by beating defending champion Oklahoma—if Colorado gets past Kansas. If both Missouri and Kansas win, the title will be decided next week when they meet. At any rate, Oklahoma, which has held down the throne the past dozen years, is out of it.

Southeastern — Mississippi (7-0-1), No. 4 in the rankings, still is not in. Ole Miss, 3-0-1 in conference play, tackled Tennessee. Auburn, No. 10 nationally, and Florida, tied for second in the league standings with 4-1 records, play Georgia and Tulane, respectively.

Atlantic Coast—Duke was in a position to gain at least a tie for the championship by beating Wake Forest (2-5). Next week the Blue Devils, (6-1) rated No. 7 in the poll, could clinch it against North Carolina State.

Southwest Conference — Arkansas (4-1 in the conference) went against winless Southern Methodist. Second-place Rice (3-1 in league play) tangled with Texas A&M. That one is very much undecided.

Ivy League—The title was up for grabs when Yale (7-0) met Princeton (5-0).

Southern Conference — VMI (3-0) and The Citadel played for the title. George Washington knocked Virginia Tech out of the running Friday night, 21-8.

Navy, eighth ranked team in the country, played Virginia.

In games Friday night, Wichita turned back Drake, 32-7, Louisville halted Kent State, 22-8, and Fresno State (8-0) stayed unbeaten and untied with a 27-12 victory over San Jose State. Richmond defeated Furman 35-28 in a day game.

St. Aloysius In Grid Finale Here Sunday

The St. Aloysius football team winds up its 1960 season Sunday meeting St. Paul's of Weirton at Patterson Field. Admission will be free and the kickoff is set for 2 p. m.

FAMOUS trick passer—Jan Hardy—will be with the All-American Red Heads, the touring girls basketball team, which will meet the East Liverpool All-Stars Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium. Sponsored by the East Liverpool Jaycees, action will get underway at 7:30 p. m. with an exhibition game. The main attraction will start about 9 p. m.

Salem's Late Rally Edges Girard, 7-6

GIRARD — A 36-yard scoring pass from Quarterback Gary Devan to end Don Davidson and a successful kick by Rick Sulea for the extra point with only 2:15 left in the game enabled the Salem Quakers to squeek past underdog Girard, 7-6, here Friday night.

It marked the final game of the season for both teams. Salem finished with a 9-1 mark, beaten only by East Liverpool last Friday night. Girard showed a 3-6 record.

Girard scored midway through the second period on an 18-yard pass from Mushrush to Jerry Hulvachik. Mushrush attempted to pass for the conversion but was snowed under by Davidson.

The Girard touchdown was set up on a Salem fumble on the Quaker 19.

Salem's scoring drive started on the Girard 40 after the Quakers had recovered a fumble.

Istnick Leads Bulldogs To Win Over Clippers

COLUMBIANA — East Palestine and Poland shared the 1960 Tri-County football crown today.

As a result of a 28-0 victory over Columbiana, East Palestine and Poland showed identical 6-0-1 records in Tri - County competition. Poland completed its Tri-County slate but meets Canfield today.

It marked the fifth straight year that East Palestine has won or shared the Tri-County title. East Palestine and Poland in their regular season game battled to an 8-8 tie to wind up co-champs.

Jack Istnick displayed some fine running when he raced 50 and 14 yards for a pair of touchdowns and passed for another.

Jim Massey was on the receiving end of Istnick's pass which covered 11 yards.

Butch Leake scored the other East Palestine touchdown on a plunge of one yard in the fourth quarter.

Columbiana threatened on several occasions, driving inside the 10-yard line in the first period and the 5-yard marker in the third quarter.

The teams played to a 0-0 tie in the first quarter but East Palestine broke the ice with a lone touchdown in the second frame and went on to tally three more in the last half.

Coach Howard Weyer's Bulldogs wound up with an overall 7-1-1 mark, while Columbiana was 7-3 for the season.

East Palestine showed a big edge in the ground gaining department, picking up 309 to Columbiana's 133.

Weirton Rips Big Reds, 45-0, To Clinch Class AAA Playoff

By The Associated Press

Weirton, taking advantages of Parkersburg's frequent fumbling, scored often and rolled to a 45-0 win over the Big Reds Friday night, clinching a spot in the Class AAA playoff.

The choice of an opponent for the powerful Northern Panhandle eleven still appeared cloudy, however.

Defending champion Bluefield, ranked third last week, turned in an equally convincing performance trouncing Priceton 53-0. It was the 10th victory in a row for the Beavers and the 21st straight over a two-year period.

Second - ranked Nitro played Poca this afternoon. A victory probably would give the unbeaten Kanawha Countians the other berth.

The Class AA picture was even more fuzzy.

Williamson, for one, will be in it, having beaten triple-A Logan, 14-12, Thursday night. But an opponent for the Mingo Countians could be any one of three teams—Mount Hope, Sissonville or Clarksburg Roosevelt-Wilson.

Mount Hope, the defending tiltist and rating leader, was held to a scoreless tie by rival Oak Hill, a triple-A team, Friday night. Although this doesn't change the Mustangs' ratings, they could be hurt if another team picked up enough points to move ahead.

Roosevelt-Wilson, in fourth place last week, gained considerably with a 13-0 win over a Class AAA team, highly-touted Grafton.

Sissonville played a triple-A DuPont today, but probably won't advance much even with a win because of DuPont's poor season.

Alderson has grabbed one spot in the Class A playoffs. And little Crum appeared to have the inside track to meet the Greenbrier Countians.

Second-ranked Winfield was beaten, 9-0, by Clendenin Friday night. The night before, Crum downed Buffalo of Wayne 25-0.

In a bunch of backyard brawls Friday night, Fairmont East beat Fairmont West 14-0, Huntington waylaid Huntington East 47-27, Stonewall Jackson ran over Charleston, 27-7, and Clarksburg Victory shut out Clarksburg Washington-Irving, 20-0.

Johnson Leading In Mexican Golf

MEXICO CITY (AP)—With the field slashed almost in half, the $10,000 Mexican Open Golf Tournament today went into the third round finals with Houie Johnson leading with an 11-under-par 133.

Johnson, had a 4-stroke advantage over Bob Stone of Junction City, Kan., and was 5 up on 1956 champion Billy Maxwell of Oceanside, Calif., and Dave Marr of Houston. He zoomed into the lead with a 9-under-par 63, a course record.

At the end of 36 holes, the halfway mark, officials cut the field of entries to 35 professionals and 20 amateurs. Few foreigners were eliminated, and they did not include any of the big names.

Stars from eight countries are competing for the $2,000 first prize and $10,000 total at the par-72, 6,738-yard Chapultepec Country Club. They are from Mexico, U.S., Canada, Belgium, Spain, Argentina, Cuba and Guatemala.

St. Louis Net Stars Win At South Wales

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley both of St. Louis went into the quarterfinals of the New South Wales tennis singles championships today.

Their teammates, Barry MacKa of Dayton, Ohio, and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif. will have a chance to join them in third round matches Sunday.

Bald Eagle Wins International By 2½ Lengths

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The Washington, D. C. International was laid to rest for the ninth time Friday, but the wake was livelier than the event.

Bald Eagle took the starch out of the race by zooming off to a four-length lead in less than a quarter of a mile, increasing it to 10 after a mile and being a safe two at the end of the mile and half.

Harry F. Guggenheim's 5-year-old thus became the first two-time winner of the International and fourth to do it in American racing colors. The victory also supported his bid in the voting for best horse of the year in this country.

But Bald Eagle's supremacy was challenged by the trainer for Harmonizing, E. W. King. The Russians in turn tried to yell foul against Harmonizing.

On top of that, the favorite French starter Puissant Chef dumped his rider at the start to keep boiling the aftermath talk of the International.

Bald Eagle had the $70,000 first prize, Harmonizing $15,000 and the Russians $20,000.

Colts Picked In 'Big One' Against Bears

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bed check for the Baltimore Colts comes up at 10 p.m. but that doesn't mean they don't live it up on the road—especially in Chicago where they are 7-point favorites to beat the Bears Sunday.

Baltimore hasn't lost at Wrigley Field the last three seasons, and the Colts' over-all road record since 1956, the year Johnny Unitas came to play, is 17 and 10, including 5-1 last season and 1-2 this year.

The Bears' game is a big one for the Colts, who are leading the Western Conference with a 5-2 record. After Sunday, they get a Sunday off, then face only second division teams—Detroit, Los Angeles and San Francisco twice.

A loss Sunday could knock Baltimore back into second place behind Green Bay. The Packers (4-2) are considered a 21-point cinch over the visiting Dallas Cowboys (0-7).

In the other Western game the Detroit Lions (2-4) are 3-point home favorites over the Los Angeles Rams (2-4-1). San Francisco (3-4) is idle.

The Philadelphia Eagles (5-1), driving for their first Eastern title since 1949, are home to the Washington Redskins (1-3-2). The Eagles are 13-point favorites to take a six-game winning streak into Yankee Stadium next week for the first of two important games with the defending champion New York Giants.

New York (4-1-1) has nothing but road victories, but the second-place Giants are 8-point home choices to take the Pittsburgh Steelers (2-4-1).

The Giants could take over first if the Eagles lose, but if New York loses and third-place Cleveland (4-2) wins, the Browns take over second and the Giants drop to third.

The Browns rate 10 points better than the visiting St. Louis Cardinals, who are fourth in the East at 4-3.

Beaver Local Bows In Finale; Palestine, Poland Share Title

McLaughlin Scores 2, Wins District TD Title

CANAL FULTON — Two third period touchdowns snapped a 16-16 halftime tie and earned Northwest a 30-16 decision over Beaver Local here Friday night. It marked the final game for both schools.

Beaver Local, which recorded seven straight victories before losing two weeks ago, dropped its third contest in a row and ended the 1960 campaign with a 7-3 mark, best among the school's young gridiron records.

Even in defeat, Ron McLaughlin kept up his brilliant scoring which has spurred the Beavers to a winning season.

The All-Ohio candidate ran for all of Beaver Local's points from his halfback spot here last night.

His 16 points gave him a total of 132 for the season and clinched the district scoring title. No other back in the area even came close to the Beaver Local senior.

He tallied on short runs of 5 and 3 yards in the first and second periods then added both conversions.

McLaughlin picked up 151 yards rushing.

Northwest crossed the goal line twice in the first period and made both conversions. The hometeam scored two more in the third quarter to break the 16-16 deadlock.

Newt Bogard accounted for a pair of TD's on runs of 39 and 28 yards, both coming off a double reverse.

Terry Sense took a 43-yard pass from Jerry May for another touchdown and May scored the other himself from 3 yards away.

Northwest closed its season with a 7-2 record and tied for first place in the Stark County Class A football race.

Gophers Eye National And Big 10 Titles

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota the Big Ten champion and No. 1 team in the country to boot?

Why, a man would have been labelled daft if he even thought along such lines two months ago.

The Golden Gophers—they were the plain old Gophers last year when they finished at the bottom of the league—already have compiled a 7-0 record and today they can clinch at least a tie for their first Big Ten title in 20 years.

Furthermore, they are ranked No. 1 in the current Associated Press poll.

Minnesota was the heavy favorite over Purdue (2-4-1). A victory over the Boilermakers would clinch a tie for the championship. Then, if they get past Wisconsin next week, the crown is theirs.

Ohio State, ranked No. 3 in the AP poll, and Iowa, No. 5 (both 6-1) met in a dog-eat-dog battle to decide which team stays in the running. The game was to be televised by ABC-TV starting at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Other conference races shape up like this:

Big Five — Washington, (7-1), No. 6 in the AP poll was in a position to win its second straight league crown by beating California (1-6-1).

Big Eight—Missouri (8-0), No. 2 behind Minnesota, can clinch at least a tie for the championship by beating defending champion Oklahoma—if Colorado gets past Kansas. If both Missouri and Kansas win, the title will be decided next week when they meet. At any rate, Oklahoma, which has held down the throne the past dozen years, is out of it.

Southeastern — Mississippi (7-0-1), No. 4 in the rankings, still is not in. Ole Miss, 3-0-1 in conference play, tackled Tennessee. Auburn, No. 10 nationally, and Florida, tied for second in the league standings with 4-1 records, play Georgia and Tulane, respectively.

Atlantic Coast—Duke was in a position to gain at least a tie for the championship by beating Wake Forest (2-5). Next week the Blue Devils, (6-1) rated No. 7 in the poll, could clinch it against North Carolina State.

Southwest Conference — Arkansas (4-1 in the conference) went against winless Southern Methodist. Second-place Rice (3-1 in league play) tangled with Texas A&M. That one is very much undecided.

Ivy League—The title was up for grabs when Yale (7-0) met Princeton (5-0).

Southern Converence — VMI (3-0) and The Citadel played for the title. George Washington knocked Virginia Tech out of the running Friday night, 21-8.

Navy, eighth ranked team in the country, played Virginia.

In games Friday night, Wichita turned back Drake, 32-7, Louisville halted Kent State, 22-8, and Fresno State (8-0) stayed unbeaten and untied with a 27-12 victory over San Jose State. Richmond defeated Furman 35-28 in a day game.

St. Aloysius In Grid Finale Here Sunday

The St. Aloysius football team winds up its 1960 season Sunday meeting St. Paul's of Weirton at Patterson Field. Admission will be free and the kickoff is set for 2 p. m.

FAMOUS trick passer—Jan Hardy—will be with the All-American Red Heads, the touring girls basketball team, which will meet the East Liverpool All-Stars Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium. Sponsored by the East Liverpool Jaycees, action will get underway at 7:30 p. m. with an exhibition game. The main attraction will start about 9 p. m.

Salem's Late Rally Edges Girard, 7-6

GIRARD — A 36-yard scoring pass from Quarterback Gary Devan to end Don Davidson and a successful kick by Rick Sulea for the extra point with only 2:15 left in the game enabled the Salem Quakers to squeek past underdog Girard, 7-6, here Friday night.

It marked the final game of the season for both teams. Salem finished with a 9-1 mark, beaten only by East Liverpool last Friday night. Girard showed a 3-6 record.

Girard scored midway through the second period on an 18-yard pass from Mushrush to Jerry Hulvachik. Mushrush attempted to pass for the conversion but was snowed under by Davidson.

The Girard touchdown was set up on a Salem fumble on the Quaker 19.

Salem's scoring drive started on the Girard 40 after the Quakers had recovered a fumble.

SALEM	0	0	0	7—7
GIRARD	0	6	0	0—6

Girard — Hulvachik 18-Yd. pass from Mushrush (pass failed)
Salem — Davidson 36-Yd. pass from Devan (Sulea kick)

Istnick Leads Bulldogs To Win Over Clippers

COLUMBIANA — East Palestine and Poland shared the 1960 Tri-County football crown today.

As a result of a 28-0 victory over Columbiana, East Palestine and Poland showed identical 6-0-1 records in Tri - County competition. Poland completed its Tri-County slate but meets Canfield today.

It marked the fifth straight year that East Palestine has won or shared the Tri-County title. East Palestine and Poland in their regular season game battled to an 8-8 tie to wind up co-champs.

Jack Istnick displayed some fine running when he raced 50 and 14 yards for a pair of touchdowns and passed for another.

Jim Massey was on the receiving end of Istnick's pass which covered 11 yards.

Butch Leake scored the other East Palestine touchdown on a plunge of one yard in the fourth quarter.

Columbiana threatened on several occasions, driving inside the 10-yard line in the first period and the 5-yard marker in the third quarter.

The teams played to a 0-0 tie in the first quarter but East Palestine broke the ice with a lone touchdown in the second frame and went on to tally three more in the last half.

Coach Howard Weyer's Bulldogs wound up with an overall 7-1-1 mark, while Columbiana was 7-3 for the season.

East Palestine showed a big edge in the ground gaining department, picking up 309 to Columbiana's 133.

EAST PALESTINE—28

Weirton Rips Big Reds, 45-0, To Clinch Class AAA Playoff

By The Associated Press

Weirton, taking advantages of Parkersburg's frequent fumbling, scored often and rolled to a 45-0 win over the Big Reds Friday night, clinching a spot in the Class AAA playoff.

The choice of an opponent for the powerful Northern Panhandle eleven still appeared cloudy, however.

Defending champion Bluefield, ranked third last week, turned in an equally convincing performance trouncing Priceton 53-0. It was the 10th victory in a row for the Beavers and the 21st straight over a two-year period.

Second - ranked Nitro played Poca this afternoon. A victory probably would give the unbeaten Kanawha Countians the other berth.

The Class AA picture was even more fuzzy.

Williamson, for one, will be in it, having beaten triple-A Logan, 14-12, Thursday night. But an opponent for the Mingo Countians could be any one of three teams—Mount Hope, Sissonville or Clarksburg Roosevelt-Wilson.

Mount Hope, the defending tiltist and rating leader, was held to a scoreless tie by rival Oak Hill, a triple-A team, Friday night. Although this doesn't change the Mustangs' ratings, they could be hurt if another team picked up enough points to move ahead.

Roosevelt-Wilson, in fourth place last week, gained considerably with a 13-0 win over a Class AAA team, highly-touted Grafton.

Sissonville played a triple-A DuPont today, but probably won't advance much even with a win because of DuPont's poor season.

Alderson has grabbed one spot in the Class A playoffs. And little Crum appeared to have the inside track to meet the Greenbrier Countians.

Second-ranked Winfield was beaten, 9-0, by Clendenin Friday night. The night before, Crum downed Buffalo of Wayne 25-0.

In a bunch of backyard brawls Friday night, Fairmont East beat Fairmont West 14-0, Huntington waylaid Huntington East 47-27, Stonewall Jackson ran over Charleston, 27-7, and Clarksburg Victory shut out Clarksburg Washington-Irving, 20-0.

Johnson Leading In Mexican Golf

MEXICO CITY (AP)—With the field slashed almost in half, the $10,000 Mexican Open Golf Tournament today went into the third round finals with Houie Johnson leading with an 11-under-par 133.

Johnson, had a 4-stroke advantage over Bob Stone of Junction City, Kan., and was 5 up on 1956 champion Billy Maxwell of Oceanside, Calif., and Dave Marr of Houston. He zoomed into the lead with a 9-under-par 63, a course record.

At the end of 36 holes, the halfway mark, officials cut the field of entries to 35 professionals and 20 amateurs. Few foreigners were eliminated, and they did not include any of the big names.

Stars from eight countries are competing for the $2,000 first prize and $10,000 total at the par-72, 6,738-yard Chapultepec Country Club. They are from Mexico, U.S., Canada, Belgium, Spain, Argentina, Cuba and Guatemala.

St. Louis Net Stars Win At South Wales

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley both of St. Louis went into the quarterfinals of the New South Wales tennis singles championships today.

Their teammates, Barry MacKa of Dayton, Ohio, and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif. will have a chance to join them in third round matches Sunday.

Bald Eagle Wins International By 2½ Lengths

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The Washington, D. C. International was laid to rest for the ninth time Friday, but the wake was livelier than the event.

Bald Eagle took the starch out of the race by zooming off to a four-length lead in less than a quarter of a mile, increasing it to 10 after a mile and being a safe two at the end of the mile and half.

Harry F. Guggenheim's 5-year-old thus became the first two-time winner of the International and fourth to do it in American racing colors. The victory also supported his bid in the voting for best horse of the year in this country.

But Bald Eagle's supremacy was challenged by the trainer for Harmonizing, E. W. King. The Russians in turn tried to yell foul against Harmonizing.

On top of that, the favorite French starter Puissant Chef dumped his rider at the start to keep boiling the aftermath talk of the International.

Bald Eagle had the $70,000 first prize, Harmonizing $15,000 and the Russians $20,000.

Colts Picked In 'Big One' Against Bears

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bed check for the Baltimore Colts comes up at 10 p.m. but that doesn't mean they don't live it up on the road—especially in Chicago where they are 7-point favorites to beat the Bears Sunday.

Baltimore hasn't lost at Wrigley Field the last three seasons, and the Colts' over-all road record since 1956, the year Johnny Unitas came to play, is 17 and 10, including 5-1 last season and 1-2 this year.

The Bears' game is a big one for the Colts, who are leading the Western Conference with a 5-2 record. After Sunday, they get a Sunday off, then face only second division teams—Detroit, Los Angeles and San Francisco twice.

A loss Sunday could knock Baltimore back into second place behind Green Bay. The Packers (4-2) are considered a 21-point cinch over the visiting Dallas Cowboys (0-7).

In the other Western game the Detroit Lions (2-4) are 3-point home favorites over the Los Angeles Rams (2-4-1). San Francisco (3-4) is idle.

The Philadelphia Eagles (5-1), driving for their first Eastern title since 1949, are home to the Washington Redskins (1-3-2). The Eagles are 13-point favorites to take a six-game winning streak into Yankee Stadium next week for the first of two important games with the defending champion New York Giants.

New York (4-1-1) has nothing but road victories, but the second-place Giants are 8-point home choices to take the Pittsburgh Steelers (2-4-1).

The Giants could take over first if the Eagles lose, but if New York loses and third-place Cleveland (4-2) wins, the Browns take over second and the Giants drop to third.

The Browns rate 10 points better than the visiting St. Louis Cardinals who are fourth in the East at 4-3.

Deaths and Funerals

Former Ware Worker Dies

Mrs. Bernice Weingartner, 1817 Dakota Ave., former potter, died this morning at the Walker Memorial Hospital at Avon Park, Fla., following a long illness. She was 78.

She had been visiting a daughter, Mrs. Marie Brand, of Lake Placid, Fla., for the past three weeks.

She was born in East Liverpool, daughter of Governor Price and Ida M. Rice Price. She was employed last in the decorating shop of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. and retired in 1947. She was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church and the IBOP.

She leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Byron Lunger and Mrs. Dorothy Groubert, and two sons, George R. Weingartner and Edward C. Weingartner, all of East Liverpool; five sisters, Mrs. Mildred McKim, Mrs. Frank Fluno, Mrs. Ida Cochran and Mrs. Betty McNeill, all of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Thelma Jones of Canton; a brother, Raymond Price of Canton, and four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Her husband, George C. Weingartner, died Sept. 6, 1946.

The Dawson Funeral Home is arranging services.

Infant Pastore

LISBON — Commitment services for John Pastore, 3-day-old son of Michael A. and Edith Burnip Pastore of Sunset Dr., were held this morning from the St. George Catholic Church with White Mass being given by Fr. William H. Hohman.

The child died at 12:55 p. m. Friday in Salem City Hospital, where he was born Tuesday.

Surviving besides his parents are two sisters, Renee Pastore and Beverly Pastore, two brothers, Gregory Pastore and Charles Pastore, all at the home, and paternal grandfather, Joseph Pastore, and maternal grandfather, Paul Burnip, both of Lisbon.

The Eells-Leggett Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements with burial in Lisbon Cemetery.

Society To Lead Thank-Offering

The annual thank-offering service, with the Women's Missionary Society in charge, will be held Sunday morning at the Grace United Presbyterian Church. There will be infant baptism.

The Rev. Edward John Phinn will preach on "The Great Commission."

Music will include a solo, "How Great Thou Art" (Hine) by Marlene Gillespie; prelude, "Now Thank We All Our God" (Ashford); offertory, "Thanks be to Thee" (Handel), and postlude, "I Will Give Thanks" (Gound).

Mrs. Margaret Langdon is choir director and Mrs. Martha White organist.

The Junior High Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p. m.

The Senior Choir will rehearse Wednesday at 6 p. m. and the Junior Choir at 6:30.

Civil Service Exams Reset At Wellsville

Examinations scheduled last night by the Wellsville Civil Service Commission to provide eligibility lists for the positions of city patrolmen and firemen have been postponed until next Friday night at 7:30.

Cedric Stanway, a member of the commission, said the exams were postponed because of Veterans Day.

Both tests had been advertised to be held last night, but the legal notices were changed this week.

Four have filed application to take the police exam and two have for the firemen's exam. Three must apply before a test can be held.

Vehicles Traveling Turnpike Show Boost

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Ohio Turnpike Commission reported today that 1,085,371 vehicles traveled on the toll road during October, an increase of 97,218 over the same month in 1959.

For the 10-month period this year, 11,024,862 vehicles have used the turnpike, an increase of 675,452 over the same period a year ago.

October's toll revenue amounted to $1,678,997—or $145,294 better than the same month a year ago. For the year so far the commission has taken in $17,517,686. That is $1,254,962 higher than a year ago at the same time.

Western Board To Act On Bids For Equipment

Bids received Thursday by the Western Beaver County School Authority for school furniture and equipment have been turned over to Frank Meredith, supervising principal, for tabulation and recommendation.

Meredith said a special meeting of the Board of Education will be called, probably next week, to tabulate and recommend the bids which the authority will act on later.

Bids were for classroom furniture, office equipment, special school piano, floor machine, vacuum machine and tractor with rotary mower and snow plow.

Wellsville Tally Unchanged

Defeat Of Playlot Levy Confirmed

Official returns from Tuesday's general election upheld the narrow 9-vote margin by which Wellsville voters rejected a new half-mill playground levy.

When the County Election Board completed the official tabulation Friday night, the count stood at 1,355 for the levy and 1,363 against it. Actually, a switch of five votes would have changed the result since it required only a majority for passage.

The official count also confirmed the overwhelming defeat of East Liverpool's proposed income tax but reduced the margin of the loss by 299 votes.

The final vote showed 5,580 against the tax and 3,388 approving it. In the unofficial returns Tuesday night, the vote was 5,724 against and 3,233 for.

Route 46 Project Is 27% Complete

William P. McKenna of New Philadelphia, Division 11 deputy director for the State Highway Department, said today work is about 27 per cent complete on the 1.6-mile relocation of Route 46 between East Palestine and New Waterford.

In his monthly report, McKenna also said that the contractor has completed a small amount of remaining work on the eight-tenths-mile relocation of Route 30 west of Lisbon.

The Horseshoe Gardens relocation of Route 7 is about 78 per cent complete.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held at the site recently to officially opent he new pavement to traffic.

Actual completion date is next July but the department decided to allow motorists to use the new road over the winter months.

The report also shows that a new bridge on Route 344 in Leetonia was completed last month.

3 Boys Escape Injury As They Break Window

Three youngsters escaped injury Friday afternoon but were cited to juvenile authorities when they broke a huge display window while playing in the doorway of the Louis-James Store, 536 Mulberry St., police reported.

The trio ranging from 7 to 9 fell against the 93-by-84-inch plate glass window, causing it to crack and shatter, police said.

Fortunately, police said, none was cut by the long slivers of glass. The store is operated by Louis Yanni.

Council To Meet

SALINEVILLE — Council will meet Monday night at 7:30 with only routine business scheduled. Mayor Kenneth Leishman will attend.

Elderly Man Hurt In Fall

An elderly city man hurt in a fall Friday evening was admitted to City Hospital. Six others were treated for injuries suffered in various mishaps.

Vance Cornell, 84, of 129½ W. 6th St., is in "fair" condition today with lacerations of the forehead and right hand suffered when he fell on a sidewalk.

Harry Hutton, 47, of 314 Grant St., Newell, cut his finger while working on a kiln at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co.

Arthur J. Lynch, 47, of Fisher Ave. injured his right foot in a fall from a ladder.

Danny R. Owens, 8, son of D. E. Owens of McDonald St., Glenmoor, was treated for puncture wounds from the bite of a neighbor's dog. He was then sent to a private physician.

Thomas Arcuragi, 11, son of J. J. Arcuragi of Wyoming Ave., Glenmoor, suffered a small laceration of the scalp when hit by a tree branch.

Roger Bosworth, 19, of Chester R. D. 1, cut his finger on a bleacher seat while attending the Chester football game.

Scenes Of Alaska Screened For Hillcrest-Fairview PTA

Dr. C. M. Mayberry presented an illustrated talk on a recent trip to Alaska at a meeting of the Fairview Parent - Teacher Association Thursday night at Hillcrest, near Wellsville. Some 100 attended.

Lester Bickle, principal, discussed the report card grading system. A question-and-answer period followed. Mrs. Jean Tipton, new nurse in the school district, was introduced.

The association decided to cancel its December meeting because of a joint Christmas program for all schools in the district which will be presented Dec. 8 at the MacDonald School in Wellsville. The Executive Board will meet in December, but no date was set.

Wayne Hamilton, president, conducted business. He also gave the invocation and led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The minutes were read by Mrs. Jean Cupp, secretary. Mrs. Loretta Hawksworth, treasurer, submitted a report.

Mrs. Cupp read an article on the film, "Seconds for Survival," which will be shown at the January meeting. The group voted to purchase a $5 Health Bond.

Floyd Richards, chairman of the membership committee, reported a paid membership of 61. Richard Payne, chairman of the finance committee, reported on a sale of Christmas specialty items as a fund-raising project.

The fifth grade won the attendance banner. A candy sale followed. Refreshments were served by the sixth grade homeroom mothers, headed by Mrs. JoAnn Kornbau and Mrs. Phyllis Thrasher.

The next meeting will be Jan. 12 at 7:45 p. m.

West Beaver Schools Will Hold Open House

Parents of Western Beaver County School children will be able to visit the district's schools during "open house" Tuesday and Wednesday, Frank Meredith, supervising principal, said.

Open house was not held this week — National Education Week —due to other school activities. Parents may visit Fairview, Logan and Industry Schools Tuesday and Ray W. Snyder School, Wednesday. Hours both evenings will be 7 to 8:30.

Refreshments will be served at all four schools by cafeteria personnel of the Snyder and Fairviews Schools.

Dr. C. M. Mayberry presented an illustrated talk on a recent trip to Alaska at a meeting of the Fairview Parent - Teacher Association Thursday night at Hillcrest, near Wellsville. Some 100 attended.

Lester Bickle, principal, discussed the report card grading system. A question-and-answer period followed. Mrs. Jean Tipton, new nurse in the school district, was introduced.

The association decided to cancel its December meeting because of a joint Christmas program for all schools in the district which will be presented Dec. 8 at the MacDonald School in Wellsville. The Executive Board will meet in December, but no date was set.

Wayne Hamilton, president, conducted business. He also gave the invocation and led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The minutes were read by Mrs. Jean Cupp, secretary. Mrs. Loretta Hawksworth, treasurer, submitted a report.

Mrs. Cupp read an article on the film, "Seconds for Survival," which will be shown at the January meeting. The group voted to purchase a $5 Health Bond.

Floyd Richards, chairman of the membership committee, reported a paid membership of 61. Richard Payne, chairman of the finance committee, reported on a sale of Christmas specialty items as a fund-raising project.

The fifth grade won the attendance banner. A candy sale followed. Refreshments were served by the sixth grade homeroom mothers, headed by Mrs. JoAnn Kornbau and Mrs. Phyllis Thrasher.

The next meeting will be Jan. 12 at 7:45 p. m.

West Beaver Schools Will Hold Open House

Parents of Western Beaver County School children will be able to visit the district's schools during "open house" Tuesday and Wednesday, Frank Meredith, supervising principal, said.

Open house was not held this week — National Education Week —due to other school activities. Parents may visit Fairview, Logan and Industry Schools Tuesday and Ray W. Snyder School, Wednesday. Hours both evenings will be 7 to 8:30.

Refreshments will be served at all four schools by cafeteria personnel of the Snyder and Fairviews Schools.

Vote Expense Reports Filed

The first two reports of campaign expenses have been filed with the County Election Board as an aftermath of the general election Tuesday.

Both reports show no expenses. They were filed by Probate Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, re-elected on the non-partisan ballot without opposition, and the village of Leetonia, which had a $69,000 fire station bond issue at stake in the election. The Leetonia report was filed by M. P. Burick, clerk.

State law requires the reports of all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and from all committees which supported or opposed any candidate or issue. They must be filed by 4 p. m. Dec. 23.

County candidates file with the election board. Persons who sought state or U. S. congressional posts file with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Candidates for district office file with the Election Board in the most populous county in the district.

As most populous county in the 20-22nd State Senatorial District, the Columbiana County board receives the reports of the candidates in the four-county area.

The law fixes varying limits on campaign expenses. For instance, the "ceiling" for candidates for probate judge is $1,000 and the top limit for a candidate for state representative is $750. For all other county offices, the top is set at $500, plus $5 for each 100 votes over 5,000 cast for governor in the county in the November 1958 general election.

There is no limit in state law on committee expenditures, although reports are required. Open to public inspection, the reports must be kept on file at least two years.

Cleveland Area Jobless Amounts To Just Over 5%

CLEVELAND (AP) — Unemployment in greater Cleveland amounts to just a little over five per cent of the total working force compared with 6.4 per cent nationally.

This was announced Friday by Donald P. Smith, area director of the Ohio State Employment Service, who said employment has been increasing in this area but not at the rate that is usual in the fall.

Smith said there are disturbing elements in Cleveland's employment picture in that skilled workers are being laid off.

"This usually means that unskilled workers will be laid off, too," he said.

Employment in the Cleveland area increased two per cent to 695,800 between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1.

"Most of the gain was in nonmanufacturing," Smith said. "That went up 2.3 per cent. Manufacturing employment went up 1.6 per cent."

City Woman Recovers From Rare Operation

An East End woman is continuing to improve following a recent abdominal operation which has been described as the second such type of surgical effort attempted.

Mrs. Ruth Scott, 2200 Harvey Ave., underwent an operation for 5 multiple hernias at the New York Infirmary in which 15½ pounds of fat tissue was removed and some stomach area muscles were utilized to re-inforce the abdominal walls.

Mrs. Scott said the surgery was performed by a member of the Pack Medical Group and was preceded by only one previous similar operation on a New York woman about 30 days earlier, also involving skin grafts.

Mrs. Scott returned home last month after spending about 15 days in the hospital. She is the wife of the former city dog warden and used to sell dog licenses at the City Hall.

Monongahela's Parent Concern Changes Name

Stockholders of The West Penn Electric Company in a special meeting at New York, voted to change the company's name to Allegheny Power System, Inc.

The new New York Stock Exchange symbol for Allegheny Power common stock will be APW. It was used in trading that began Friday.

The system operates electric utilities in five states: Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

Principal subsidiaries are the Monongahela Power Co., the Potomac Edison Co. and West Penn Power Co. Monongahela serves Chester, Newell and other Hancock County communities.

Member Drive Set By YMCA Stamp Club

Plans were discussed for a membership drive at a meeting of the YMCA Stamp Club Friday night. Richard Smith, president, presided.

Max Gard and Mrs. Sadie Willis were received as new members. Eight senior and three junior members and three guests were present.

The next meeting Nov. 25 will feature a film from the Post Office Department, concerning the "Credo" series of stamps.

Independent Junior Colleges Urged By Ohio School Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A resolution calling for independent junior colleges in Ohio has been adopted by the Ohio School Board Association.

The resolution will be given to the legislative committee of the State Board of Education for possible submission to the 1961 legislature.

The legislature is expected to consider enactment of a program setting up either branch campuses for existing universities or independent junior colleges.

The association's new president, Robert West, school board member in the Wittman Exempted Village District near Cleveland, said branch colleges provide only courses where the credits can be transferred, enabling students to complete their college requirements at a four-year institution.

He said a two-year junior college, besides offering transfer courses, also must present adult, vocational and technical courses, which "are generally overlooked" in the branch campuses.

Delegates to the association's convention, which ended Friday, also recommended a six-point program of prerequisites for junior colleges:

1. A community wanting a college must display local initiative.
2. The community should retain control of the college and choose its administrators and professors through a board of citizens.
3. Support of the college should be divided between the state, the community and the students.
4. The state should coordinate the entire system of junior colleges.
5. The state and the community should jointly supply construction funds for capital outlay.
6. The colleges should be established through an enabling act permitting interested communities to vote on the colleges proposed for their areas.

West succeeded Clyde Crandall of Grove City as association president. John Patterson of Chesterhill moved up from second to first vice president. Edward Schumacher of Glendale was elected second vice president, the only office in which there is a vacancy yearly. Other officers move up automatically.

Insurance Company's Meeting Attracts 100

LISBON — Some 100 attended an advisory council of policy-holders of the Nationwide Insurance Co. Thursday night in the Methodist Church.

Principal speaker was George Bartelette of Canton, regional sales manager. Stanley Kienzle was program chairman.

Dean Rose gave a report on regional meetings held in Canton last spring. G. V. Weinstock, district sales manager, discussed the company's activities.

District delegates elected for 1961 are: Norman Eckfeld of Salem, M. V. Redpath of Columbiana, Fred Steele of Lisbon, Robert C. Burton of Lisbon and Daniel Wilson of East Liverpool.

Father Cited For Son Reading About West

BERLIN (AP)—An East German father has been given a six-month jail sentence for letting his son, 14, read Western literature.

The report in a Schwerin newspaper did not say which publications offended the Communist authorities, but lumped them all together as "dirty and obscene Western literature."

Killed On Bicycle

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—William Scott, 14, of Vienna, was killed Friday night when the bicycle he and a companion were riding was hit by a truck on Ohio 90 near Vienna. Ronald Wilson, 14, of near Vienna, was admitted to North Side Hospital at Youngstown in serious condition with head injuries.

Ike's Top Gardner Expects President To Visit Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—William Orr, head gardner at President Eisenhower's Scottish home, says he thinks the President will visit Scotland again.

"Personally I think he will be coming back to us because he hinted as much to the staff the last time he was here in 1959," said Orr.

Eisenhower's home is a 16-room apartment of Culzean Castle, which the Scottish people gave to him for life in appreciation of his World War II leadership.

It is the ancestral home of—of all people—the Kennedys. They are Scottish Kennedys, however, and claim no relation to President-elect John F. Kennedy whose ancestors came from Ireland.

Newell Band Parents Appeal For Rummage

An appeal for rummage has been made by the Newell Band Parents, who are planning a rummage sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the rear of the City Market Building near the Central Fire Station in East Liverpool.

Residents wishing to donate items for the sale may contact Mrs. Jennie Raimond or Mrs. Elmer Shepherd.

The organization also is selling Christmas wrapping paper and seals as a fund - raising project. A meeting will be held Tuesday night at 8 in the American Legion home with Mrs. Robert Ingram, president, presiding.

Veterans Day Fete Draws 90

About 90 attended an annual Veterans Day dinner of American Legion Post 70 in Wellsville Thursday night when Chester F. Stellar of Creston, state first vice commander, spoke on "Americanism."

Gold star mothers and fathers were honored guests.

Stellar, who will become state commander next year, pointed out he owes the Legion much because the organization gave him the opportunity to attend Ohio State University.

As a boy, he was presented a registered calf from a Cleveland post. Sold later at a livestock show—for the third highest price—the proceeds enabled him to attend college, Stellar said.

Stellar duplicated the act by giving a calf in 1952 to a Wayne County boy who also sold the animal and attended college with the proceeds.

Dinner was served by the auxiliary. The program committee included Clyde Hurd, commander, and Edward L. Self, first vice commander.

Guests included Mayor and Mrs. William Shoub. The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert Andrews of the First Christian Church. Fr. John Lyons of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church gave the benediction.

Man In 4-Hour Spree Wounds Wife, 2 Others

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus man went on a shooting spree late Friday and during a four-hour period he wounded his wife and two other people, police reported.

There was no immediate explanation for the shooting.

Detective Wayne Morgan said the alleged assailant, Richard W. Good, 46, was captured while hiding in a closet at the home of the last shooting victim, Juanita Williams, 47. Wounded in the abdomen, she was reported in fair condition at University Hospital.

A .38 caliber revolver, with three expended shells in it, was found under a couch in the Williams home.

Four hours before that shooting, in another residence a few blocks away, Good's wife, Lucille, 37, received a graze wound in the side, and Sephas Macklin Sr., 43, also was shot in the side. Mrs. Good was treated and released from the hospital. Macklin was reported in satisfactory condition after being admitted.

Good was held without charge in city jail.

Four Are Killed In 1-Car Mishap

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Four persons were killed today when the automobile in which they were riding went off Ohio 46 south of here and crashed into two utility poles. The highway patrol said the car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

The dead are: Gerald J. Gilliland, 26, of Linesville, Pa., believed to be the driver; James Manning, 29 and Orville Kirby, 37, both of Ashtabula; and Donald Rhodes, 41, of North Kingsville.

The accident occurred at 3 a.m. The highway patrol said the 1958 model automobile was northbound on the road, 20 miles west of the Pennsylvania line

The car failed to negotiate a right curve in the road and went off the left side of the road, smashing into the two poles. All the occupants were thrown from the hurtling vehicle, the patrol said.

Ohio Gives OK To Tap Lake In Water Shortage

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Clinton Water Co. says the Ohio Natural Resources Department has given emergency permission to tap a state lake in Clinton County for water if needed in a shortage.

A spokesman for the firm said Friday, however, it will need up to five miles of special pipe to tap Lake Cowan and the pipe is not available.

City officials have asked residents and the Clinton County Air Force Base to cut back their use of water.

The water firm said it has only a one month supply left and it will take a long rain to bring a reservoir up to the safety margin again.

Heir To Fortune Plays Santa, Needs Money

READING, England (AP) — Francis Charles Joseph Vane-Tempest, 49, heir to the wealthy Lord Londonderry, is playing Santa Claus in a local store. He says he needs the money.

One day the family estates will be Vane-Tempest's. Meanwhile, he's making the best of the latest of his odd jobs.

Charter Issued

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has issued a non - profit corporation charter to a group known as the Ohio Association of Attorneys General. The organization, composed of all the living former attorneys general, their first assistants and chief counsels, is designed to prevent any changes in that elective office to an appointive status.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of SHERMAN LONG, who passed away Nov. 13, 1958.
His helping hand was always first
To render any aid he could,
His voice was always raised in praise;
His words were wise and good.
Dear Father, since you've gone away,
The ones you loved so true,
Try hard to carry on the way
We know you'd want us to. — Sadly missed by wife and children.

IN loving memory of our dear Son Robert Wolfe, and his sons Randy, Robert, and Rickey Wolfe, who passed away 2 years ago today. We did not know the pain they had or hear their final sign. We only know they passed away without a last goodbye. Gone, gone, forever, How we miss their smiling faces. But they left us to remember none on earth could take their place. A happy home we once enjoyed, how sweet the memory still, But death has left loneliness the world can never fill. — Sadly missed by Mother, Father, brothers, sisters, and rest of Family.

Vote Expense Reports Filed

The first two reports of campaign expenses have been filed with the County Election Board as an aftermath of the general election Tuesday.

Both reports show no expenses. They were filed by Probate Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, re-elected on the non-partisan ballot without opposition, and the village of Leetonia, which had a $69,000 fire station bond issue at stake in the election. The Leetonia report was filed by M. P. Burick, clerk.

State law requires the reports of all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and from all committees which supported or opposed any candidate or issue. They must be filed by 4 p. m. Dec. 23.

County candidates file with the election board. Persons who sought state or U. S. congressional posts file with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Candidates for district office file with the Election Board in the most populous county in the district.

As most populous county in the 20-22nd State Senatorial District, the Columbiana County board receives the reports of the candidates in the four-county area.

The law fixes varying limits on campaign expenses. For instance, the "ceiling" for candidates for probate judge is $1,000 and the top limit for a candidate for state representative is $750. For all other county offices, the top is set at $500, plus $5 for each 100 votes over 5,000 cast for governor in the county in the November 1958 general election.

There is no limit in state law on committee expenditures, although reports are required. Open to public inspection, the reports must be kept on file at least two years.

Cleveland Area Jobless Amounts To Just Over 5%

CLEVELAND (AP) — Unemployment in greater Cleveland amounts to just a little over five per cent of the total working force compared with 6.4 per cent nationally.

This was announced Friday by Donald P. Smith, area director of the Ohio State Employment Service, who said employment has been increasing in this area but not at the rate that is usual in the fall.

Smith said there are disturbing elements in Cleveland's employment picture in that skilled workers are being laid off.

"This usually means that unskilled workers will be laid off, too," he said.

Employment in the Cleveland area increased two per cent to 695,800 between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1.

"Most of the gain was in nonmanufacturing," Smith said. "That went up 2.3 per cent. Manufacturing employment went up 1.6 per cent."

City Woman Recovers From Rare Operation

An East End woman is continuing to improve following a recent abdominal operation which has been described as the second such type of surgical effort attempted.

Mrs. Ruth Scott, 2200 Harvey Ave., underwent an operation for 5 multiple hernias at the New York Infirmary in which 15½ pounds of fat tissue was removed and some stomach area muscles were utilized to re-inforce the abdominal walls.

Mrs. Scott said the surgery was performed by a member of the Pack Medical Group and was preceded by only one previous similar operation on a New York woman about 30 days earlier, also involving skin grafts.

Mrs. Scott returned home last month after spending about 15 days in the hospital. She is the wife of the former city dog warden and used to sell dog licenses at the City Hall.

Monongahela's Parent Concern Changes Name

Stockholders of The West Penn Electric Company in a special meeting at New York, voted to change the company's name to Allegheny Power System, Inc.

The new New York Stock Exchange symbol for Allegheny Power common stock will be APW. It was used in trading that began Friday.

The system operates electric utilities in five states: Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

Principal subsidiaries are the Monongahela Power Co., the Potomac Edison Co. and West Penn Power Co. Monongahela serves Chester, Newell and other Hancock County communities.

Member Drive Set By YMCA Stamp Club

Plans were discussed for a membership drive at a meeting of the YMCA Stamp Club Friday night. Richard Smith, president, presided.

Max Gard and Mrs. Sadie Willis were received as new members. Eight senior and three junior members and three guests were present.

The next meeting Nov. 25 will feature a film from the Post Office Department, concerning the "Credo" series of stamps.

Independent Junior Colleges Urged By Ohio School Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A resolution calling for independent junior colleges in Ohio has been adopted by the Ohio School Board Association.

The resolution will be given to the legislative committee of the State Board of Education for possible submission to the 1961 legislature.

The legislature is expected to consider enactment of a program setting up either branch campuses for existing universities or independent junior colleges.

The association's new president, Robert West, school board member in the Wittman Exempted Village District near Cleveland, said branch colleges provide only courses where the credits can be transferred, enabling students to complete their college requirements at a four-year institution.

He said a two-year junior college, besides offering transfer courses, also must present adult, vocational and technical courses, which "are generally overlooked" in the branch campuses.

Delegates to the association's convention, which ended Friday, also recommended a six-point program of prerequisites for junior colleges:

1. A community wanting a college must display local initiative.
2. The community should retain control of the college and choose its administrators and professors through a board of citizens.
3. Support of the college should be divided between the state, the community and the students.
4. The state should coordinate the entire system of junior colleges.
5. The state and the community should jointly supply construction funds for capital outlay.
6. The colleges should be established through an enabling act permitting interested communities to vote on the colleges proposed for their areas.

West succeeded Clyde Crandall of Grove City as association president. John Patterson of Chesterhill moved up from second to first vice president. Edward Schumacher of Glendale was elected second vice president, the only office in which there is a vacancy yearly. Other officers move up automatically.

Insurance Company's Meeting Attracts 100

LISBON — Some 100 attended an advisory council of policy-holders of the Nationwide Insurance Co. Thursday night in the Methodist Church.

Principal speaker was George Bartelette of Canton, regional sales manager. Stanley Kienzle was program chairman.

District delegates elected for 1961 are: Norman Eckfeld of Salem, M. V. Redpath of Columbiana, Fred Steele of Lisbon, Robert C. Burton of Lisbon and Daniel Wilson of East Liverpool.

Father Cited For Son Reading About West

BERLIN (AP)—An East German father has been given a six-month jail sentence for letting his son, 14, read Western literature.

The report in a Schwerin newspaper did not say which publications offended the Communist authorities, but lumped them all together as "dirty and obscene Western literature."

Killed On Bicycle

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—William Scott, 14, of Vienna, was killed Friday night when the bicycle he and a companion were riding was hit by a truck on Ohio 90 near Vienna. Ronald Wilson, 14, of near Vienna, was admitted to North Side Hospital at Youngstown in serious condition with head injuries.

Ike's Top Gardner Expects President To Visit Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—William Orr, head gardner at President Eisenhower's Scottish home, says he thinks the President will visit Scotland again.

"Personally I think he will be coming back to us because he hinted as much to the staff the last time he was here in 1959," said Orr.

Eisenhower's home is a 16-room apartment of Culzean Castle, which the Scottish people gave to him for life in appreciation of his World War II leadership.

It is the ancestral home of—of all people—the Kennedys. They are Scottish Kennedys, however, and claim no relation to President-elect John F. Kennedy whose ancestors came from Ireland.

Newell Band Parents Appeal For Rummage

An appeal for rummage has been made by the Newell Band Parents, who are planning a rummage sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the rear of the City Market Building near the Central Fire Station in East Liverpool.

Residents wishing to donate items for the sale may contact Mrs. Jennie Raimond or Mrs. Elmer Shepherd.

The organization also is selling Christmas wrapping paper and seals as a fund - raising project. A meeting will be held Tuesday night at 8 in the American Legion home with Mrs. Robert Ingram, president, presiding.

Veterans Day Fete Draws 90

About 90 attended an annual Veterans Day dinner of American Legion Post 70 in Wellsville Thursday night when Chester F. Stellar of Creston, state first vice commander, spoke on "Americanism."

Gold star mothers and fathers were honored guests.

Stellar, who will become state commander next year, pointed out he owes the Legion much because the organization gave him the opportunity to attend Ohio State University.

As a boy, he was presented a registered calf from a Cleveland post. Sold later at a livestock show—for the third highest price—the proceeds enabled him to attend college, Stellar said.

Stellar duplicated the act by giving a calf in 1952 to a Wayne County boy who also sold the animal and attended college with the proceeds.

Dinner was served by the auxiliary. The program committee included Clyde Hurd, commander, and Edward L. Self, first vice commander.

Guests included Mayor and Mrs. William Shoub. The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert Andrews of the First Christian Church. Fr. John Lyons of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church gave the benediction.

Man In 4-Hour Spree Wounds Wife, 2 Others

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus man went on a shooting spree late Friday and during a four-hour period he wounded his wife and two other people, police reported.

There was no immediate explanation for the shooting.

Detective Wayne Morgan said the alleged assailant, Richard W. Good, 46, was captured while hiding in a closet at the home of the last shooting victim, Juanita Williams, 47. Wounded in the abdomen, she was reported in fair condition at University Hospital.

A .38 caliber revolver, with three expended shells in it, was found under a couch in the Williams home.

Four hours before that shooting, in another residence a few blocks away, Good's wife, Lucille, 37, received a graze wound in the side, and Sephas Macklin Sr., 43, also was shot in the side. Mrs. Good was treated and released from the hospital. Macklin was reported in satisfactory condition after being admitted.

Good was held without charge in city jail.

Four Are Killed In 1-Car Mishap

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Four persons were killed today when the automobile in which they were riding went off Ohio 46 south of here and crashed into two utility poles. The highway patrol said the car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

The dead are: Gerald J. Gilliland, 26, of Linesville, Pa., believed to be the driver; James Manning, 29 and Orville Kirby, 37, both of Ashtabula; and Donald Rhodes, 41, of North Kingsville.

The accident occurred at 3 a.m. The highway patrol said the 1958 model automobile was northbound on the road, 20 miles west of the Pennsylvania line

The car failed to negotiate a right curve in the road and went off the left side of the road, smashing into the two poles. All the occupants were thrown from the hurtling vehicle, the patrol said.

Ohio Gives OK To Tap Lake In Water Shortage

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Clinton Water Co. says the Ohio Natural Resources Department has given emergency permission to tap a state lake in Clinton County for water if needed in a shortage.

A spokesman for the firm said Friday, however, it will need up to five miles of special pipe to tap Lake Cowan and the pipe is not available.

City officials have asked residents and the Clinton County Air Force Base to cut back their use of water.

The water firm said it has only a one month supply left and it will take a long rain to bring a reservoir up to the safety margin again.

Heir To Fortune Plays Santa, Needs Money

READING, England (AP) — Francis Charles Joseph Vane-Tempest, 49, heir to the wealthy Lord Londonderry, is playing Santa Claus in a local store. He says he needs the money.

One day the family estates will be Vane-Tempest's. Meanwhile, he's making the best of the latest of his odd jobs.

Charter Issued

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has issued a non - profit corporation charter to a group known as the Ohio Association of Attorneys General. The organization, composed of all the living former attorneys general, their first assistants and chief counsels, is designed to prevent any changes in that elective office to an appointive status.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of SHERMAN LONG, who passed away Nov. 13, 1958.
His helping hand was always first
To render any aid he could,
His voice was always raised in praise;
His words were wise and good.
Dear Father, since you've gone away,
The ones you loved so true,
Try hard to carry on the way
We know you'd want us to. — Sadly missed by wife and children.

IN loving memory of our dear Son Robert Wolfe, and his sons Randy, Robert, and Rickey Wolfe, who passed away 2 years ago today. We did not know the pain they had or hear their final sign. We only know they passed away without a last goodbye. Gone, gone, forever, How we miss their smiling faces. But they left us to remember none on earth could take their place. A happy home we once enjoyed, how sweet the memory still, But death has left loneliness the world can never fill. — Sadly missed by Mother, Father, brothers, sisters, and rest of Family.

TRAINING CAR PRESENTED. A 1961 Chevrolet sedan was turned over to Beaver Local High School Friday for use in the driver training program. Mike Turk, local agency dealer, hands over the agreement to Lee Kirkland, school principal, as Bruce Costanzo, left, driver training instructor, looks on. The Columbiana County Motor Club co-ordinates the driver training program in eight county high schools, negotiating for the cars, securing licenses and making other arrangements.

Nixon, Family Start Vacation At Miami, Fla.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon is back on familiar Florida vacation ground, and looking as carefree as before the days of the gruelling presidential campaign.

Comment on the lost election was out, the vice president said. "If I say anything, it might be misconstrued."

Nixon and his family plan to vacation at Key Biscayne, Miami harbor resort island where they were frequent visitors before Nixon won the Republican nomination to succeed President Eisenhower.

The site is about 80 miles south of Palm Beach, where President-elect John F. Kennedy arrived Friday night for a working vacation at the Kennedy family's oceanside home.

The vice president said he knew nothing of plans of Republican national committee to start legal action that might lead to a recount of votes in 11 states.

'Beauty And Beast'

Beaver Students Will Give Annual Children's Play

"Beauty and the Beast," the third annual children's play presentation by the Beaver Local High School Masquers Club, will start a series of area performances next Saturday.

A new version of the traditional fairy tale, created by Harry West, faculty director, will be performed at the Beaver Local High School at 8 p. m.

West, who had previous experience with children's theater in New Mexico, said the play features portable scenery and props handled by stage crews concealed in the manner of the Oriental theater.

"From experience it has been found the child's imagination is stimulated more by simple, colorful sets even when they are manipulated in front of the audience than by the usual elaborate sets of conventional plays," he explained.

The children's plays have proven so successful, they have replaced they adult play formerly presented in the fall at the high school. "Alice in Wonderland" and "Snow White" were given previously.

The new play is scheduled at Fairfield School Nov. 23, in the forenoon, at New Waterford in the afternoon, Westgate Nov. 26 and Salem Dec. 10.

The cast includes Tom Shallenberger, Roger Vincent, Rick Zeigler, Ruthanne Cunningham, Esther Bryan, Linda Baumgardner, Nancy Schiff, Beverly Windle, Sue Nulf, John Plate, Rudy Hoffman, Steve Rayburn, Sherman Griggs, Franklin Griggs, Larry Travis and Shirley Pancake.

Miss Donna Russell is assistant director. Music was arranged by Miss Carol Pittenger, faculty director of vocal music, and art work was done under supervision of Mrs. Lucille Possage.

The club is sponsoring a float in the Christmas parade in East Liverpool Nov. 25, and publicity help will be given by the Child Study Group and Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations for the Westgate performance.

Dave Brugh is stage manager; Rick Zeigler, student director; Steve Rayburn, assistant, and Ralph Urmson, publicity and Tickets chairman.

Other committees are: Stage — John Rambo, Ross Schmitt, Bob Powell and Gary Zimmerman; Props — Carole Noel, chairman, Ora Mae Wolfe, Maxine Dailey, Everlyn Miller, Jane Ward and Candy Dunn.

Lights — Kenny Dixon, chairman, and Larry DeLong; Sound—Barbara Montgomery, chairman, Dail Barnhouse and Marcia Dutterer; House Mistress — Dottie Thompson, chairman, Paul Bryan, Marilyn Smith, Jewell Bowman and Marcia Emmerling.

Costumes — Mary Plate, chairman, Sandy Pancake and Candy Carron, and Make Up — Anne Raley, chairman, and Mary Jo Lynn.

Employment Data Will Be Collected

Information to be used in compiling national figures on employment and unemployment will be collected locally during next week in the Current Population Survey, it was announced today by Director Edgar L. Bryan of the U. S. Census Bureau's regional field office in Pittsburgh.

The information collected from local families will be combined with that collected in 329 other areas of the country to provide the national estimates. Approximately 35,000 households are included each month in the Current Population Survey.

These households are selected at random under the Census Bureau's scientific sampling program to provide a representative cross-section of all classes of the population, and all types of areas in the country — large cities, small towns, rural areas, and so forth.

Facts on employment and unemployment collected locally are forwarded to Census Bureau headquarters in Washington to be processed by the bureau's electronic computer, known as Univac, to provide the national estimates. The national report covering the information collected next week will be issued in Washington early in December.

Current Population Survey information will be collected from a number of local families.

South Side Auxiliary Gives $250 To Post

A donation of $250 to South Side American Legion Post 952 was made at a meeting of the post auxiliary Friday evening in the post home near Hookstown.

The post had helped the auxiliary during the recent Hookstown Grange fair and the auxiliary decided to make the donation.

The auxiliary will help serve refreshments during the post's turkey shoot next Saturday from noon to 9 p. m. at the post. There will be free coffee and shoot prizes. Hot dogs and pie will be sold by the auxiliary.

Mrs. Ruth Trimble, president, presided. Next meeting is Dec. 9.

West Point Grange Plans Penny Supper

WEST POINT — The West Point Grange met Friday evening at the Grange Hall with Dallas Rupp, master, presiding.

Final plans were made for the penny supper to be held Dec. 3 at the West Point School with servings from 5 to 8 p. m.

A Thanksgiving theme was used for last night's meeting, which included two readings, "First Thanksgiving," by Mrs. Lura Carnes, and "Buying a Thanksgiving Turkey," by Mrs. Ruth Barnes. Gloria and Judy Cusick sang a duet and there were stunts and group singing.

The next meeting is Nov. 23.

Boy Wounded Fatally

CLEVELAND (AP) — Christopher Waller, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Waller of Cleveland, was wounded fatally Friday while he and a 5-year-old companion were playing with a revolver at the Waller home. He died in St. Luke's Hospital about 10 minutes after being admitted.

Hammondsville Pair Visits At Bridgeport

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cochran of Hammondsville spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Smith at Bridgeport, Ohio. Mrs. Smith is spending several days with the Cochrans.

The Rev. and Mrs. James Sivard of Cleveland were recent visitors of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Sivard.

Spcl. 4C Earl (Barney) Cronin, son of Mrs. Eva Cronin, has arrived in Korea, where he will round out 20 years of Army service. His wife remained at Ft. Wood, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Flave Pinkerton have moved to Wellsville where they purchased the Ethel Swift property on Main St.

Tardy Parker Fined

LISBON — Olan Culbertson of R.D. 2 was fined $10 and costs Friday by Mayor Dean Stockman for failing to pay five parking tickets. Police said he ignored a request to pay the tickets.

TRAINING CAR PRESENTED. A 1961 Chevrolet sedan was turned over to Beaver Local High School Friday for use in the driver training program. Mike Turk, local agency dealer, hands over the agreement to Lee Kirkland, school principal, as Bruce Costanzo, left, driver training instructor, looks on. The Columbiana County Motor Club co-ordinates the driver training program in eight county high schools, negotiating for the cars, securing licenses and making other arrangements.

Nixon, Family Start Vacation At Miami, Fla.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon is back on familiar Florida vacation ground, and looking as carefree as before the days of the gruelling presidential campaign.

Comment on the lost election was out, the vice president said. "If I say anything, it might be misconstrued."

Nixon and his family plan to vacation at Key Biscayne, Miami harbor resort island where they were frequent visitors before Nixon won the Republican nomination to succeed President Eisenhower.

The site is about 80 miles south of Palm Beach, where President-elect John F. Kennedy arrived Friday night for a working vacation at the Kennedy family's oceanside home.

The vice president said he knew nothing of plans of Republican national committee to start legal action that might lead to a recount of votes in 11 states.

'Beauty And Beast'

Beaver Students Will Give Annual Children's Play

"Beauty and the Beast," the third annual children's play presentation by the Beaver Local High School Masquers Club, will start a series of area performances next Saturday.

A new version of the traditional fairy tale, created by Harry West, faculty director, will be performed at the Beaver Local High School at 8 p. m.

West, who had previous experience with children's theater in New Mexico, said the play features portable scenery and props handled by stage crews concealed in the manner of the Oriental theater.

"From experience it has been found the child's imagination is stimulated more by simple, colorful sets even when they are manipulated in front of the audience than by the usual elaborate sets of conventional plays," he explained.

The children's plays have proven so successful, they have replaced they adult play formerly presented in the fall at the high school. "Alice in Wonderland" and "Snow White" were given previously.

The new play is scheduled at Fairfield School Nov. 23, in the forenoon, at New Waterford in the afternoon, Westgate Nov. 26 and Salem Dec. 10.

The cast includes Tom Shallenberger, Roger Vincent, Rick Zeigler, Ruthanne Cunningham, Esther Bryan, Linda Baumgardner, Nancy Schiff, Beverly Windle, Sue Nulf, John Plate, Rudy Hoffman, Steve Rayburn, Sherman Griggs, Franklin Griggs, Larry Travis and Shirley Pancake.

Miss Donna Russell is assistant director. Music was arranged by Miss Carol Pittenger, faculty director of vocal music, and art work was done under supervision of Mrs. Lucille Possage.

The club is sponsoring a float in the Christmas parade in East Liverpool Nov. 25, and publicity help will be given by the Child Study Group and Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations for the Westgate performance.

Dave Brugh is stage manager; Rick Zeigler, student director; Steve Rayburn, assistant, and Ralph Urmson, publicity and Tickets chairman.

Other committees are: Stage — John Rambo, Ross Schmitt, Bob Powell and Gary Zimmerman; Props — Carole Noel, chairman, Ora Mae Wolfe, Maxine Dailey, Everlyn Miller, Jane Ward and Candy Dunn.

Lights — Kenny Dixon, chairman, and Larry DeLong; Sound—Barbara Montgomery, chairman, Dail Barnhouse and Marcia Dutterer; House Mistress — Dottie Thompson, chairman, Paul Bryan, Marilyn Smith, Jewell Bowman and Marcia Emmerling.

Costumes — Mary Plate, chairman, Sandy Pancake and Candy Carron, and Make Up — Anne Raley, chairman, and Mary Jo Lynn.

Employment Data Will Be Collected

Information to be used in compiling national figures on employment and unemployment will be collected locally during next week in the Current Population Survey, it was announced today by Director Edgar L. Bryan of the U. S. Census Bureau's regional field office in Pittsburgh.

The information collected from local families will be combined with that collected in 329 other areas of the country to provide the national estimates. Approximately 35,000 households are included each month in the Current Population Survey.

These households are selected at random under the Census Bureau's scientific sampling program to provide a representative cross-section of all classes of the population, and all types of areas in the country — large cities, small towns, rural areas, and so forth.

Facts on employment and unemployment collected locally are forwarded to Census Bureau headquarters in Washington to be processed by the bureau's electronic computer, known as Univac, to provide the national estimates. The national report covering the information collected next week will be issued in Washington early in December.

Introducing: THE GIRL SCOUT ROSE

To celebrate their approaching 50th anniversary, Girl Scouts will plant a new golden rose to help beautify America's towns and cities

By LYNN LANDMAN

A troop leader and Intermediate Girl Scouts watch a Senior Scout at work in a rose garden.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARIES are always something special. But when some 3½ million members of a "family" prepare for a golden anniversary, that is "special."

On March 12, 1962, the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. will be 50 years old. In the half-century since a Southern gentlewoman named Juliette Gordon Low organized 12 young girls in Savannah, Ga., into the first Girl Scout troop, almost 17 million Americans—adults as well as girls between the ages of seven and 17—have been Girl Scouts. Every American family, whether they live in a teeming city or a tiny hamlet, has been touched by Girl Scouting.

A charming tribute will be paid to the Girl Scouts in honor of their approaching 50th anniversary. This week, a beautiful golden rose—named the Girl Scout Rose—will be introduced to the American public and to Girl Scouts convening for their 35th convention in St. Louis, Mo.

The first bouquet of Girl Scout Roses (see cover) will be presented to the president of the organization, Mrs. Charles U. Culmer. The city of St. Louis will receive a gift of rosebushes to start a Golden Blossom Girl Scout Garden at the City Hall Plaza.

The Girl Scout Rose, which bears clusters of up to 15 blossoms on each stem, was developed by the eminent hybridist, Eugene Boerner, director of research for Jackson & Perkins Co., one of the world's leading rose nurseries. Despite its delicate appearance, it will grow anywhere in America—even in deserts of the West and the frozen earth of Alaska. Since Girl Scouts, as well as roses, flourish in these climes, by the summer of 1962 all of our vast country will be abloom with Girl Scout Roses and other golden blossoms.

The rose is part of a program called "Blossoms for the Birthday Years," and, in celebration of their 50th birthday and as a token of their pledge to "Honor the Past—Serve the Future," Girl Scouts will beautify their surroundings by planting it and other blooms.

From the tiniest 7-year-old Brownie to the most knowledgeable 17-year-old Senior, Girl Scouts will "scout their neighborhoods," looking for suitable sites on which to start Golden Blossom Girl Scout Gardens. Village squares, shopping centers, parks, hospital and library grounds, city halls, old peoples' homes, church and synagogue grounds—all will be beautified by the girls in green. A golden crop of crocuses, tulips, azaleas, daffodils, chrysanthemums, sunflowers, marigolds—and roses, of course—will emblazon the Girl Scout colors, green and gold, on the landscape.

GIRL SCOUTS who live in large cities will take part in this program, too. They will plant window boxes with yellow nasturtiums and cucumber, tomato, and squash plants, all of which have yellow flowers. They will prepare terrariums with small yellow blossoms and bring them to shut-ins in hospitals and other institutions. They will take raw materials—seeds, pots, etc.—to orphanages and teach the youngsters how to grow and care for plants. They will, in short, use all their ingenuity to bring the joy of growing things to all.

Gardening has always been an important activity in Girl Scouting. In 1917, Juliette Gordon Low wrote: "Now what about the gardens, for it goes without saying that Girl Scouts must have gardens. Getting right down and smelling the fresh soil is good for anyone. It is mother earth's own breath. Watching the growth of our seeds is a veritable joy of joys."

If the gardens planted by Girl Scouts flourish as the 50-year-old organization has, all America will enjoy the experience of watching beauty bloom.

Relief can come twice as fast

Science proves Absorbine Jr. acts on tired, aching muscles to reduce fatigue itself— to bring relief twice as fast

Now science proves tired, aching muscles recover twice as fast with Absorbine Jr. as when "nature takes its course."

Medical experts, using the new Electromyograph, prove Absorbine Jr. can bring fatigued muscles back twice as fast as nature can.

Whenever muscles become stiff and sore from overexertion, use refreshing Absorbine Jr. See how much faster you feel better.

HIGHWAY SUICIDE— OUR NEWEST HAZARD

Every driver owes it to himself to heed the advice in this eye-opening report on one-car accidents

By ALFRED BALK

TWILIGHT HAD SETTLED on a highway near Madison, Wis., as a salesman began the last leg of his homeward trip. An experienced and cautious motorist, the father of two, he was driving about 55 miles an hour along familiar roadway. Suddenly, for a reason still unknown, his auto veered onto the shoulder, lurched momentarily back toward the pavement edge, then flipped upward on two wheels, jumped the ditch, and smashed against a tree.

The driver died instantly.

Hardly a dramatic accident. Certainly, a far cry from rending grand-slam collisions normally associated with our yearly traffic toll of 40,000 deaths and 1,400,000 injuries.

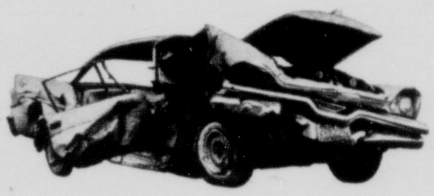
Yet, though collisions kill—and mightily—it is not the high-speed two-car smashup which alone perturbs safety experts today. Rather, their fastest-growing problem is the increasing regularity with which a motorist, with no other car around him, careens off the road to his death!

Of all traffic deaths in 1957, the National Safety Council reports, some 14,000—nearly two of every five—were in autos untouched by another car. Perhaps more startling, on nonurban highways, where three-fourths of all traffic fatalities occur, careening-off-the-roadway mishaps were twice as deadly as head-on collisions and sideswipes combined!

Thus, the odds are nearing 50-50 that if you die on the highway, it won't be due to the "other guy" at all. Your killer will be yourself! How?

All too readily, statistics show, you may fall asleep and veer out of control into a ditch, viaduct, pole, or tree. You may turn a radio dial, light a cigarette, close a window, eat a sandwich, take off your hat, quiet a youngster, steal a kiss, or look at a road map—and in that split second you could be doomed!

You may hit a hole, a bump, a tree limb, a hubcap, a soft shoulder, or skid in the rain or on gravel. You may round a corner too fast, decide to make a turn too late, misjudge a curve, or shoot over a hilltop too suddenly to stop for an unexpected obstacle. You may have had "one too many," or you may simply become dreamy from fatigue or "turnpike hypnosis."



Forty times every day—roughly twice every hour—death needs no more than any one of these invitations.

Too easily, records mutely testify, a situation arises from which you cannot—or don't know how to—extricate yourself in the brief seconds that fate allows. Too readily, the move you make proves wrong, with life as the forfeit.

"The puzzling question," says James Stannard Baker, research director of the Northwestern University Traffic Institute, "is why. Divided highways, we know, are cutting collisions, making the one-car accident our most ominous problem for the future."

What's known about the problem now? Speed seemingly is a fatal ingredient, but not in the proportion you would assume—for more than half of all highway fatalities involve speeds under 50 miles an hour, and this is considered to be a "moderate" figure for most open-road driving today.

Nor are bad roads to blame. A Pennsylvania Turnpike motorist, for example, veered off a straight section of highway at 60 miles an hour—committing suicide while picking up his sunglasses.

Nor is it inexperienced drivers. A soldier who had just won a military driving award, for instance, went to sleep at the wheel in Missouri, killing himself and two buddies because they tried to go too far on a weekend pass.

Top traffic researchers have hung a priority tag on studies of this problem. Among them are Dr. Herbert J. Stack, of the New York University Safety Center; Dr. John O. Moore, head of Cornell University's Crash Injury Research Foundation; the National Safety Council, and others.

State highway departments in Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, California, and Ohio also have made analyses. Their recommendations, still tentative to date, include these:

1. Beware of excessive speed—not 70 or 60 or 50 mph, but speed relative to road conditions or potential hazards. Never get complacent, even at "moderate" speeds.

2. Be 100 percent attentive on every type of highway: turnpike, two-lane state road, or unimproved back roads. Surprisingly, the odds are roughly the same on each type of highway.

3. Don't begin a trip if you're fatigued before getting behind the wheel. Driver error is the cause of virtually every one-car accident. It increases with fatigue; careening-off-the-road mishaps always zoom on weekends, when drives are longer, even if traffic is light!

4. Be equally careful in daylight or darkness, good weather or bad. Six-tenths of all deaths in one-car smashups on turnpikes occur in daytime; more than half of these mishaps occur on dry pavement under fair skies.

5. Be watchful on every curve or when turning onto another roadway. Speed "creeps up" and can easily throw you on a turn.

6. Be fully alert for the unexpected—even on a straight road—and know what to do. In a skid, don't slam on your brakes; turn with the skid and let the car right itself, or you will roll. If you have a blowout, or a wheel drops onto the shoulder, never try to "yank" yourself back until you've slowed to a safe speed.

7. Know your limitations. You are most susceptible to careening off the road if you're under 25, inexperienced, have been drinking, or are seriously worried or emotionally upset. But middle-aged, experienced, sober, unruffled drivers die due to inattention or the same judgment errors, too. Every motorist could profit from a good driver-training course.

Don't carry over expressway speeds to other roads. Stop driving when you find your car weaving, or road signs and cars pass by before you are aware of them.

In short, beware of the "other guy"—but be most concerned about yourself!

Relief can come twice as fast

Science proves Absorbine Jr. acts on tired, aching muscles to reduce fatigue itself— to bring relief twice as fast

Now science proves tired, aching muscles recover twice as fast with Absorbine Jr. as when "nature takes its course."

Medical experts, using the new Electromyograph, prove Absorbine Jr. can bring fatigued muscles back twice as fast as nature can.

Absorbine Jr. treats the cause of sore, aching muscles because it dilates peripheral blood vessel walls. It speeds blood flow at the point of pain and helps fatigued muscles get back to normal faster.

Whenever muscles become stiff and sore from overexertion, use refreshing Absorbine Jr. See how much faster you feel better.

HIGHWAY SUICIDE— OUR NEWEST HAZARD

TWILIGHT HAD SETTLED on a highway near Madison, Wis., as a salesman began the last leg of his homeward trip. An experienced and cautious motorist, the father of two, he was driving about 55 miles an hour along familiar roadway. Suddenly, for a reason still unknown, his auto veered onto the shoulder, lurched momentarily back toward the pavement edge, then flipped upward on two wheels, jumped the ditch, and smashed against a tree.

The driver died instantly.

Hardly a dramatic accident. Certainly, a far cry from rending grand-slam collisions normally associated with our yearly traffic toll of 40,000 deaths and 1,400,000 injuries.

Yet, though collisions kill—and mightily—it is not the high-speed two-car smashup which alone perturbs safety experts today. Rather, their fastest-growing problem is the increasing regularity with which a motorist, with no other car around him, careens off the road to his death!

Of all traffic deaths in 1957, the National Safety Council reports, some 14,000—nearly two of every five—were in autos untouched by another car. Perhaps more startling, on nonurban highways, where three-fourths of all traffic fatalities occur, careening-off-the-roadway mishaps were twice as deadly as head-on collisions and sideswipes combined!

Thus, the odds are nearing 50-50 that if you die on the highway, it won't be due to the "other guy" at all. Your killer will be yourself! How?

All too readily, statistics show, you may fall asleep and veer out of control into a ditch, viaduct, pole, or tree. You may turn a radio dial, light a cigarette, close a window, eat a sandwich, take off your hat, quiet a youngster, steal a kiss, or look at a road map—and in that split second you could be doomed!

You may hit a hole, a bump, a tree limb, a hubcap, a soft shoulder, or skid in the rain or on gravel. You may round a corner too fast, decide to make a turn too late, misjudge a curve, or shoot over a hilltop too suddenly to stop for an unexpected obstacle. You may have had "one too many," or you may simply become dreamy from fatigue or "turnpike hypnosis."

Forty times every day—roughly twice every hour—death needs no more than any one of these invitations.

Too easily, records mutely testify, a situation arises from which you cannot—or don't know how to—extricate yourself in the brief seconds that fate allows. Too readily, the move you make proves wrong, with life as the forfeit.

"The puzzling question," says James Stannard Baker, research director of the Northwestern University Traffic Institute, "is why. Divided highways, we know, are cutting collisions, making the one-car accident our most ominous problem for the future."

What's known about the problem now? Speed seemingly is a fatal ingredient, but not in the proportion you would assume—for more than half of all highway fatalities involve speeds under 50 miles an hour, and this is considered to be a "moderate" figure for most open-road driving today.

Nor are bad roads to blame. A Pennsylvania Turnpike motorist, for example, veered off a straight section of highway at 60 miles an hour—committing suicide while picking up his sunglasses.

Nor is it inexperienced drivers. A soldier who had just won a military driving award, for instance, went to sleep at the wheel in Missouri, killing himself and two buddies because they tried to go too far on a weekend pass.

Top traffic researchers have hung a priority tag on studies of this problem. Among them are Dr. Herbert J. Stack, of the New York University Safety Center; Dr. John O. Moore, head of Cornell University's Crash Injury Research Foundation; the National Safety Council, and others.

State highway departments in Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, California, and Ohio also have made analyses. Their recommendations, still tentative to date, include these:

1. Beware of excessive speed—not 70 or 60 or 50 mph, but speed relative to road conditions or potential hazards. Never get complacent, even at "moderate" speeds.

2. Be 100 percent attentive on every type of highway: turnpike, two-lane state road, or unimproved back roads. Surprisingly, the odds are roughly the same on each type of highway.

3. Don't begin a trip if you're fatigued before getting behind the wheel. Driver error is the cause of virtually every one-car accident. It increases with fatigue; careening-off-the-road mishaps always zoom on weekends, when drives are longer, even if traffic is light!

4. Be equally careful in daylight or darkness, good weather or bad. Six-tenths of all deaths in one-car smashups on turnpikes occur in daytime; more than half of these mishaps occur on dry pavement under fair skies.

5. Be watchful on every curve or when turning onto another roadway. Speed "creeps up" and can easily throw you on a turn.

6. Be fully alert for the unexpected—even on a straight road—and know what to do. In a skid, don't slam on your brakes; turn with the skid and let the car right itself, or you will roll. If you have a blowout, or a wheel drops onto the shoulder, never try to "yank" yourself back until you've slowed to a safe speed.

7. Know your limitations. You are most susceptible to careening off the road if you're under 25, inexperienced, have been drinking, or are seriously worried or emotionally upset. But middle-aged, experienced, sober, unruffled drivers die due to inattention or the same judgment errors, too. Every motorist could profit from a good driver-training course.

Don't carry over expressway speeds to other roads. Stop driving when you find your car weaving, or road signs and cars pass by before you are aware of them.

In short, beware of the "other guy"—but be most concerned about yourself!

Every driver owes it to himself to heed the advice in this eye-opening report on one-car accidents

Life Begins Again for

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

"HEY, LOOK! There's Fred MacMurray!" cried a youngster watching a Hollywood parade. "Gee whiz, I'd sure like to get his autograph!" his companion exclaimed.

They were only two of hundreds of youngsters and teen-agers who crowded around the tall, blue-eyed grandfather, whose physique, stamina, and popularity among youngsters belie his 52 years.

Ovations like Fred now receives are customarily reserved for such teen-age idols as Fabian, Troy Donahue, and the Everly brothers. No one is more surprised by his new popularity than Fred himself, who admits that the best he could do a couple of years ago was sign an autograph for an old lady who became his fan after he costarred with Claudette Colbert in "The Gilded Lily" back in 1935.

The rebirth of Fred's popularity can be traced to two things—"The Shaggy Dog," a gimmick movie which became Walt Disney's top grosser of all times, and his marriage to former film star June Haver, who talked the middle-age widower with two nearly grown children into starting life anew.

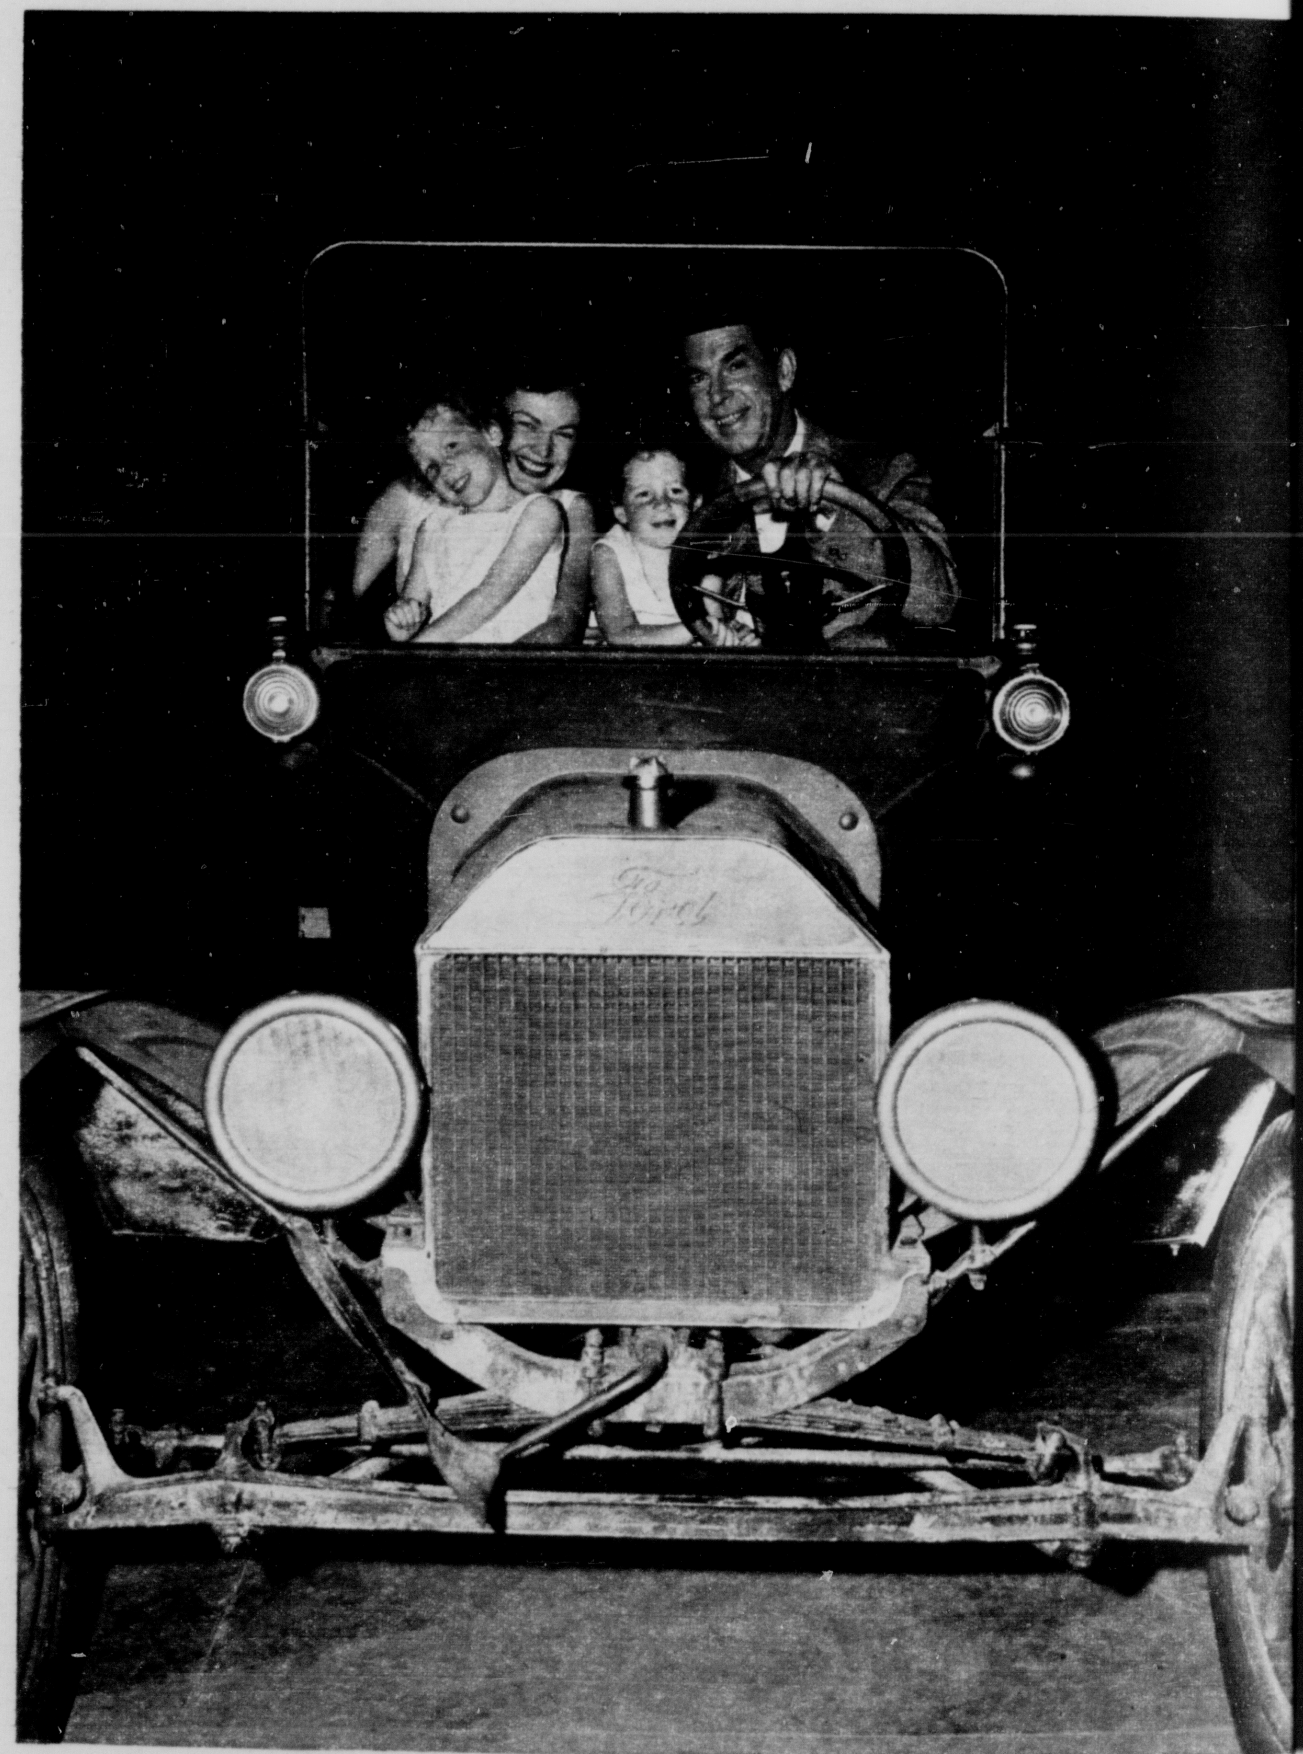
"When I married Fred," June says, "he was terribly set in his ways. He was a fuss-budget. He hadn't quite progressed to being a lint picker, but he was already an ash-tray emptier, and that's just about as set in his ways as a man can get."

Fred was 45 when his first wife, Broadway actress Lillian Lamont, died in 1953 after 17 years of marriage. Fred lost ambition, interest, even enthusiasm for life itself. With Lillian gone, he told himself, he would just fish, play golf, and accept a movie role only if he couldn't resist the script.

Certainly he didn't have to work any longer. In 20 years as a top star, he had amassed a fortune—and held on to it tightly.

Fred would never deny he is a cautious man with a penny. One of his friends assured me that Fred resoled his own shoes to save on cobbler's expenses, and a coworker reported Fred brings his lunch to the studio in a paper bag.

Fred isn't sure what's behind his frugal tendencies, but thinks it may stem from his early days in Los Angeles when he barely supported himself and his mother by doing anything from scraping paint off old cars to playing a sax in local bands.



Spoofing it up a bit, June, Laurie, Kate, and Fred sit for a family portrait in an old Model-T Ford.

Haver and there's been no stopping him since

Fred MacMurray

Fred MacMurray poses with a new film star, the canine of "Shaggy Dog" fame.

Since then, he has counted every penny earned, spent, and saved, and has always put aside a certain amount for a rainy day. By the time his wife passed away, Fred had enough money in real estate—including a 2,500-acre cattle ranch in northern California, oil interests, and part-ownership with John Wayne in a hotel—to live comfortably through his remaining years.

Enter June, Bringing Happiness

And then, all of a sudden, it was June.

Pert and attractive, June had planned to become a nun after an unsuccessful marriage to musician Jimmy Zito and the sudden death of her next fiancé, a Beverly Hills dentist. Instead, she found herself a husband 19 years her senior, plus an 11-year-old stepson and 14-year-old stepdaughter.

"It was difficult to feel like we were a family because we had no memories in common," she recalls, "but it grew easier as the years went by and we shared our own experiences."

June not only had beauty and youth, but also a vitality which rubbed off on her new husband, for whom she readily gave up what could have been a resurgence of her once-successful career.

The effect on Fred soon became apparent to his friends. His clothes, once ultraconservative, became gay and youthful. Where he had been known as quiet—one of his associates said you could be friends with Fred for 15 years and still know nothing about him—he now became talkative and zestful, the life of the party.

Although June's influence on Fred was evident in many ways, it was her determination to adopt a child that brought about the greatest change.

When June first suggested adopting a baby, Fred wouldn't even consider it. "I've been through all that," he protested. "Now I'd like to watch someone else raise a family."

In fact, he was looking forward to becoming a grandfather, an ambition he recently realized when his daughter, Mrs. Tom Pool, presented him with his first grandchild.

Fred good-humoredly insists it was a conspiracy that changed his mind, but June says it was pure coincidence that she accepted a party invitation from an obstetrician friend, Dr. Al Meitus. By the same coincidence, all the other guests were obstetricians and pediatricians, and the talk was about nothing but babies. By the time they left the party, Fred had agreed to adopt a baby!

Instead, he got two.

A few days after the party, Fred was playing golf when June excitedly called him at the country club with the news that Dr. Meitus knew of twins they could adopt. Fred clutched the telephone receiver. "Twins!" he shouted.

June breathlessly explained how much easier it would be to raise two girls, and when the conversation ended, Fred was reluctantly agreeing.

"They were premature babies and still in an incubator," June recalls, "so we had a month's time to get everything ready. Fred didn't become enthused about it until we were fixing the babies' room. When he saw me clumsily trying to put up the bathinet, he took over and showed me how to do it properly. That's all it took to get him excited about the prospect of having two brand-new infants in the house."

Fred was still a little wary when Katie and Laurie were brought home, and at first refused to hold them. But his enthusiasm increased quickly, and soon he was feeding, bathing, and changing them—even getting up in the middle of the night when he heard them crying. The twins, now four years old, responded to Fred, too. "They climb all over him when he's home," June says happily.

"I try to be strict with Katie and Laurie, but I don't think I am," Fred admits. "I have too much fun with them to worry about discipline."

The twins also helped put Fred in the right mood to accept the role in "Shaggy Dog." Although Fred was never out of work, his career had sunk to supporting roles and low-budget pictures until Disney offered him the part of the father of a boy who turns into a shaggy dog.

The conservative Fred MacMurray of the old days would have scoffed at playing such a role. The rejuvenated Fred MacMurray thought it would be fun, although he never guessed the impact the film would make on his career and private life. The subsequent success not only established him with the new generation but led to a lead in Billy Wilder's tremendously successful "The Apartment," the title role in Disney's forthcoming "The Absent-Minded Professor," as well as a new TV series of his own, "My Three Sons."

To Fred, acting has become fun again, as has life itself, and Fred credits most of his new-found happiness to luck—and June Haver.

"I just happened to be in the right spot at the right time," he insists. "Meeting a girl like June was luck, and if I have any talent, that's luck, too. I didn't have anything to do with it."

In his latest film, "The Absent-Minded Professor," Fred shares a chemical discovery with his dog Charlie.

With the heightening of cold-war tensions, mid-European cities have experienced a rebirth of spy activity. In one hotel, a foreign diplomat went to the manager and complained indignantly that the waiter who hovered over his table was unquestionably an enemy spy.

"Certainly," replied the blasé manager, "but what can I do?"

"Fire him!" the diplomat exclaimed.

"Ah, yes, but how do I know if the next spy will be such a good waiter?"

The builder did the thing up right—
All doors and windows fit snug-tight;
The closet space is just enough
To look real smart yet hide the stuff;
The furnace never tuckers out,
The plumbing's what you'd dream about.

There's nothing wrong from roof to paint—
In fact, the place would please a saint;
It reaches out and summons you
The minute you appear in view.

I hate it to its very core—
This paragon: the house next door.

With the heightening of cold-war tensions, mid-European cities have experienced a rebirth of spy activity. In one hotel, a foreign diplomat went to the manager and complained indignantly that the waiter who hovered over his table was unquestionably an enemy spy.

"Certainly," replied the blasé manager, "but what can I do?"

"Fire him!" the diplomat exclaimed.

"Ah, yes, but how do I know if the next spy will be such a good waiter?"

Chicken Fricassee

GOOD FOR FREEZING

TO PREPARE: 15 MIN. TO COOK: 2 TO 3 HRS.

- 1 stewing chicken, 4 to 5 lbs., ready-to-cook weight
- 1 large onion, quartered
- 6 stalks celery with leaves, cut in pieces
- ½ bunch parsley
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 3 peppercorns
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 cup cream
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice

1. Disjoint chicken and cut into serving-size pieces. Rinse chicken pieces and giblets. Pat liver dry with absorbent paper and refrigerate. Put chicken, gizzard, heart, and neck into a kettle. (If desired, brown chicken pieces in a skillet with hot fat; pieces may be coated with seasoned flour before frying.) Add hot water to barely cover. Add onion, celery, parsley, bay leaf, salt, and peppercorns. Bring water to boiling; remove foam. Cover kettle tightly, reduce heat and simmer 2 to 3 hrs., or until thickest pieces of chicken are tender when pierced with a fork. During last 15 min. of cooking, add the liver. Remove chicken and giblets from broth. Strain broth and cool slightly; skim off fat.

2. Heat 4 tablespoons of the chicken fat in the kettle; blend in flour. Heat until mixture bubbles, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Continue stirring and gradually add 2 cups of the chicken broth and the cream. Bring mixture rapidly to boiling; cook 1 to 2 min. longer. Blend in the lemon juice. Add chicken pieces and heat thoroughly.

3. Serve chicken and gravy in a warm serving dish; garnish with parsley.

4 to 6 servings

Note: For additional flavor, add 1½ teaspoons Accent and 1 chicken bouillon cube to cooking liquid.

Chicken and Dumplings

Follow recipe for Chicken Fricassee. Prepare dumplings about 30 min. before chicken is tender. Add liver and dumplings to kettle. Cover tightly and continue cooking over medium heat 20 min. without removing cover. Remove dumplings and chicken to a warm serving dish; keep warm. Prepare gravy and spoon over chicken and dumplings.

For Dumplings—Sift together into a bowl 2 cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in 1 tablespoon shortening with a pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles rice kernels. Quickly stir in ⅔ cup milk with a fork until just blended. Bring cooking liquid to boiling. Drop batter by spoonfuls on top of chicken. Dumplings should rest on chicken; if they settle down into liquid, they may become soggy. If necessary, before adding batter, pour off excess liquid to prevent this. Cover kettle tightly and proceed as directed.

Apple-Cheese Crumble Pie

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN. TO BAKE: ABOUT 40 MIN.

- ½ to ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 pkg. pie-crust mix
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
- 3 tablespoons cold water
- 2 lbs. (6 to 7 medium size) tart apples, washed, quartered, cored, pared, and sliced (about 6 cups, sliced)
- 1 tablespoon flour
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ground mace
- ½ cup coarsely chopped pecans

1. Blend the sugars and cinnamon with 1 cup of the pie-crust mix in a bowl. Cut in the butter and set aside for pie topping.

2. Mix 1 cup of the shredded cheese into remaining 1 cup pie-crust mix. Add water and mix lightly. Roll out dough on lightly floured surface about 1 in. larger than over-all size of 9-in. pie pan. Fit pastry into pie pan; flute or press edges with a fork.

3. Spoon the apples into pastry shell; sprinkle with a mixture of flour, nutmeg, and mace, and then the nuts. Cover with one-half the topping mixture and remaining cup of cheese. Complete with remaining topping mixture.

4. Bake at 375°F about 40 min. One 9-in. pie

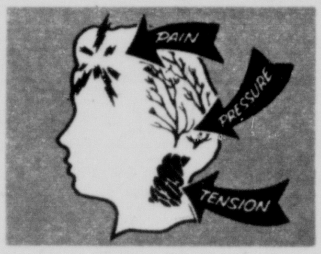
WHAT DO DOCTORS DO FOR TENSE NERVOUS HEADACHES?

3 out of 4 recommend the ingredients in ANACIN® for headache pain

WHEN you suffer pain from headache, neuritis or neuralgia, why not take what most doctors recommend—the ingredients in Anacin for fast relief! Here is why Anacin gives such superior pain-relief. Mere aspirin or even aspirin with buffering contains only one pain reliever. They have no special medication to relax your nervous tension. Anacin contains a number of medically proven ingredients, including special medication that not only relieves pain incredibly fast, but also relaxes tension and releases painful pressure on nerves. Anacin Tablets are safer, too. They have a smoother action and do not irritate or upset the stomach. Buy Anacin today!

Why ANACIN gives more complete PAIN-RELIEF



Most headaches are caused by tension that presses on nerves and results in headache pain. Tension headaches call for the special medication in Anacin. Unlike aspirin or buffered aspirin which contains only one pain reliever and has no special medication to relax tension—Anacin contains medication that (1) relaxes tension (2) releases pressure on nerves (3) relieves pain fast. That's why Anacin gives a better total effect—more complete pain relief.

Parker House Rolls

GOOD FOR FREEZING

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN. TO BAKE: 15–20 MIN.

(Allow time for rising)

- 1 cup milk
- 2 pkgs. active dry yeast
- ½ cup warm water (110°F to 115°F)
- ½ cup sugar
- 6 tablespoons shortening
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 6 to 7 cups sifted flour
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- Melted butter

1. Scald milk by heating in top of double boiler over simmering water just until a thin film appears.
2. Meanwhile, soften yeast in warm water. Let stand 5 to 10 min.
3. Pour the scalded milk over sugar, shortening, and salt in a large bowl. When lukewarm, stir mixture and blend in 1 cup of the flour, beating until smooth. Stir softened yeast and add, mixing well. Add about one-half of the remaining flour to the yeast mixture and beat until very smooth. Beat in the eggs. Then beat in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn dough onto a lightly floured surface; allow to rest 5 to 10 min.
4. Knead dough until smooth and elastic, 5 to 8 min. Form into a large ball and place it in a greased deep bowl. Turn dough to bring greased surface to top. Cover with waxed paper and clean towel; let rise in warm place (about 80°F) until dough is doubled, about 1 hr.
5. Punch down dough with fist; pull edges in to center and turn completely over in bowl. Cover and let rise again until almost doubled, about 45 min. Again punch down the dough and turn it onto a lightly floured surface. Cover and allow to rest 5 to 10 min.
6. For shaping, use about one-half of the dough at a time, rolling it ¼ in. thick. Brush with melted butter. Cut with a lightly floured 2½-in. round cutter. Make a crease with handle of wooden spoon not quite in the center of round. Fold larger side over smaller; press edges together at each end of crease. Place rolls about 1 in. apart on lightly greased baking sheets. Brush with melted butter. Let rise again 15 to 25 min., or until dough is light.
7. Bake at 425°F 15 to 20 min.

About 4½ to 5 doz. rolls

Hermits

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 7 MIN.

- 2 cups water
- 1 cup dark seedless raisins
- 2½ cups sifted flour
- ¾ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon ground cloves
- ¾ cup butter
- 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 3 eggs, well beaten
- 1 cup walnuts, chopped

1. Bring water to boiling. Add raisins and again bring water to boiling. Pour off water and drain raisins on absorbent paper. Coarsely chop raisins and set aside.
2. Sift flour, baking soda, salt, and spices together. Set aside.

3. Cream butter until softened. Add brown sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition. Add eggs in thirds, beating thoroughly after each addition. Mixing until blended after each addition, add dry ingredients in fourths to creamed mixture. Mix in the raisins and walnuts.
4. Drop dough by teaspoonfuls about 2 in. apart onto lightly greased cookie sheets.
5. Bake at 400°F about 7 min., or until lightly browned. About 8 doz. cookies

Corn-Gold Fritters

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN. TO DEEP FRY: 2–3 MIN.

- 1⅓ cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- ⅔ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon shortening, melted
- 1 12-oz. can whole kernel corn, drained
- Hydrogenated vegetable shortening, lard, or cooking oil for deep frying

1. Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and pepper together into a bowl. Set aside.
2. Blend eggs, milk, and Worcestershire sauce together thoroughly. Blend in the melted shortening.
3. Make a well in center of dry ingredients. Add liquid mixture all at one time and beat only until combined. Mix in the corn.
4. Heat fat to 365°F. Drop batter by tablespoonfuls into the hot fat. Deep fry only as many fritters as will float uncrowded one layer deep in fat. Deep fry 2 to 3 min., or until golden brown. Drain fritters over fat for a few seconds before removing to absorbent paper. Serve hot with maple sirup.

About 6 servings

Creamy Cabbage Slaw

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN.

(Allow time for chilling cabbage)

- 4 cups shredded cabbage (about 1 lb.)
- ⅓ cup mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons thick sour cream
- 2 teaspoons cider vinegar or lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 2 drops Tabasco
- ¾ teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon celery seed

1. Put cabbage into a bowl, cover, and chill.
2. Blend together the mayonnaise, sour cream, vinegar, mustard, Tabasco, and a mixture of the remaining ingredients. Chill.
3. Before serving, pour the dressing over the cabbage; toss lightly until cabbage is well coated. About 8 servings

Tart Cabbage Slaw

Use 3 cups finely shredded cabbage. Toss lightly with a mixture of 2½ tablespoons cider vinegar, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon black pepper.

GOOD NEWS ABOUT FOOD
from the Betty Crocker Kitchens in Golden Valley...to yours

Happy count-your-blessings Month

And what a lot we still have to be deeply thankful for, Thanksgiving Day and every day.

We've been thinking so hard about holidays ahead that there isn't space to tell you all our new recipes. So we've put them in a special leaflet—"Holiday Extras"—and we'd like to send it to you. On one side of the page there are things to bake ahead for Christmas—a marvelous moist, rich fruitcake—the old-fashioned kind—with a modern twist. And Holiday Tea Rings and Cinnamon Bread to bake and freeze. Things like that. And there are little extras for your holiday dinners—like our new recipe for richly flavored Corn Muffin Stuffing and the new Potato Pan Rolls that you make with Gold Medal Flour and Betty Crocker Instant Mashed Potatoes (one of our men calls these "Gee-whiz-good!"). Do write to me—Betty Crocker—for this "Holiday Extras" leaflet—and ask for our "Bake and Freeze Ahead" folder, too, for things you can bake now and save for the holidays.

Our new Betty Crocker Party Book is at your favorite book or department store and wherever good books are sold. It's a big dollar's worth of recipes and menus for all your entertaining. Wonderful ideas for the holidays and all through the year.

Send your leaflet requests—and baking questions—to me, Betty Crocker, Dept. 355, 9200 Wayzata Boulevard, Golden Valley, Minneapolis 26, Minnesota.

Happy Thanksgiving.

Betty Crocker

Just in time for the holidays—two new flavors in our Country Kitchen Cake Mixes—Milk Chocolate and Toasted Coconut. They bake wonderful cakes—high, light, great eating. (See them above and in magazines and on television this month.) Try the Milk Chocolate Velvet Cream and Mocha Nut recipes on the Milk Chocolate Cake Mix package. And the Cherry Coconut Velvet Cream and Banana Cream on the Toasted Coconut Cake Mix package. Here in our kitchens, we like them all—do write us how they go over in your house! P.S. Both these new cake mixes bake quick, delicious cupcakes—for lunch boxes and parties.

It gets at their cause—soothes the irritated membranes, loosens and helps expel germ-laden phlegm, thus helping to break up chest congestion. So relieve your bronchial coughs fast, without feeling "doped" or drowsy. Get Creomulsion Cough Syrup today.

● Parents will find safe, pleasant-tasting Creomulsion for Children just as effective.

MYSTERY

THE CASE OF THE DOOMED ARSONIST

Even before he started the blaze, he was on his way to prison, trapped by a method of detection he could never suspect

By WILLIAM T. BRANNON

ILLUSTRATION BY ROBERT SHORE

When Jack Freeman, a coat manufacturer, doubled the fire insurance on his New York City warehouse, the insurance company was curious. The matter was referred to the National Board of Fire Underwriters for investigation by its arson squad.

The case was assigned to an attractive, petite brunette named Ginnie who was one of the stars of the arson squad. So successful had been her work that she was largely on her own. If she needed help, the board cheerfully paid for it.

Ginnie set out to find out all there was to know about Jack Freeman, who lived in a swank apartment house overlooking Central Park. She soon learned that he was deeply in debt and only a step ahead of his creditors. To Ginnie, that condition suggested that he might burn the warehouse to collect the insurance.

She managed to rent an apartment in a nearby building and with the help of binoculars she could watch Freeman's living room. She followed and identified every visitor. One who aroused her suspicions was a shady chemist—just the sort of man who might be engaged to start a fire with inflammables.

Ginnie needed help, and she engaged another girl who was a specialist. They watched Freeman's apartment constantly and observed every meeting he had with the chemist. After the third session, she called her boss.

"They're going to touch it off tonight at midnight," she said. "They've already got the stuff in the warehouse—a barrel of celluloid waste and a dozen five-gallon cans of ether."

Though this was suspicious, it might not hold up in court as evidence unless a fire was actually started. Ginnie proposed to let that happen, and she had a counter move of her own.

Ginnie was waiting a few minutes before midnight when a big moving van parked near the warehouse. She knew that a dozen firemen with chemical extinguishers were inside, that they would go into action the moment she signaled.

She blew a whistle at the first sound of a blast and the firemen raced in. Though flames shot out in every direction, the fire fighters were prepared and the blaze was soon put out.

Freeman and the chemist were arrested and charged with arson. Both denied the conspiracy, but in court Ginnie produced a transcript of the conversations between the manufacturer and the chemist, detailing their plot.

Both men were convicted and sent away for long prison terms.

Ginnie herself had written down the verbatim record of the conversations between the two men as they were repeated to her by her specialist assistant, who watched through binoculars.

Though the assistant couldn't hear anything that was said, she was a teacher in a school for deaf-mutes and was an expert at lip reading.

Do yourself proud again—and again—with fabulous German's* Sweet Chocolate Cake!

"Collector's Item" Recipes for "German's" Sweet Chocolate Cake and a new Mocha variation

1 package Baker's German's Sweet Chocolate
½ cup boiling water
1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Melt chocolate in ½ cup of boiling water. Cool. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating after each. Add vanilla and chocolate; mix until blended. Sift flour with soda and salt. Alternately add sifted dry ingredients and buttermilk to chocolate mixture, beating after each addition until batter is smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour batter into three 8- or 9-inch layer pans, lined on bottoms with paper.

Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 30 to 40 minutes. Cool. For frosting, use either elegant recipe below.

1. The Original Recipe Calls For Coconut-Pecan Frosting

1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¼ pound butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1⅓ cups (about) Baker's Angel Flake Coconut
1 cup chopped pecans

Combine milk, sugar, egg yolks, butter or margarine, and vanilla in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, about 12 minutes. Remove from heat. Add coconut and pecans. Beat until cool and of spreading consistency. Makes 2⅔ cups, or enough frosting to cover tops of three 8- or 9-inch layers.

2. New Mocha Recipe Calls For Coffee Whipped Cream Frosting

2½ cups whipping cream
4½ tablespoons confectioners' sugar
4½ teaspoons Instant Maxwell House Coffee
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Place cream, sugar, coffee, and vanilla in chilled bowl. Beat until cream holds its shape. (Do not overbeat.) Makes about 5 cups, or enough to cover tops and sides of three 8- or 9-inch layers. For extra elegance, sprinkle top and sides generously with Baker's Angel Flake Coconut.

By BERNICE KENNEDY as told to Terry Morris

MY STORY begins a few years before Vicki was born, on an afternoon in 1949 when I was working at the information desk of the telephone company.

I had handled rudeness from callers before, but for some reason this particular "gentleman" shouting in my ear really affected me. Snatching off my earphones, I put my head down on the desk and cried.

My understanding supervisor, sensing I was upset about something, gave me the day off. I ran out of the building, tears streaming down my face. I knew it wasn't the caller's rudeness that had upset me.

I simply wanted a baby! Why couldn't I have a baby?

I was married when I was 19. After a serious miscarriage, I had a full-term pregnancy and gave birth to an RH baby, stillborn. The doctors made it plain that I had better accept the fact that my husband Benedict and I would be childless.

I was an only child, yet I grew up surrounded by children and loved every one of them. My mother and father participated in a program of giving convalescent care to babies after their discharge from the hospital and before they were returned to their own parents who, for one reason or another, were unable to give this kind of care themselves.

The afternoon I ran out of the telephone-company building I knew that the only job in the world I wanted was the job of motherhood. Somehow, I decided, I would have babies—lots of babies. If they couldn't be mine, then they would be somebody else's.

I had youth and energy, and our house had ample room and yard space for little ones. When I read the appeal then being made by the Cardinal's Campaign for Foster Homes, it seemed as if it was directed right at me.

Our priest referred me to Catholic Charities which, in turn, put me in touch with the New York Foundling Hospital. After careful investigation, I was able to bring our first foster child home two days before Christmas, 1949. From that Christmas on, I was foster mother to a total of eight children. I just couldn't resist a call for help from the hospital.

Then, in 1953, they called to ask whether I would take a handicapped child.

"Of course," I said promptly. "I'll come right down!"

When I first saw Vicki, she was 13 months old but looked only six months. A premature baby, she had been abandoned soon after birth. "She has a very weak back," the nursing sister told me. "And she'll be difficult to care for. Will you take her?"

At this time, I had at home Gina and Michael, both of whom we have since been able to adopt. I wondered whether I could give Vicki, this lame little sparrow, the extra time that she would need. But it was a momentary doubt. This little child needed me more than the others. This little one had nobody!

For the next three years, I took Vicki for regular visits to St. Vincent's Hospital. I had to carry her everywhere. She couldn't move her legs, and even crawling was impossible. Accurate diagnosis of her condition was still difficult, but it was fairly clear that she suffered from cerebral palsy, spastic type.

"She'll never walk," the doctors said.

But she certainly talked! A mile a minute. Of all our children, Vicki was the liveliest and most vivacious, a sassy, bright-faced girl who attracted people like a magnet. Everybody prayed for little Vicki.

Vicki, as courageous as ever, clumps around in Mommie's pretty high heels.

We bought Vicki a walker because I was convinced she could walk. For the doctors, I took snapshots of her holding onto the bars and moving her legs. I took pictures of every tiny move she made.

But the doctors weren't impressed. When Vicki was three years old, they decided on an operation to cut the nerves in the back of her legs to relieve the spasticity. I was strongly opposed to the whole idea.

I kept telling myself: they must not operate! If they cut those nerves, Vicki would surely be a cripple, and I felt so certain that if the child and I were permitted to keep pulling together as a team, she would walk!

But as her foster mother, I had no legal status or rights to Vicki. To operate, her real mother, who had abandoned her, would have to consent. I was terrified for several reasons. If Vicki's mother chose belatedly to claim her child, then any chance I had of adopting her might be ended. And of course Vicki's mother might consent to the operation.

While a search was made for the mother, I lived in a state of near-hysteria. I broke out in rashes and had daily headaches.

When Vicki's mother was found, she gave her consent to the operation. But at least she did not claim her. The operation was set. How I prayed for a miracle! I was walking the corridors of the hospital, utterly distraught, when Vicki was returned to her room—without being operated on!

I learned that the surgeon who was to have performed the operation was driving to the hospital when, swerving to avoid a collision, he rammed his car into a tree. He was unhurt but sufficiently rattled to cancel the operation.

One of the nursing sisters smiled at me. "You prayed so hard against this operation, Mrs. Kennedy, but did you have to pray the doctor right into a tree?"

When the operation was rescheduled a few days later, Vicki developed a high temperature and a bad bronchial cough. Again the operation had to be postponed!

"I have faith in her legs," I kept pleading. "I feel strength in them. I see improvement day by day! Please don't cut those nerves."

We offered to pay for braces or any other appliances from our own funds. As foster parents, we were paid a sum each month for her food and board and a quarterly clothing allowance. Medical and dental expenses were also covered, but we knew the agency could not bear all the extras, too.

The agency agreed to let us take her to the orthopedic clinic at Cornell University Medical Center where special work was being done with cerebral-palsy cases. For three days, a medical team made tests. Happily, they, too, opposed an operation and supplied Vicki with low leg bands which gave her a certain amount of support. We were advised to put her on the floor and coax her into trying to crawl. If she crawled, she might pick herself up and try to walk.

So I began to put tempting objects just out of her reach, and playful, inquisitive Vicki slowly began to crawl toward them. Then she began to hold on to things, trying to stand. Every so often, she did manage, but she couldn't balance herself and would totter a few seconds on her toes before falling. Of course, I worried about those falls, though Vicki instinctively shielded herself.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

By BERNICE KENNEDY as told to Terry Morris

My story begins a few years before Vicki was born, on an afternoon in 1949 when I was working at the information desk of the telephone company.

I had handled rudeness from callers before, but for some reason this particular "gentleman" shouting in my ear really affected me. Snatching off my earphones, I put my head down on the desk and cried.

My understanding supervisor, sensing I was upset about something, gave me the day off. I ran out of the building, tears streaming down my face. I knew it wasn't the caller's rudeness that had upset me.

I simply wanted a baby! Why couldn't I have a baby?

I was married when I was 19. After a serious miscarriage, I had a full-term pregnancy and gave birth to an RH baby, stillborn. The doctors made it plain that I had better accept the fact that my husband Benedict and I would be childless.

I was an only child, yet I grew up surrounded by children and loved every one of them. My mother and father participated in a program of giving convalescent care to babies after their discharge from the hospital and before they were returned to their own parents who, for one reason or another, were unable to give this kind of care themselves.

The afternoon I ran out of the telephone-company building I knew that the only job in the world I wanted was the job of motherhood. Somehow, I decided, I would have babies—lots of babies. If they couldn't be mine, then they would be somebody else's.

I had youth and energy, and our house had ample room and yard space for little ones. When I read the appeal then being made by the Cardinal's Campaign for Foster Homes, it seemed as if it was directed right at me.

Our priest referred me to Catholic Charities which, in turn, put me in touch with the New York Foundling Hospital. After careful investigation, I was able to bring our first foster child home two days before Christmas, 1949. From that Christmas on, I was foster mother to a total of eight children. I just couldn't resist a call for help from the hospital.

Then, in 1953, they called to ask whether I would take a handicapped child.

"Of course," I said promptly. "I'll come right down!"

When I first saw Vicki, she was 13 months old but looked only six months. A premature baby, she had been abandoned soon after birth. "She has a very weak back," the nursing sister told me. "And she'll be difficult to care for. Will you take her?"

At this time, I had at home Gina and Michael, both of whom we have since been able to adopt. I wondered whether I could give Vicki, this lame little sparrow, the extra time that she would need. But it was a momentary doubt. This little child needed me more than the others. This little one had nobody!

For the next three years, I took Vicki for regular visits to St. Vincent's Hospital. I had to carry her everywhere. She couldn't move her legs, and even crawling was impossible. Accurate diagnosis of her condition was still difficult, but it was fairly clear that she suffered from cerebral palsy, spastic type.

"She'll never walk," the doctors said.

But she certainly talked! A mile a minute. Of all our children, Vicki was the liveliest and most vivacious, a sassy, bright-faced girl who attracted people like a magnet. Everybody prayed for little Vicki.

Vicki, as courageous as ever, clumps around in Mommie's pretty high heels.

We bought Vicki a walker because I was convinced she could walk. For the doctors, I took snapshots of her holding onto the bars and moving her legs. I took pictures of every tiny move she made.

But the doctors weren't impressed. When Vicki was three years old, they decided on an operation to cut the nerves in the back of her legs to relieve the spasticity. I was strongly opposed to the whole idea.

Very much on the offensive here, Vicki (left) is now well enough to participate in such playful hassles as these.

By April, 1956, Vicki could be fitted with braces and shoes. Bit by bit, I had helped her to stand and move her legs.

"I want to walk!" Vicki would say. "I will walk!"

At the end of July, Vicki took her first real step, then two, then three, and we began counting them day by day.

Soon, braces and all, Vicki was getting cocky enough to try on my high-heel shoes and clump around. She never gave up. Even when I saw she was getting tired and picked her up, she squirmed in my arms.

"Put me down!" she would say. "I want to walk!"

I remember the Christmas we passed a street-corner Santa Claus who asked Vicki what she wanted most.

Vicki didn't hesitate. "Roller skates."

Santa smiled at me. "You just get them for her," he said. "Put them away in the closet. I'll say a prayer for her, and you pray for her. I know that some day she's going to be able to use them."

Those must have been meaningful prayers. Nowadays, Vicki only wears braces at night to help strengthen her legs. By day, she wears ordinary shoes and walks on her heels. The spasticity is still there, but when she exerts a strong effort she can control it considerably.

Recently, Vicki was given the privilege at her school of crowning the statue of the Blessed Mother in church. She was dressed all in white. As she was admiring her finery in the mirror, she smiled and said: "You'll see, Mom! I'm going to walk straight down that aisle without a stumble."

MY LOVELY little Vicki—the abandoned child who would "never walk"—came down that middle aisle without faltering, and everyone's eyes filled just as mine did!

Soon Vicki will become my third adopted child, joining Gina and Michael. The Kennedys will have a full house! The young girl who broke down on the job and sobbed, "I want a baby!" is just a faint memory now.

Instead, the need I felt has been answered by the love of all those babies—and especially, I think, by Vicki, the one who needed me most.

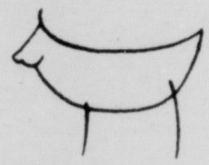
Let's Draw a Cow and Calf

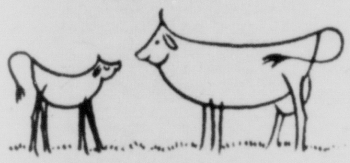
By Ann Davidow

Here and now I'll show you how

To use some curves to make a cow.



And if you shorten them by half,



Mrs. Cow will have a calf!

Chase 'Em!

By Tom Jones

Paint a round piece of heavy cardboard white on one side and red on the other. Have the players form two teams, the Whites and the Reds, and line them up facing each other about a foot apart. Mark a line some distance behind each team to be its goal.

Each player takes a turn tossing up the cardboard. If it falls with the white side showing, the White team runs to its goal, and the Reds chase them. Any Red who tags a White captures him for his team, and he's out of the game. The reverse is also true, of course, and the game goes on till there is only one team.

Cat's Tail

By Maude E. Hallmer

For this amusing game, you will need two balls of brightly colored yarn cut into small pieces of different lengths. Each ball should be a different color. Hide the pieces of yarn wherever you can find a good place. Divide the players into two teams and give each team one of the colors to find. One player on each team is the cat—a cat without a tail. At a given signal, the players start hunting for the yarn. When they find a piece of their color, they take it to their cat, who ties it together to form a long tail. The winning team is the one which has the longest tail at the end of five minutes.

Presto!

By Bonnie Provenzano

A young man did this card trick and I solved it. Here's how you can do it, too!

Announce that you can tell the name of a card picked from the deck while you aren't looking—or even while you're out of the room!

Ask a friend to lift up a group of cards from the top of a deck and look at the one on the bottom of this pile. After counting how many down from the top it is, he puts these cards back as they were. He must remember the number and suit of the card (heart, diamond, spade, or club), as well as its position in the deck—such as the sixth card from the top, 11th, 18th, or whatever it is. Then, he hands the pack to you.

Leave the room now, if you wish, and start counting off the cards by putting the top one down first and those following on top of it. Count in this way to a number over 20—the bigger the better. Put the counted-off pile back on top of the deck.

Ask the person to tell you how far down his card was, and you will show it to him. If he says, for example, the card was fifth from the top, you begin counting off cards starting with 6, or the number after the one he mentions. Count up to the number you originally reached when you were out of the room. When you have finished, the next card in the pack will be the one selected!

Fool your parents with this. It isn't easy at first, but it's a wonderful trick that works every time.
